Detroit Lakes shortstop Chris Henson tossed the ball to third base in attempt to retire Thief River Falls runner Jayson Olson during a run-down situation in the second inning of Tuesday's American Legion baseball doubleheader nightcap at Irv Wilson Field. Olson was eventually tagged out on the play, but Thief River Falls won both games 17-2, 4-1.

Warroad arena open house set

The new facilities and warmer (40 degree) environment will also draw more people into the skating program, Marvin said.

Both a gas and electric heating system were installed to take advantage of the best heating rates. There are two hot water heaters, one for the showers and one for the Zamboni ice surfacing machine.

A four-sided score board (also donated) hovers over the ice, suspended from a peaked 35-foot ceiling. The steel girders are painted blue and maroon duct work twists above the stands.

Below the ice, six miles of polyethylene pipe are serpentined forming the refrigeration system. The five inch cement floor was installed in one continuous pour.

Tempered glass surrounds the rink — eight feet tall, five-eighths inch thick on the ends of the arena and four feet tall, one-half inch thick on the sides.

The rink manager office and the concessions stand both have commanding views from the north side of the arena — for hockey moms who like to watch hockey while working the concession stands, noted Schaible.

The men's and women's bathrooms both have diaper changing stations. The entire building contains 18 toilets, ten urinals and five shower facilities.

Locker rooms, officials' rooms, a first aid room, the weight room and storage rooms stretch along the 200 feet hallways on the west and east sides of the building, beneath the stands.

The average width of the locker rooms is 14 feet and the length varies from 30 to 35 feet. The outside walls are 16 inches thick and composed of two layers of concrete block with a middle insulated layer.

The blueprints of the arena were reviewed by the Gardens Steering Committee which then brought its ideas and concerns to the architectural firm, Foss and Associates, based in Moorhead.

The committee was constantly upgrading the blueprints, Marvin said. "There was too much of a commitmant in town to people who sent in money (to establish a hands-off policy)," Marvin said.

The committee established several ideas by touring arenas in places such as Selkirk, Manitoba, East Grand Forks and Superior, WI.

The arena committee was formed in 1987 and began a fund in 1988. They hired an architect in 1989 and finalized the arena design in 1991. Three contractors: general, mechanical and electrical, began building the arena in May 1992. "Contractors can never get it done fast enough for an anxious owner," Schaible said.

The committee recently hired a contractor to finish the benches in the locker room and landscaping is in progress.

In the lobby, pictures of Warroad's hockey heroes sit on the floor waiting for wall space. Construction workers walk around tying up loose ends.

"You can talk about the rink," Christian said, "but until you go into the new Gardens, you can't appreciate it."

The Gardens, Warroad's new ice arena, awaits landscaping work before its open house on July 23. The privately-financed arena has been under construction since May 1992.

The ceder-roofed foyer in The Gardens, Warroad's new arena, offers a view of the ice sheet from the concession stand and the manager's office. From the lobby, people either go up into the stands, or down onto the ice. The lobby also opens into a display area.

Halvorson in TRF pageant

Your Gun" in 1993. She participated in three one-act plays, took voice lessons through a summer program at Red River high school in Grand Forks, ND, and is now studying voice with Vi Barr in Thief River Falls. She took piano lessons for three years and also plays the saxophone.

She was homecoming queen at Marshall County Central and has been Sno-Fest queen as well. In volleyball competition for six years at school, she served as a team captain and was also captain of the football cheerleading squad where she participated for four years. She was also a boys' basketball cheerleader as a sophomore.

An interest in photography was developed at MCC where she took a class, learned to process film and took some of the photos used in the school yearbook. She enjoys playing softball as a member of the Musharettes team from Middle river in the summer league and likes to raise flowers. She was awarded the Mark Halvorson Memorial Scholarship this spring—an award named in honor of her uncle.

At Zion Lutheran Church in Viking she is a leader in the church youth group, a Bible school teacher, substitute Sunday School teacher and pianist for Sunday school programs. She has done a lot of babysitting and cooking and works part-time at the Dairy Queen in Thief River Falls.

Mandi's father is a radio consultant and her mother is a driver for United Parcel Service. She has a sister Erika, 16 and a brother Bjorn, 11. This fall she will attend Moorhead State University with a view toward a major in television journalism.

Mandi said her hobbies include singing, listening to music, volleyball, spending time with friends, playing softball, fishing on Lake of the Woods, playing the piano and flute. She helped organize the Teen Rescue support group in school and has sung in the church's Christmas cantata.

"MCC has a reputation for a hard curriculum and I always took the hardest courses I could take," Mandi said, "Including all the advanced math courses. I'm a strong believer in doing your best in school and getting the most out of your education that you can."

It would appear that Mandi put a lot into her education as well as getting a lot out of it.

Karlstad health facilities to consolidate business offices

Karlstad — Terry Waine, interim administrator of the Karlstad Health facilities, has announced plans to consolidate the separate business office functions at the clinic, nursing home and hospital into one service. This new approach will result in the same person having responsibility for billing issues for both the clinic and hospital. Waine also stated plans to consolidate the clinic nursing function under the hospital's director of nursing, which should give greater flexibility in scheduling. (North Star News)

Timetable changed at Roseau high school

Roseau — Construction plans are changing at the Roseau school. Classrooms in the old elementary school are currently being converted for high school use this fall and the old building will tentatively be torn down, starting in August. The new elementary school will be completed before school starts this fall. This represents a change from the original plans with elementary students moving into the new building at the end of September and a second phase of remodeling done in 1994. In addition to plans to move the locations of many classrooms, the new classes will be getting "whiteboards" to replace the old-style blackboards. (Roseau Times-Region)

Sen. Dave Durenberger met with citizens at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls Thursday. Durenberger wants to know where all the changes promised in the last election are. He also explained what issues are being discussed on Capitol Hill.

Sen. Durenberger visits TRF to talk about many issues

Sen. Dave Durenberger brought his message of change to citizens in Thief River Falls Thursday, July 8. Rather than calling for a change, Durenberger wondered where the change was.

Right off the bat Sen. Durenberger addressed questions about whether he plans to seek re-election. He said he's still thinking about it. He added that he hasn't encouraged anyone or discouraged anyone from thinking about running for his position either. He also noted that he has served three terms and "that's a fair amount".

Sen. Durenberger was in Thief River Falls to address two primary issues — health care and the new federal tax bill. But Durenberger said he really wanted to talk about change. President Clinton, he said, was elected on a mandate for change. He promised change, he said, but where is it? He's been talking about a health care bill but "we still haven't seen it", he said.

Durenberger said he didn't vote for Clinton but he wants him to succeed and he wants republicans and democrats to hear that. His bipartisan message was that there are several senators out there like him who are willing to do the unpopular to see that the budget deficit and spending goes down, but that they need the leadership of the president to get the job done. So far, he noted, they haven't had

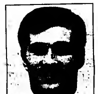
Election Tuesday in House District 1B



Election of a representative from Minnesota House District 1B will take place on Tuesday, July 13. The position became vacant last spring when Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls was appointed to the position of state director of ASCS.

Voters in the district will decide between the two candidates who have been forced to rush together a campaign platform, election campaign and volunteers. The two candidates on the ballot are Tim Finseth of the Independent-Republican party, and Joel Swanson of the Democratic Farmer-Labor party.

As a public service, The Times has invited the two candidates to address voters in the district in the pages of The Times by writing first person articles on issues of their choice. The stories and pictures of candidates are being run as a public service and is a free service to the candidates.

In addition, The Times encourages eligible voters to get out and vote on Tuesday. Anyone who is not able to cast their ballot on Tuesday can pick up an absentee ballot from the county auditor until 7 p.m. Monday night. Polling places for eligible voters will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the city of Thief River Falls at the five polling places in the city. Pennington county polling places outside of the city of Thief River Falls will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., except in Goodridge, North, and Rocksbury townships, which will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The five polling places in the city of Thief River Falls are the Heritage Community Center in the first ward, Zion Lutheran church in the second ward, Skylite apartments in the third ward, Knox elementary school in the fourth ward, and Redeemer Lutheran church in the fifth ward.

Tim Finseth

I have lived and worked in northwest Minnesota all my life. I was raised on a small grain and beef farm south of Oklee, which is near the southeast corner of District 1B. My brother and I have farmed since 1982.

In 1984 I graduated from Northland Community College and in 1987 graduated from Moorhead State University with a degree in political science. In 1983 I had the opportunity to work as a Senate aid for Sen. LeRoy Stumpf. In 1986 I ran for State Representative in District 2B.

I married Ruth Andrews in 1987 and currently live on a farmstead near Angus. We are members of the Evangelical Covenant church where I serve as a Deacon. For the past four years I have worked for the Marshall county Soil and Water Conservation District. Being the manager of the district has given me the opportunity to fight for farmers in northwestern Minnesota.

Roseau farmers' invention given top state honors

by Mark Olson
Staff Writer

A Roseau father-son team recently won the grand prize at Minnesota's top invention convention.

Their invention, E-Z Eye, checks the level of almost anything held in a container, but has been considered particularly adaptable for determining the level of grain in steel storage bins.

The Roseau product has been distributed in the United States, Europe, Middle East, South America and Australia.

Tom (son) and Lenard (father) Johnson invented the device in the mid-eighties and have since been improving, marketing, manufacturing and selling the product.

Lenard, Tom and Tom's wife Jilleen (LTJ Enterprises, Inc.) build the product with help from neighbors Nada Carter, Glen Smith and Diane Stotts.

They assemble "several hundred" E-Z Eyes each month in Lenard's farm machinery shop. "I come out on the losing end, but we work around it," Lenard joked.

The invention started over a phone call. Lenard called Tom from California to discuss his idea for the device. That night, using a table saw, food coloring, balloon and scrap pieces of plastic, Tom built the prototype and shipped it off to his dad in California.

The construction of the E-Z Eye has since evolved. It is composed of a clear plastic cone and filled with colored liquid. Inside the cone is another white cone. The cone is

Historic bridge finds new home in Heritage Village

Grafton, ND — The Kelly-Larson Bridge from Walsh county road 12A was recently moved from its home for the past 80 years to a new location. After it was declared a "historical bridge," the structure was scheduled to be moved to the Grafton Heritage Village to be restored and preserved. The entire move, which used two cranes to hoist the truss off its base and place it on timber struts, took five hours. (Walsh County Record)

Grafton population is 5,083

Grafton, ND — Grafton officials breathed a sigh of relief recently when the unofficial census total counted 5,083 people in that community. Faced with the potential loss of nearly $900,000 in highway funding because the last census showed the population at less than 5,000, the city requested a special census and was gratified to learn of the new number. Several highway projects in the city are dependent of the new census figure. (Walsh County Record)

Bagley Art in the Park set for July 10

Bagley — Bagley's eighth annual Art in the Park, featuring original art work and ethnic foods, will be held on July 10 at the Bagley city park. A concert by the New Creation Singers will be held at 10 a.m. with a Punch and Judy show, dulcimer concert and storytelling as some of the other features of the event. (Leader-Record)

Red River state bank breaks ground for new building

Halstad — The Red River state bank broke ground July 1 for a new 6,200-square foot bank building in Halstad. The new building, which is being built just adjacent to the present facility, will be the first new mainstreet business in Halstad to build a new building for 30 years, according to bank officials. The last "new" building was the St. Michael Grocery in 1962-63. The new bank building will feature a drive-up teller, night depository and additional office space. (Index) office was made some time ago by my wife and me, and is a natural progression of my many years of community activity and involvement. I believe that living in a community requires that you participate and get involved to truly understand and appreciate what this great country of ours is all about.

Joel Swanson is DFL choice for 1B State Representative

Northwestern Minnesota has been blessed with hard-working, dedicated and honest legislators—DFLers whose integrity and ability have greatly benefited our area. They have set the example and I will work hard to uphold that tradition.

My rural upbringing has given me an understanding and a love for the land and its people, a work ethic I am proud of and an appreciation of the strong family values that make rural Minnesota such a wonderful place to live and raise a family. I will work hard to maintain and improve our quality of life, keep property taxes down and give our citizens more control over their land and natural resources.

I believe that our senior population deserves quality services that will help to prolong their independence and improve their quality of life, and support senior programs like Meals on Wheels, Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), home health care, transportation and programs to help seniors with their insurance problems.

We value education in northwestern Minnesota, take pride in our schools and our children and are blessed with three respected colleges in our district. I will work to continue the tradition of educational excellence because I believe that education is our future.

I have been a businessman for 20 years, meeting a payroll, paying property taxes and struggling with government regulations. A healthy rural economy is good for all of us. I will work for fair prices for our farmers, fair wages for working men and women and a reasonable profit for business.

I support workers compensation reform, rural economic development legislation and will work to bring jobs to northwestern Minnesota. I also support local government aid, which keeps your property taxes down.

I believe that my background in agriculture, my military service, my 24 years as a husband and father, my business experience, my active community involvement and my proven leadership ability make me the best qualified man to take on the responsibility of State Representative.

grader at Knox elementary.

I grew up in a very politically active DFL family, have a degree in political science and have been active in local politics. I have also been very active and involved in Thief River Falls and northwestern Minnesota, serving on several boards and committees concerning business, education, youth, community and agriculture.

My decision to run for public sentative for District 1B. As your State Representative, I will work hard for northwestern Minnesota and make sure that your story is told in St. Paul on every issue.

My family and I have enjoyed meeting many of you throughout this short campaign and appreciate your hospitality, encouragement and support. It has been fun, exciting and educational. I have learned a lot from the people of the district and, as State Representative, I will continue to listen to you and work for you! I will be a strong voice for the people of northwestern Minnesota.

I share your concerns for the future. I thank you for your interest in my candidacy. I urge you to vote Tuesday, July 13, and I ask for your support to be your new State Representative.

Everyone Can Have A Hand In Land Use

Congratulations go out this week to Adam Kassa, son of Tim and Paulette Kassa of Goodridge, and Sarah Leach, daughter of Stan and Maggie Leach of Thief River Falls. Adam had the first place poster and Sarah the second place essay in Area I competition sponsored by the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. Both entries advance to state competition.

Topic for both the poster and essay contest was "My Hand in Land Use." Sarah's essay is published in today's issue of the Northern Watch along with photos of Sarah and Adam. We compliment both winners on a job well done and wish them well in the state contest.

Sarah's essay was in the senior division of the contest. There were also junior and elementary divisions. Junior division winner on a local basis in the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District contest was Sarah's sister Stephanie, a student at Franklin middle school. Elementary division winner was Becky Brandt, a student at Goodridge elementary school.

Everyone can have a hand in how land is used and that fact is pointed out by the essay writers. We are pleased to print Stephanie's and Becky's essays as our guest editorials for today:

"MY HAND IN LAND USE"
by Stephanie Leach

I used to want to always go to the beach just off of Taft Street. Then I went there. The algae and weeds were overrunning the beach so badly I didn't want to go there again. I haven't. Because some fertilizers had been improperly used by some people, weeds had taken over the river. So the river needed to be dredged and not as many people swim at the beach.

Fertilizers are chemicals applied to plants to make them grow better. People put fertilizers on their lawns to make their grass greener or on farms to increase how many bushels per acre they take in and sell. If fertilizers are used correctly they do not hurt the environment, but if they are used incorrectly they can cause a lot of harm to the environment through increasing the amount of algae and weeds in the water.

Too much wind and water erosion causes sediment and fertilizers to go into lakes and rivers. Fertilizers stick to the sediment. The Nitrogen and Phosphorous make algae and weeds grow. The algae uses up the Oxygen in the water so the fish and other animals in the water die.

Fertilizer can also seep into ground water if too much is applied. To find out how much fertilizer to use you can have a soil test. A soil test tells you how much nutrients are in the soil and how much fertilizer you need to get the right amount of nutrients. If you apply manure to your soil to help fertilize it, you should also have that tested. This is because the amount of nutrients the soil needs alone will differ from when it has the manure with it.

To stop fertilizers from seeping into water, with the help of well drillers, you can fill in old abandoned wells. Abandoned wells are a short cut for fertilizers to get to the ground water. The Nitrogen in fertilizers is bad for pregnant women and children under two because it causes babies to turn blue due to lack of Oxygen. They can die if they don't decrease their Nitrogen intake.

Fertilizers also get into the water by traveling with sediment. When the sediment gets washed into the water the fertilizers go with it. Some ways to prevent the sediment from carrying fertilizers into the water are: Windbreaks, grass strips, minimum tillage and rocks on banks.

Windbreaks stop the wind from blowing on the ground so the particles and fertilizers are not blown into the river. Grass strips are strips of grass in ditches, on the edge of field or anywhere water would run into a lake or river. They catch the sediment that would carry the fertilizers to a water source.

Minimum tillage is when farmers leave some of their old crops in their soil. The crop residue helps keep the soil from blowing away. It also fertilizes the soil with nutrients when it decomposes.

These are just a few ways to stop fertilizers from being carried into water sources, which in turn keeps the water from being overrun with weeds and algae.

"MY HAND IN LAND USE"
by Becky Brandt

Land use is the way we use our land. We experience land use every day, even if you are at home, working or doing a hobby. The way we use our land is very important.

Preserving our land is very important. One of the main reasons is to reduce wind and water erosion. There are many things you can do to preserve it. We all need to help make the world a better place to live. Some of the ways are listed below.

Planting trees is very important. One of the main reasons is to help reduce wind and water erosion. Trees are not only good for that but also for shade. Another very important reason is to enhance animal habitat. Animals' homes are often in trees or forests.

Pollution in our environment is also important. We have to keep it under control. A lot of the time people can be driving down a road and without even thinking, roll down the window and throw out some kind of garbage. They may know if they get caught they will have to pay a big fine, but they think they will not get caught. Even though they may not get caught they are harming the environment. You may not be able to prevent this totally, but one way you can help is by going around your community and picking up excess garbage out of ditches and off roadsides.

A lot of people think that the only way to get rid of garbage is by putting it in a dump behind your house or wherever. They are wrong. A better way to get rid of your garbage and also that makes the world a cleaner place is recycling. Recycling centers are located in many different places throughout the state. Maybe you can talk to your family about recycling. One really good thing about recycling is that you get paid for it.

One thing that is often misused, especially on farms, is pesticides. Pesticides are a very harmful chemical that is used to kill unwanted insects and unwanted plants. Often farmers misuse these by spraying too much or by spraying them in the wrong places. This is something that has to be stopped. It is killing plants and insects that animals eat. This poisons the animals who eat them. We do not want our animals to become endangered or extinct, so we have to keep this under control.

We need to protect forests so our animals have homes. There are many ways we can do this. One way to protect our animals is, if you are wandering in a forest and come upon a nest of some kind do not touch it! The mother of baby birds and other animals can smell if a human or some other kind of animal has touched it; if so, they may not come back to the nest and the babies will be deserted and often die.

Because we use our land every day we have to keep the land looking beautiful. So please help me and everyone else by doing some of the things I listed and many more things. I encourage you to help make the world a wonderful place to live.

and helping farmers has proven to be the most difficult, yet the most enjoyable part of my job. I have gone to bat for many farmers with problems with governmental regulations, many of which concern wetlands. Farmers have been very pleased with the way I fight for them and with the results I have accomplished. My work also allows me to talk with people first hand and gives me the opportunity to listen to the concerns of the public.

As I have visited with many of you at your homes or at other special events in the last month, I have heard your concerns about excessive state spending, high taxes, Minnesota's difficult business climate, welfare reform and over-regulation. I want you to know that I appreciate your input and I look forward to having an opportunity to address these issues in St. Paul on your behalf.

As the manager of the Marshall County SWCD and as a partner in a farm with my brother, I understand the thoughts and concerns of Minnesota's farmers. I understand the burdens placed on farmers through over-regulation and bureaucratic red tape.

Federal and state wetland regulations have caused several unnecessary hardships and hassles for farmers. I will work for fair policies that will allow landowners to farm their land without wetland harassment.

I have also heard the public outcry from recent legislative abuses of power. I have found that residents of this district are extremely concerned over why taxpayers are expected to pay for the $90,000 bill left over from "Phonegate." I believe I can provide experienced leadership that will restore northwest Minnesota's trust in the legislature.

I am committed to northwest Minnesota. I want to do my best to make sure that this area is safe, healthy and economically solid for the future of all our children. This is why I am asking for your vote.

I do not want a political career because I firmly believe in term limits. My leadership experience has taught me to listen. I will listen to your concerns and I will take the concerns of House District 1B and will fight for them in St. Paul.

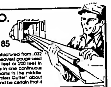
that leadership.

Durenberger's responses to questions from the audience seemed to indicate that the senator wanted to make cuts in many different areas to get the job done, even if means supporting unpopular cuts, such as cuts in cost of living increases.

In response to a statement and question on his position on the proposed BTU tax, Durenberger said he had been opposed to the tax from the beginning. He added at the end of his discussion, however, that even though a bill might contain some items that he didn't like he would support it if that bill caused the debt to lower.



Durenberger also took a stand on the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). Durenberger said he supports the program, a position just the opposite of that supported by Congressman Collin Peterson. Durenberger said he believes NAFTA would have a positive impact on the area. "You do not have to go far to see how big an impact this area has on the world market," he said. He believes NAFTA would create more jobs and and improve markets for farmers in the area.

On the issue of Health Care, Durenberger who has served six years as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee's Health Subcommittee, said every politician has a plan to solve the problem — but not everyone knows what the problems is.

One member of the audience noted that one way to ensure change would be to set term limits. Durenberger said he likes the idea of term limits because good people should be given an opportunity to rise to the top. The seniority system, however, prevents the awarding of leadership and responsibility to those who should be in the position to lead.

In his discussion Thursday, Durenberger pointed out that the budget deficit is around four trillion but under current plans it could be as high as 5.4 trillion in five years. When he goes back to Washington, D.C., he said he will be working in the House-Senate conference committee to work out many of the issues relating to the budget. To Durenberger, the main issue will be how to reduce the growth of our national deficit.

Roseau farm family wins on invention placed outside the container and a lever, or activator, is assembled inside the container. The two pieces are connected through an 11/16 inch hole.

When the lever is pressed, the white cone pushes against the clear plastic cone, displacing the blue fluid. If a grain bin is full, for example, the grain pushes against the lever and the E-Z Eye is white. If it is empty, the E-Z Eye is blue.

The device can be placed at varying height levels in a container, such as a grain bin, and the user can determine how much is left in — or being added to — the bin.

"With farming there's so many things happening all the time and safety just becomes irrelevant to 'you got to get things done now,'" Tom said. "You're generally climbing 20 feet (to look inside the bin and check the level) and if you lose one key person for even a broken leg, or falling and hurting themselves so they're slower, it's hard to replace that person. Safety is one of the biggest things we did it for on our farm." The Johnsons installed the device on all of their grain bins.

The device also helps with time management, Tom said. "You need to know a truckload before full or a truckload before empty. By knowing that, it will help you plan ahead." Farmers will have lead time to move the auger to another bin and move trucks to another location.

In some cases, Lenard said, hired help have refused, or were unable to climb the 20-foot bins, a problem which the E-Z Eye eliminates.

The E-Z Eye is not limited to grain bins and has been tested on products ranging from grains to salt to cement powder to cat litter. LTJ Enterprises shows the device at industry shows. "Everything basically starts in a powder form or in a granular form," Lenard said, "and they (industries) have tanks. Everything you pick up has been in a tank."

The non-electrical nature of the product is appealing to companies which deal with flammable materials, Tom said.

E-Z Eye has a U.S. patent and Tom and Lenard hypothesize about dozens of future uses. A modified version of the eye is attached to an air vent in the machinery shop and indicates the lack or presence of air flow. Tom also discusses the possibility of modifying the activator into a float mechanism to measure the level of liquids.

The E-Z Eye is assembled on the farm and a Twin Cities company supplies the plastic cones. For an environmentally clean assembly facility, the Johnsons use a converted 10x14 fish house (which can be converted back, Tom noted).

Initially Tom and Jilleen manufactured the entire product in Minneapolis, but later moved back to Roseau. Part of the reason, Tom said, was to maintain quality control.

The E-Z Eye isn't the first invention for Lenard. He invented an electric wheelchair device in the 50s which helped physically disabled people move, exercise and get into vehicles. He built ten models and sold the rights to a company in Minneapolis.

Lenard's first patent was in 1949 for a device which removed quack grass from fields, but "when you're 18 years old nobody listens to you," Lenard said.

"(This invention) has been more complete with Tom. He's the marketer and the inventor and everything else. He can take it further than I was ever able to," Lenard said.

Learning about plastics and the plastics molding field was the biggest challenge of manufacturing the product, Tom said. He versed himself on subjects such as shrink tolerances, sun-resistant dye, and UV stabilization. Tom said he still considers marketing tougher than inventing.

They have attended industrial shows from California to Chicago. "We go with dealers and distributors who inquire about the product," Tom said. "We found that they tend to have a much more bona fide interest in it than (when we) contact them." Sometimes companies sell the E-Z Eye with grain bins or other containers in package deals.

Tom and Lenard also attend inventor shows. They attended the Minnesota Inventors Congress in June and received the $1,000 grand prize for their product.

Farming remains the core business for the Johnsons, who farm 1,800 acres.

"When we first started, we wanted to be a manufacturing company of this product. We wanted something to supplement the farm end of it — so that was to keep busy in the off season and to gain year around work. I know that sounds kind of stupid, but we like to keep busy and this sure has kept us busy," Tom said.

"We're trying new prototyping and new designs all the time. The research and development never stops," Tom said.

The E-Z Eye retails for $45 and LTJ Enterprises can be reached at 1-800-962-8896 or 425-7499.

Rev. Earl and Irene Eveland

Farewell for Rev. Eveland at Newfolden

Rev. Earl Eveland, pastor of the Evangelical Free Church of Newfolden for nearly 27 years, has announced his retirement. A farewell open house for Rev. and Mrs. Eveland will be held Sunday, July 18, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Newfolden community center with a program to begin at 2 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the open house and visit with the Evelands before they leave the community for their retirement home at Backus.

The Evelands moved to Newfolden in 1966 and have been active members of the community and area. Rev. Eveland has been chaplain of the Heritage Christian School in Karlstad since its inception and a school board member there for 15 years. He served on the Newfolden fire department for 17 years, including 11 years as chief, was on the community scholarship committee for 22 years and the Marshall County Independent-Republican executive board for 10 years.

He served several terms on the board of Cooperstown Bible Camp and directed a week of Bible camp there during most of those years. He was also on the board of the North Central District of the Evangelical Free Church of America, and when that district divided he served as chairman of the board of the newly-formed Northern Plains District.

Mrs. Irene Eveland taught in the Sunday school, was involved with the Adventure Club, women's ministries and other areas in the church. She has worked part-time as a nurse at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls and held several offices in the Newfolden Women's Club.

Rev. and Mrs. Eveland have four children: Mrs. Phil (Karla) Saint of Willmar, Cheryl Eveland of Karlstad, Paula Eveland and Alan Eveland of Minneapolis.

Soo Line Depot preservation committee meets

Thursday afternoon the Soo Line Depot Preservation committee, which was recently reactivated, met to discuss recent developments in the status of the Soo Line depot on Third street in downtown Thief River Falls.

It was announced recently that Canadian Pacific, owner of the Soo Line, was actively seeking bids for the demolition of the brick depot building that has been a landmark in Thief River Falls for over 79 years. The building was last occupied by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, but was left vacant when the Chamber moved to its current location on Highway 59 south. Structurally, the building is sound, but many improvements such as repair of the roof, removal of asbestos, installation insulation, repairs to the heating system, and interior remodeling would all have to be completed before it could be inhabited. Lack of parking space also inhibits uses for the building.

On the other hand, Soo Line or Canadian Pacific, will have to remove asbestos before the building can be demolished.

The announcement that Canadian Pacific was seeking bids for demolition, certainly had an impact. It was clear, said Mayor Robert Reeve, that people want the city to save the building. That interest prompted the city to reactivate the Soo Line Depot Preservation Committee, he said.

Thursday, the committee struggled to get beyond the many problems that would have to be addressed if the city were to purchase the building, but they finally decided the first issue to address would be the purchase of the property. Once ownership has changed hands, said Mayor Reeve, the building can be placed on the list of historical landmarks. Putting the building on a list of historical landmarks, might free up funds for restoration of the building.

The committee approved a motion to create a sub-committee composed of Larry Rohlf, Gene Beito, a Chamber of Commerce or Convention and Visitor's Bureau representative, Don Stewart, and Mayor Reeve. The committee would be responsible for negotiating price on the property.

The Soo Line Preservation Committee was established on May 8, 1990. Following a series of meetings it presented the following findings to the city council:

1) Grant funds for a "Historic Structure Report" and, possibly, for renovation may be available, but only with new ownership, i.e., city or private individual(s).

2) The Soo Line has indicated it is "not in the donating business." They will have to receive some "consideration for the property".

3) The Soo Line Real Estate department indicated in writing in March, 1990 that they would entertain selling the depot for a "net consideration" of $75,000. The committee's opinion is that Soo Line would be satisfied with a "net consideration" of considerably less from a "public entity", i.e., purchase depot "as is" and new owner(s) assume responsibility for asbestos removal.

4) A parking area, east of the depot and tracks in front of the old Gamble-Robinson building, should somehow be "tied up" —critical for any possible use. (The property has since been sold. Additional parking could be created by moving the train engine on display next to the depot.)

5) Structurally the building is sound. The high estimate on repairs was estimated at $209,000. The low estimate was put at $165,000.

6) The Soo Line cannot sell or demolish the building without addressing the asbestos problem. (Some of the laws affecting the selling of property which has asbestos, have changed.)

7) Uses considered for the building include a Chamber of Commerce and Minnesota Tourism office, home for the NWRDC, Northwest Minnesota Business Innovation Center, Cultural-Arts Center and Museum; or for private businesses, such as a restaurant and lounge and professional services.

8) The committee recommended that the city council authorize the committee to continue to function. The purpose of which would be to develop more ideas for possible uses, and possible sources of revenue.

Tractor runs over local bee farm operator

Clayton Thompson of Thompson Bee Farms in North township was injured Wednesday when a tractor he was working on ran over him.

Pennington county sheriff's department responded to a report of an accident at the Thompson Bee Farms at about 4 p.m. Wednesday. According to the accident report, Clayton Thompson was taken to Northwest Medical Center by ambulance after the tractor he was working on ran over his pelvis. While working on a running tractor, Thompson apparently bumped something causing the tractor to slip into gear. The tractor ran over Thompson and then collided with a pickup. Thompson was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. Damage to the pickup truck was estimated at $1,000.

Thompson was listed in stable condition at Northwest Medical Center on Thursday.

Pictured is a cutaway view of the E-Z Eye, a device which measures the level of almost anything, but has been considered particularly adaptable for determining the level of grain in steel storage bins. When the lever inside a bin is pressed, a white cone pushes against a clear cone, displacing blue fluid. If a grain bin is full, the E-Z Eye is white and if it is empty, the E-Z Eye is blue.

Rick Ostby came up with his second straight shutout Wednesday when the Thief River Falls right-hander turned in a two-hit effort in a 5-0 win over Bemidji to begin an American Legion baseball doubleheader at Irv Wilson Field. Post 117 added a 7-6 victory in Game 2.

Rally completes TRF sweep

■ Legion baseball team beats Bemidji 5-0, 7-6

A suicide squeeze capped a three-run rally in the bottom of the seventh inning Wednesday as Thief River Falls completed an American Legion baseball doubleheader sweep over Bemidji with a 7-6 come-from-behind second-game win at Irv Wilson Field.

Post 117 took the opener 5-0 on a two-hit pitching performance by Rick Ostby – his second straight shutout effort.

The results lifted Thief River Falls to 17-2 and dropped Bemidji to 4-5.

"It's been going great," noted Thief River Falls coach Howard Dalager. "I just hope it continues. "We're very happy with the results tonight. Ricky pitched a great game. It took us a while to get our bats going in the second game, but it was a great comeback at the end."

Thief River Falls.......5
Bemidji.......0

Bemidji could muster just two singles off Thief River Falls right-hander Rick Ostby in the 5-0 Post 117 Game 1 win.

Ostby struck out just two, but walked only one. He did hit three batters.

Bemidji lefty Al Clark matched Ostby's zeros on the scoreboard until the fourth when he issued a lead off walk to Nathan Knutson, sent him to second on an errant pick-off throw and gave up a bunt single to Ostby.

Steve Burslie then bounced an RBI single through the right side for the first run of the game, and a throwing error off a double-steal made it 2-0. Burslie reached third on a stolen base and scored on a wild pitch for a 3-0 cushion.

Post 117 tacked on a pair of insurance runs in the sixth when Burslie beat out an infield hit, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a hard-hit double to right by Jeremy Olson. Two more wild pitch advanced Olson around the bases for the 5-0 final.

Clark took the loss, with Corey Graves appearing in relief in the sixth. They gave up only four hits, but walked seven and uncorked four wild pitches.

A 2-for-3 showing by Burslie was the only multiple hit effort of the game.

Thief River Falls.......7

A 4-0 second inning lead and a 6-4 seventh inning edge failed to hold up as Bemidji lost the 7-6 doubleheader nightcap.

Five consecutive third inning hits, including RBI singles by Nathan Knutson, Steve Burslie and Robert Nelson, enabled Thief River Falls to turn the early 4-0 deficit into a one-run game – only to see Bemidji make it 6-3 the next at-bat on an RBI single by Corey Johnson and a run-scoring throwing error.

Marc Hagen singled to left to start the bottom of the fourth, advanced on a pair of wild pitches and scored on an error for a 6-4 game.

The winner's seventh inning rally started with back-to-back walks issued to Robert Nelson and Brian Minks. Joby Looker missed two previous attempts, but put down a bunt single on an 0-2 pitch to load the bases with nobody out.

A fielder's choice off the bat of Haugen was turned into a force-out at the plate, but David Blazek followed with a two-run ground ball single into left field for a 6-6 tie, and put the winning run – Haugen – at third.

Svir then came up with the successful bunt on a suicide squeeze call for the win.

Minks got the win with three innings of one-hit relief pitching. A left-hander who made his Legion pitching debut in a loss at Fargo Sunday, Minks struck out three and did not walk a batter. The starter was Jayson Olson.

Thief River Falls out-hit Bemidji 12-10 with Carter Rogalla, Nathan Knutson and Nelson getting two hits apiece. For Bemidji, Brandon Morgan, who homered in the first inning to begin the scoring, and Corey Graves were both 3-for-4, while Johnson and Jeff Breyen both had two hits.

Morgan, who came on with two on and nobody out in the seventh, was the losing pitcher. Starter Kyle Ericksan left in favor of Caleb Cochran in the third.

Rogalla signs with UND

Carter Rogalla, a 1983 Lincoln High School graduate, signed a national letter of intent Wednesday to play baseball at the University of North Dakota.

A standout in football, hockey and baseball for the Prowlers, Rogalla is currently a member of the defending Ninth District champion Thief River Falls Post 117 American Legion baseball team.

Used as a shortstop during the high school baseball season when he led the Prowlers with a .452 batting average (35/73), Rogalla doubles as a pitcher during the longer Legion schedule.

Kelvin Ziegler, who was recently named UND head baseball coach, was in Thief River Falls to sign Rogalla. The Sioux appeared in the NCAA national tournament for the first time this spring.

Bemidji runner Corey Johnson got to the bag before the throw from Thief River Falls catcher Steve Burslie reached second baseman Carter Rogalla on this first inning stolen base during the second game of Wednesday's American Legion baseball doubleheader at Irv Wilson Field. Thief River Falls won both games, 5-0 and 7-6.

Leach essay, Kassa poster advance to state contest

First place winner in the senior division of the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District essay contest, the entry by Sarah Leach was recently awarded second place in the Area I contest and will be entered in state competition.

A poster entered by Adam Kassa won first place in the Area I poster contest and also has been entered in the state contest.

Sarah is the daughter of Stan and Maggie Leach of Thief River Falls and will be a junior at Lincoln high school this fall. Adam is the son of Tim and Paulette Kassa of Goodridge. Assigned topic for both the essay and poster contests was "My Hand in Land Use."

Soil and water conservation districts included in Area I include Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Lake of the Woods, Marshall-Beltrami, Pennington, Beltrami, Red Lake, East Polk, West Polk, Clearwater, Norman, Mahnomen and Hubbard.

Sarah's winning essay follows:

"My Hand In Land Use"
by Sarah Leach

Hey! Everybody out there! Who cares about our conservation problem? Does it matter that our grandchildren's children won't have any food to eat or water to drink? Many people might not care about these issues, but I do. Conserving our water, wetlands and soil should be at the top of everyone's list of things that need to be done.

In the past, most people have said that only farmers are the ones who can conserve Earth. After all, all of the laws and brochures apply to farmers. That's not true at all. Farmers do their share through many different practices. That's true. Grass fieldstrips, windbreaks, stripcropping, terraces, cover and green manure crops, field borders and conservation tillage are some of the more popular practices farmers use.

These are all fine and dandy, but what about the conservation of natural resources where there are no farms? Farmers play a big role in conservation, but the job of protecting our environment shouldn't be left to just farmers. We can't blame pollution of the rivers on farmers when they don't have farms near the river, right? So who or what will protect these places?

Sarah Leach

Adam Kassa

Each of us has the answer. Our conservation practices are the key. We can do a lot more than most people think if we become conscious of the problem. Here are a few suggestions.

We must save the trees. The more people who buy recycled paper products and recycle newspapers, the more trees we will have. We need trees because they lower the amount of soil that erodes into the river, and they provide us with cleaner air to breathe.

If people stop brushing their teeth we will have more water. I don't suggest this, but if people turn off the tap we will use less water. Another easy way to conserve water is through our dishwashing practices. If we fill a sink with hot water instead of rinsing our dishes separately, that's more water we save.

People need to become farmers. If we plant trees, shrubs and legumes, which fertilize the soil by restocking nitrogen, we will provide a blanket for the soil so it won't erode.

The garbage man will love this idea. Stop giving grass clippings and leaves to the garbage man. They just fill in the landfills. People can use the leaves to fertilize their soil. This way they save money because they don't have to buy fertilizers.

If you turn down your heaters one degree, turn off a few lights, or even take a shorter shower, you will save energy, which is produced by natural resources like coal or gas. You'll also save some money on your next bill.

Bring in the bugs! Use birds or helpful insects such as praying mantises or ladybugs to control harmful insects. If you do need pesticides, only use a little at a time so it won't run off into water sources. Be sure to follow all directions carefully so pesticides won't pollute the ground water.

If you are thinking of throwing out an old television, try to fix it first. This saves on the raw materials and energy used to make new ones and it also saves money that you'd use to buy a new television.

Don't be a litterbug. The can you throw out the window could be used to make a new can. The newspaper your throw out kills a tree because you aren't recycling. Not only this, but some matter doesn't break down, so it pollutes the rivers, kills animals and looks disgusting.

You may be asking yourself why you should cut down on your comfort and ease to save the Earth.

The answer is simple. Conservation will protect the future of us all. If people want the guilt in knowing that because they didn't do their part, crops can't be grown for their grandchildren, that's fine. Live in peace. There are a few more reasons that aren't so general. One specific reason concerns our wetlands, another concerns our soil.

Do you like to fish? If you do, you owe part of the sport to wetlands. They provide homes for fry and fingerlings, newborn fish and young fish. If it weren't for wetlands, many fish would probably die out because young fish wouldn't have any protection from predators and climatic changes.

How many floods have you been in? Chances are if you live near a wetland you haven't been through many. Wetlands act like a sponge. They soak up the excess water so the water level remains constant.

Does your town's water purification system work well? I ask this question because wetlands work as well or better than purification plants. Sediment settles out of the slow moving water, and harmful minerals are collected by the wetlands so our drinking water won't be contaminated.

Finally, wetlands provide food and shelter for wildlife. The reeds are used for bird nests and the fish make good food.

Soil conservation is also important. If soil erodes, we won't have anything to grow our crops in. This means no food in the future. The shorter term effects of soil erosion are also a major concern. The prevention of erosion will decrease the filling-in of water sources.

The key to a safer and better tomorrow is conservation. People will be healthier and happier because we'll have cleaner water and better quality food. In order to ensure today's benefits to future generations, we must all do our part.

County to investigate death of pigs on Polk Centre farm

Pennington county sheriff's department is investigating the death of over 200 pigs at the Hilton Pig Farm in Polk Center township.

On July 5 the sheriff's department received a report that about 300 pigs were dead at the Hilton Pig Farm. When the deputy arrived he learned that the pigs had died and were in the process of being pulled out of a barn and put into a pile in preparation for disposal. The cause of the death of 255 pigs is unknown and is under investigation.

The owner of the pigs is James Janzen of St. Odolphe, Manitoba, Canada. The value of the pigs was placed at roughly $200 per pig which puts the loss at around $51,000.

County fair keys on entertainment

Entertainment is the key word for the five-day 92nd Annual Pennington County Fair to be held Wednesday through Sunday, July 21-25, at the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls.

Tanya Tucker, 1991 Country Music Association Female Vocalist of the Year, will headline the entertainment program with performances at 7 and 9 p.m. Saturday, July 24.

All seats for the concerts are reserved and tickets at $15 each are available at Hugo's Supermarket or Kezar Music Company in Thief River Falls or by mail by writing to Tanya Tucker Concert, P.O. Box 10, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Tickets remain available for both performances.

Tucker has had more than 30 top 10 hit songs and more than half of them have gone all the way to number one on the charts. A sampling includes "Delta Dawn," "What's Your Mama's Name?" "Pecos Promenade," "San Antonio Stroll," "Texas (When I Die)," "Some Kind of Trouble" and "If Your Heart Ain't Busy Tonight."

But Tanya Tucker's concerts are only the tip of the entertainment iceberg. In front of the grandstand Friday at 9 p.m. will be the "Jets," a family of seven brothers and sisters that has recorded four albums yielding eight top 10 singles, including three chart toppers. The group has special appeal for the younger generation but all ages are welcome and dancing will be available. The Jets have made many national television network and cable television appearances and their three number one singles are "You Got It All," "Make It Real" and "Sendin' All My Love."

Parents of the Jets immigrated to Salt Lake City from Tonga and in addition to the seven-member group have eight more children at home. The Jets' grandfather has over 100 grandchildren.

Once again this year the free entertainment at the bandshell will be outstanding. Featured will be the McCarters, three beautiful and talented musical sisters from Tennessee; Airwave; Sparky and the Time Pirates; and the popular local band the Fugitives. Karaoke will also be featured Thursday evening. Bandshell entertainment is continuous from 1:30 to 10:30 Thursday through Sunday, July 22-25.

Wednesday night is church night at the bandshell with presentations by "Straight From The Heart," "The Trochmanns," "Joyful Sound" trio, "Olson Family" and soloist Robin Asp.

For those who like their entertainment a little less musical, there will be team penning competition at the horse arena Thursday, July 22, beginning at 5 p.m. and the always popular demolition derby Sunday, July 25, starting at 5:30 p.m. in front of the grandstand.

New this year will be Bandshell II, a second covered stage acquired by the Pennington county fair board and located at the southwest corner of the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. The stage schedule will offer local entertainment during times when the regular bandshell is not in operation.

Featured at Bandshell II July 22 will be a Discovery Place play, storytime by Northwest Regional Library, face painting and balloon tying by 4-H clowns, lip sync by Angela and Grady Griffin, Highlanding 4-H club share-the-fun act, Vanessa Anderson and Kristi Lindberg, Kelsi Holland and the Goulet Sisters.

The Rogalla Family will entertain Friday, July 23, while Dave Roux, Katie Christensen and Bridget Stock and Julie Knoll are presently scheduled for Saturday.

Events at Bandshell II Sunday, July 25, include the 4-H fashion revue at 1 p.m., followed by the 4-H Hall of Fame award presentation. Share-the-fun numbers from around the area include the Steiner 4-H at 2:15 p.m., Roseau county number at 2:45 p.m., New Maine 4-H from Marshall county at 3 p.m. and Silverton 4-H at 3:15 p.m.

Murphy Bros. Exposition will be on the midway with more than 30 rides. Special price ride tickets will be available, including a $20 Mega Pass good for unlimited rides for one person throughout the entire fair. A one-session (noon to 6 p.m. or 6 p.m. to closing) ride pass is available in advance for $10 or at the fair for $12. Both passes may be purchased at the Arnold Avenue Store, Erl's Market, 7-Eleven, Hugo's, Amoco 24, Jubilee Foods and Pennington Square in Thief River Falls, Kruse In at St. Hilaire and Goodridge Hartz store and cafe in Goodridge. The midway will be open Wednesday through Sunday.

Other events include Bingo each day in the curling club building, senior citizen program at 2 p.m. July 23, 4-H and ADGA goat show starting at 9 a.m. July 24, KKAQ rooster crowing contest at 11 a.m.

Hallock residents propose athletic center

Hallock — A group of three Hallock residents is hoping to gain city and community support for a proposed indoor recreational facility. A petition with 115 signatures in favor of the project was presented in hopes of gaining approval for a building to allow walking and racquetball and other activities in the winter. Preliminary plans include a running track, weight room, aerobics room, racquetball court and juice bar. (Kittson County Enterprise)

Sawdust Dayz set for July 17 and 18

Shevlin — Sawdust Dayz, sponsored by the Shevlin Community Improvement project, will be held July 17 and 18 in Shevlin. The schedule will include kids' games, logging events, a parade and volleyball tournaments, as well as a horseshoe tourney and a health fair. (McIntosh Times)

Beltrami county residents protest bad roads

Beltrami County — About 20 residents who live along County Roads 413 and 203 in Beltrami county, descended upon the county board recently to ask for road improvements. They showed video tapes of trouble spots on the roads where several accidents have occurred. Problems included visibility on curves and standing water, as well as an unsafe hill. The county board's answer to the group explained that "three-digit" county roads do not get any state funding for repairs and can only be fixed with local funds, which causes problems for the county's budget. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Pelan Park group to present "Fools"

Greenbush — Pelan Park will once again be the site of a summer play, "Fools" by Neil Simon. The play, which will be directed by Todd Chrzanowski, will be presented July 24 and 25 at 6 p.m. at the park depot, eight miles west of Greenbush on Highway 11. (Greenbush Tribune)

Learning to fly was an exhilarating but slightly unnerving experience for these cast members of "Peter Pan," the musical being presented Thursday through Saturday, July 15-17, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, July 18, at 2 p.m. at the Lincoln high school auditorium through the community education program of School District 564. Pictured (left to right) are Lise Swanson as Wendy, Philip Hoks as Michael and Joe Lafriniere as John.

"Peter Pan" opens

Under the direction of Jane Olson and sponsored by the School District 564 Community Education department, the musical "Peter Pan" opened Thursday evening in the Lincoln high school auditorium and is being presented through Sunday, July 18. Evening performances through Saturday are at 7:30 p.m. with the concluding performance being a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday.

Tickets are available in advance at Kezar Music and Hugo's Supermarket and also will be available at the door for all performances. Admission is $5 for adults, $4 for senior citizens and $3 for children 12 and younger. No babes in arms will be admitted.

The production, which has an all local cast including many young children, has been in rehearsal for about six weeks. A professional theater supply firm has provided and installed the apparatus used to permit actors and actresses to "fly," one of the highlights of the performance.

Shelly Hammer has been cast in the title role of Peter Pan. Lisa Swanson has the role of Wendy, Joe Lafriniere is John, Key Teeters Asp is Liza, Philip Hoks is Michael, Beth Olson is Nana, Lois Brown is Mrs. Darling and Alan Rogalla is Mr. Darling.

Central Boiler doubles buildings

Wood stove manufacturer at Greenbush expands to meet demand for its furnaces

Construction workers build a 25,000 square feet addition onto the Central Boiler building near Greenbush. The $400,000 addition will be used to ship and produce wood furnaces.

by Mark Olson
Staff Writer

Central Boiler, Inc., of Greenbush is doubling the size of its building to keep pace with increasing orders for wood furnaces.

The business is constructing a 25,000 square feet, $400,000 addition to its existing 25,000 square feet building for production and receiving and shipping products.

Dennis Brazier founded Central Boiler in 1984 after building his first outdoor wood burning furnace to heat his home and farm buildings.

Central Boiler began selling the furnaces locally. Now over 100 dealers sell the stoves in the U.S. and Canada in states ranging from California to Maine.

The company manufactures and ships the outdoor wood furnaces year around, said sales manager Rodney Tollefson.

Central Boiler has some furnaces in stock now, but Tollefson said it has sold as many as 250 units in two to three days.

The wood furnaces heat domestic water in addition to heating the entire home. The wood furnace can be used with an existing heat system. Central Boiler estimated that 90 to 95 per cent of its customers heat their house and water exclusively with the wood furnace.

The furnaces are assembled in Greenbush. Area contractors make the core heavy gauge steel firebox. The waterjacket is coated with airtight urethane foam insulation and a sheet metal enclosure is constructed around the stove, giving it the appearance of a small shed.

Workers come to Greenbush from a 50 mile radius to work at the Central Boiler building. Tollefson attributes Central Boiler's success to the employees and contractors.

The 25,000 square feet building is heated by a CL 75, Central Boiler's largest model, capable of holding 750 gallons of water and weighing 3,200 pounds.

Central Boiler builds three different size furnaces: Model 17 with a 170 gallon capacity, Model CL 40 with a 400 gallon water capacity and the Model CL 75. Central Boiler is currently designing a smaller model wood furnace.

A Central Boiler brochure estimates the wood stoves will replace from 1,500 to 5,000 gallons of fuel oil annually or from $250 to $1,500 savings per month on the heating

Finseth defeats Swanson in Dist. 1B election

Tim Finseth of Angus will be the next representative in District 1B in Minnesota. The independent republican candidate defeated DFL endorsed candidate Joel Swanson of Thief River Falls in the special election held Tuesday, July 13.

The special election was called by Minnesota Governor Arne Carlson soon after Rep. Wally Sparby had resigned to accept the state director position for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Election day turnout was relatively low for the district which includes the counties of Polk, Red Lake, Marshall and Pennington. The uncertified results show that the total number of votes cast was around 6,000, nearly 3,000 of the votes being cast in Pennington county.

Despite the strong showing in Pennington county, less than half of the persons registered to vote in Pennington county did vote. According to records with the Pennington county auditor's office, there are over 7,500 registered voters in the county.

For those individuals who have not heard what the results of the election were, unofficial results show that Finseth captured 3,309

1 can green beans
1 can garbanzo beans
1 can whole kernel corn
1 can tiny peas
1 cup celery, chopped
1 jar pimento, cut into strips
1 cup green onion with tops, chopped

Layer the vegetables in large container. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon celery seed and 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

DRESSSING
1 cup sugar
3/4 cup vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup salad oil

Heat sugar, vinegar and salt until dissolved. Add oil and cool.

Pour over vegetables and stir gently. Cover tightly and refrigerate at least 2 days. Recipe serves 25.

PASTA SALAD
1 pound mostaccioli noodles
1 small red onion
1 cucumber, unpeeled
1 green pepper
Sliced black olives
2 cups fresh mushrooms, sliced

Cook noodles, drain and cool. Add vegetables.

DRESSING
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon pepper
2 scant tablespoons dry mustard dash parsley
dash celery salt

Mix well. Pour over vegetables and allow to marinate for 24 hours, stirring occasionally.

(Salad will keep up to one week in refrigerator.)

Use your fresh garden vegetables in this creamy salad:

BROCCOLI-CAULIFLOWER SALAD

1 head broccoli
1/4 cup onion
1/2 (4 ounces) package frozen peas (or fresh, slightly cooked)

Legby park vandalized over July 4th weekend

Lengby — Vandals struck at Spring Lake park in Lengby during the small hours of the morning over the July Fourth weekend. The lifeguard chair was uprooted and deposited in the lake, signs were torn down and picnic tables were moved from the shelter to the parking lot. The vandals also broke into a utility shed, stole a case of toilet paper and used it to "decorate" the trees. The director of the park reports that there has been so much vandalism this year that keeping it open is getting quite expensive, especially since a gate at the entrance to keep mischief-makers out has been broken on several occasions. (Thirteen Towns)

Employees at Oakland Park vote for union

Tabulation of ballots in an election conducted by mail on Wednesday, July 14, revealed that employees of Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls favor union representation by a vote of 47 to 4.

Les Duenow, business agent for United Food and Commercial Workers Union Local 1116 in Duluth, said that 72 employees had been certified as eligible to vote at the cut-off date of May 26. He said he had been informed that some had quit prior to the vote being taken, contributing to only 51 ballots being cast.

Ballots were to be mailed to the Minnesota Bureau of Mediation Services, a part of the Department of Administration, by June 29, Duenow said. The vote was on a question of whether or not the employee voting wanted Local 1116 to be his or her exclusive collective bargaining agent.

The local would represent virtually all employees in the nursing home except registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, department heads and administrative personnel. About two-thirds of the employees would be represented by the union.

If the election is certified by the National Labor Relations Board—which could take place as early as next week, Duenow said—he will meet with the employees to formulate a proposal for presentation to the Oakland Park board for negotiation. The board consists of the five members of the Pennington county board of commissioners plus two other community members.

Duenow said concerns of the employees included working conditions, scheduling and turn-over of staff.

Sharon Hoglo, administrator at Oakland Park Nursing Home, said care has been taken to be sure the home has operated within the guidelines and mandates required by governmental agencies and has tried to deal fairly with employees on wages, benefits and working conditions. She declined public comment on the unionizing effort.

Duenow said Local 1116, which has headquarters in Duluth, is affiliated with the AFL-CIO and represents some 5,000 employees in a number of areas of employment. He said Oakland Park would be the 27th nursing home having membership in the local.

Circus comes to Crookston

The Carson and Barnes Circus will be in Crookston for two shows at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Wednesday, July 28.

The five-ring circus owns 100 animals, including lions, tigers, zebras, camels, a giraffe, hippo, a white rhino and 20 elephants.

The performers will present acrobatic and aerial displays that include wire-walking, bareback riding, juggling, balancing trapeze and flying trapeze.

Rummage sale signs clutter up city streets

Rummage sales signs are beginning to make Thief River Falls look like one large yard sale, according to some complaints made with the city.

Community Development Director Don Stewart said it was brought to his attention that many of the rummage or yard sale signs popping up all over the community are in violation of a city ordinance. Stewart said he had received a number of complaints, particularly about the large signs.

An ordinance was developed a number of years ago because of similar complaints. Stewart said the purpose of the ordinance is primarily to protect aesthetics of the community and neighborhoods. It was also developed out of a need for safety. Large signs can cause traffic and safety problems.

For those individuals planning to have a rummage or yard sale, here's a copy of the city ordinance pertaining to rummage or yard sale signs: Excluded Signs. The following shall be deemed to be excluded from the definition of "sign" as it applies to this subdivision: 7. Rummage or yard sale signs, provided that no person shall attach such signs to street name posts, traffic control sign posts, trees or utility poles in or along any street right-of-way within the city and that no person shall attach such sign to any building, fence or wall or other property of another person without having first obtained the consent of the owner of such property. The maximum time limit for display of such signs if five days in any 30 day period. Such signs shall not exceed three square feet in sign surface area."

So what's left for the enterprising entrepreneur? Free standing signs, three square feet in surface area, on a stake.

Stewart asks that people putting up rummage sale signs use common sense.

St. Bernard's to hold OBE workshops

Dr. John Backes, professor at the University of Minnesota who is considered an expert in outcome based education (OBE), will conduct in-service workshops for teachers at St. Bernard's school and parents of St. Bernard's students on Monday, August 30, according to Dixie Klein, principal.

Teacher in-service will be from 2 to 4 p.m. at Evergreen Eating Emporium. Session for parents of students and prospective students will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. that evening following a free soup and sandwich supper to be served at the church hall from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

Dr. Backes, who received his elementary and high school education in Catholic schools, is a professor in the educational administration department at UND. He will provide the training for teachers in the afternoon and present information and answer questions at the evening session for parents.

"St. Bernard's school is moving toward an outcome-based curriculum that is consistent with the Christian values and beliefs that are taught in the school," Klein said. "It is important that students have the knowledge, learning strategies and skills that they will need in order to be successful in the schools following sixth grade at St. Bernard's."

National Guard trains at Ripley

Members of National Guard Company B, 2nd Battalion, 136th Infantry in Thief River Falls and Crookston will leave July 24 for training at Camp Ripley near Little Falls.

Known as the Bearcats, the unit involves 157 soldiers from Thief River Falls, Crookston and the surrounding area.

CPT Rick Westlund, commander of Company B, said the unit's mission while at the two-week camp is to conduct squad and platoon level training in garrison and field operations and undergo a First Army operational readiness exercise.

He said the unit will conduct Bradley Fighting Vehicle gunnery and tactical maneuver exercises and train in the art of field survival. The readiness exercise tests the unit's mobilization posture and whether it can successfully complete its wartime mission.

The 2nd Battalion has units in Moorhead, Crookston, Thief River Falls, Bemidji, Wadena, Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls. It is a round-out unit to the First Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, KS.

Application forms are being sent to all homes of enrolled children with a letter to parents or guardians. To determine eligibility based on income, a household must provided the following:

- The social security number of the adult household member who signs the application or the word "none" if he/she does not have one.
- The amount of income each household member received last month by source.

About Murder, Standards, Choice And Reason

Kennedy Paul Hill, 25, reportedly shoved a table against the abdomen of his eight-months pregnant girlfriend, kicked her several times and thereby caused the death of her unborn child. The woman delivered a stillborn baby following the attack.

Hill has been charged with three counts of second degree murder of an unborn child, one count of third degree murder of an unborn child and one count each of first and third degree assault. The charge of murder of an unborn child is rarely filed in Minnesota, according to the state's Attorney General's office. Perhaps this is understandably so.

In a society which legally condones and virtually encourages the voluntary and intentional termination of unborn human life by one parent, how can it be considered criminal if the life is terminated by the other parent? Hill is said to be the father of the unborn child who died as an apparent result of his violent actions.

We would expect the militant advocates of "freedom of choice" to rush to the defense of Kennedy Paul Hill, pointing out that in their viewpoint there could be no murder because there was no life taken, simply a loss of tissue. We would expect them to defend his act as an exercise of choice and as being preferable to bringing a child into a situation where it is unwanted.

NOT!

We have heard those arguments on behalf of pregnant women many times before. They made as little sense then as defense of Hill's act would now. The difference between an act of murder and a right of choice lies not in the act nor the result but in the law. It is legal for an expectant mother to have the child she is carrying killed and for others to be hired to do it for her. It is not legal for others to commit an act with the same result.

We believe that what Kennedy Paul Hill is alleged to have done was violent and criminal and wrong and that he should be punished for it. We fail to understand how—from the standpoint of the ultimate victim—the intentional taking of unborn life is less violent, less criminal and less wrong.

Biological components of conception, pregnancy and delivery are unchanged since the beginning of time. Only the social attitudes have been subject to change according to cultures and so-called civilizations.

We believe in freedom of choice regarding pregnancy, but we disagree in the timing. If the choices of abstention or contraception were exercised, the question of abortion would be moot. Why are those choices considered to be unreasonable?

"Peter Pan" Production Will Impress You

Our editorial in Wednesday's Thief River Falls Times called attention to the many activities of public interest in the community in the next few weeks. In the flurry of activity we failed to mention the production of "Peter Pan" sponsored by the community education department of School District 564 and directed by Jane Olson.

Those who attended the Miss Thief River Falls pageant Saturday evening got a glimpse of the action when a couple of numbers from the show were presented as added entertainment. The musical opened Thursday night in the Lincoln high school auditorium and continues nightly through Saturday at 7:30 p.m., concluding with a 2 p.m. matinee performance Sunday.

We know this is a busy weekend, but anyone who enjoys theater should take in this local production. They will be impressed, not only by the technical aspects of flying actors and actresses but by the ability of local talent of all ages. The performances that Jane Olson has received from the youngsters in the cast are especially impressive.

You don't believe humans can fly? "Peter Pan" will make you a believer.

Surprises (At Least For Us) In Tuesday's Election

Tuesday's special election for House District 1B held three surprises for this writer—(1) the number of people who went to the polls in a single-race election, (2) the results of the balloting in which an Independent-Republican candidate defeated a Democrat Farmer-Labor candidate and (3) the narrow margin by which the unsuccessful candidate carried his home county.

Showing how little we know about how the voters of this area will act, we had predicted DFL candidate Joel Swanson of Thief River Falls would win with 60 per cent of the vote. I-R candidate Tim Finseth of Warren won with 54 per cent of the vote.

We had expected the numerical strength of the DFL party in this area would have carried more weight in the election of a successor to DFL Rep. Wally Sparby, despite the historical ability of the I-R party to elect its candidates in special elections.

Finseth's margin of victory was 519 votes with a total of 6,099 votes cast. Rep. Sparby beat him by 4,980 votes last fall—9,783 to 4,803 with 14,586 votes cast in the Presidential election year.

Not only did Finseth show up strong in decisively winning his home county of Marshall and the northwest corner of Polk, he showed relatively well in Red Lake county and lost by only eight votes in Swanson's home county of Pennington. By "relatively well" in Red Lake county, we mean a loss by only 185 votes—576 to 391. Last fall he received only 149 votes in Red Lake county while Rep. Sparby received 2,015.

Now that the election is over, Representative-elect Finseth will have a few months to get better acquainted with his district, the duties and responsibilities of his office and the legislators with whom he will be working. Surrounded as he is by DFL legislators in this area of the state, he may have to do some island hopping to prepare for effective representation of his district.

We congratulate him on his election victory and wish him well in his legislative service. He is a personable young man who doesn't back away from challenges. He has a big one to face now.

Tim Finseth

Joel Swanson

votes to the 2,790 captured by Swanson. In Pennington county, Finseth received 1,451 votes and Swanson 1,459. In Marshall county, Finseth received 697 votes and Swanson 283. In Red Lake county, Finseth received 391 votes and Swanson 576. In Polk county, Finseth received 770 votes and Swanson 472.

Although Swanson carried Pennington county, he did so by only eight votes. Of the 33 precincts in the county Finseth carried 14. Swanson carried 19 of 33 precincts. Swanson received most of his votes among precincts in Thief River Falls (842 to 793). Among rural precincts, Finseth received more votes (658 to 617). (See the graph accompanying this story.)

In an interview after the election, Swanson said he was not totally surprised by the results. Historically, the DFL party has lost 75 per cent of all special elections called in the state.

Finseth's success, Swanson said, was probably a result of a combination of several things, including: name recognition from his previous attempts to unseat Rep. Sparby, a 10 day to two week jump on campaigning, outspending of the Swanson campaign by Finseth, and getting help from the Republican Victory Club.

Finseth said votes by county went about as he had anticipated, however, he thought it would be a closer race.

Finseth said there wasn't any one thing that made the difference, other than hard work. Finseth said he knocked on a lot of doors and talked to a lot of people.

But Finseth gave credit for his success to the many volunteers who worked on his campaign. Finseth said there isn't any one candidate who can say they won an election on their own. The individuals who worked on his campaign were very important, he said.

Swanson mentioned many of the same things about the people working on his campaign. It couldn't have been done without the many volunteers that worked on his campaign.

Finseth said a lot of little things contributed to his victory, such as dissatisfaction with the liberals in the legislature and even President Clinton. In addition, he believes people in northwestern Minnesota have become more aware of the liberal DFLers from St. Paul, and have become more aware that people in northwestern Minnesota are more conservative and that they need to stand up to the liberals.

The results of this election might have greater significance statewide. Finseth believes that this might very well be a sign that Republicans will win more seats from Democrats in the next election. The Minnesota House will now be composed of 85 DFL and 49 GOP.

Swanson said there were some things about the election campaign that he did not like. Because Finseth linked himself to Sparby and Sen. LeRoy Stumpf in his advertisements he believes it created some confusion among voters.

Finseth's campaign was also more negative, Swanson said, than he was willing to allow in his own campaign. In addition, the only reason the election was held when it was, was to provide as much benefit to the Independent Republican candidate as possible, he said.

Finseth said he hasn't had time to analyze everything yet. Had he time to do it all over, he said he would do more newspaper advertising to familiarize the constituents with himself and his platform. He didn't think the timing of the election had much to do with his victory.

Swanson said he was not sure what he would do differently. If he had it all to do over again, he said he would want more time to get out and meet people. An election after the county fairs would have allowed him more of an opportunity to get out and meet people. As he sees it, that would have been of great value to the radio station manager turned politician.

Swanson said he is leaning towards running for the seat in 1994. Now, however, he wants to let the dust settle, talk to several people about his political aspirations, and watch what Finseth does in the House of Representatives for northwestern Minnesota.

Finseth said he intends to run for re-election in 1994. He said he has a lot to learn and probably won't be in a position to influence legislation because he will be a freshman representative. He said he hasn't set any priorities yet, but has a few things in mind.

Finseth said he wants to extend an open invitation to the people of the district. He said his door is open and he needs to hear from them.

In northwestern Minnesota, which has been dominated by DFL candidates for years, the election of Finseth in District 1B has sparked discussion and dire predictions of partisan politics. Finseth said he is going to St. Paul to represent and work for the people of northwestern Minnesota. If every legislator in the district is going to St. Paul to represent the people of northwestern Minnesota, he said, there won't be any problems.

Rob Stock was the starting pitcher for Thief River Falls in the first game, relieved by Brian Cleven (winning pitcher) and Courtney Skjerven. Thief River Falls pitchers each issued two walks and Stock and Skjerven each struck out one.

bill, depending on the stove size. "The average family saves enough nonrenewable fossil fuel to operate an automobile for a year," Tollefson said.

The Central Boiler wood furnace is gaining in popularity, Tollefson said, because it is an outdoor and not an indoor furnace. "People who work all day don't want to worry about their house burning down," Tollefson said. "All the fire hazard is removed from the building being heated."

Insurance companies "get excited about it," Tollefson said, when they learn it is separated from the house because it reduces their risk on fire claims.

The wood furnaces have been located as far as 700 feet away from the buildings they are heating.

The furnace has been tested and approved by Underwriters Laboratories and the Canadian Standards Association — United States and Canadian safety testing organizations.

The furnaces heat water, which is pumped to the house through a heat exchanger and back to the furnace through two buried insulated lines. Installation time required is about one day inside the house and a day to bury the lines and set the furnace.

The most frequently asked question, Tollefson said, involves the length of time between filling wood into the furnace. People don't like "babysitting" a wood stove, Tollefson said.

The burn time between reloading can range from 12 hours to four days. The burning time ranges depending on the size of the building, the insulation and the weather.

The furnace's design contains a water baffle which traps the heat on top of the firebox. Heat exchange flues run through the firebox to add efficiency. The chimney is not located directly above the fire, but is located out the back, separated from the fire by a water-cooled baffle to decrease emissions and increase efficiency.

Central Boiler brochures list a number of current applications of the furnaces, ranging from homes, pools and spas to a 20-unit motel and apartment complex.

The company keeps in contact with its customers through a data bank and it sends out regular maintenance reminders.

Central Boiler keeps making modifications in the furnace design. "Research and engineering and improving the product is ongoing," Tollefson said.

Rodney Tollefson, Central Boiler sales manager, stands by the CL 40 model wood furnace. This model furnace has been used to heat buildings ranging from laundromats to hog barns.

Lowell Gislason welds framework onto the core firebox at Central Boiler, Inc., in Greenbush. The company makes wood furnaces.

Variety show set July 23

Music, comedy and dance will be featured in a family variety show to be presented by the Two Rivers Area Theatre (TRAT) Friday, July 23, at 7 p.m. in the community hall at Red Lake Falls.

Tickets will be available at the door and priced at $3 for adults and $1 for children six years of age and younger. St. Joseph's church will operate its "Heavenly Hamburger Stand" outside the hall from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Included in the performances will be a portrayal of Huckleberry Finn by Lee Sevig; children's gymnastics presentation led by Jenny French; French songs by students of a summer French camp instructed by Suzanne Tupa; and song and dance performances from the Lowell Arlt family, Dick Seeger family, Cyr family band, Carol Kankel, Andrea Liston and Sherry Noyes. Except for the Arlt family from Plummer, all are from Red Lake Falls.

The show is intended to raise funds for the theater group which had to cancel its planned production of "Oliver" this summer due to lack of funds, according to Carol Kankel, TRAT president.

For more information on the variety show contact Kankel at 253-4257 or Andrea Liston, show coordinator, at 253-2902.

Camp dedicates new chapel

Dedication of the new chapel/dining hall at Lake of the Woods Bible Camp, near Baudette, is scheduled for Sunday, July 18 at 4:30 p.m.

Bishop Art Rimmereid is the guest speaker and members of the Pathways staff will help with music and liturgy. A light supper will be served after the worship with a free will offering.

Anderson writes 2nd place essay

Garrett Anderson, son of Gary and Marilou Anderson of Orygla, is a second place winner in the Conservation Essay Contest, elementary division.

Anderson's entry advances to state competition later this summer.

The Area 1 contest is sponsored by the Area 1 Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Flooding south of Thief River Falls closes some highways

Flooding has caused some area roads to be closed. As of Friday morning, Highway 59 south at Calloway is closed. Travellers are being advised not to take Highway 59 south as there are no detours around the closed portion of the road at Calloway. Travellers planning to travel south to Detroit Lakes and south can take Highway 32 to Highway 10. Highway 10 west at Hawley, however, is closed. Travellers will notice too that ditches and some fields are full of water.

If you are doing any travelling this weekend, please check with the Minnesota State Patrol before leaving. In Thief River Falls, the number is 681-3741.

Marshall County Central superintendent resigns

Karlstad/Middle River — Lowell Schwalbe, superintendent of Marshall County Central school district, surprised the school board by tendering his resignation to the Karlstad school district for his position, which is under a contract for shared services between the two districts. Schwalbe indicated that he has accepted another position in the southern part of the state. The resignation will go into effect Sept. 1. (North Star News & New River Record)

Three bears invade Clover township

Leonard — This tale of the three bears doesn't have porridge; but it does have dog food. It doesn't have Goldilocks, but it has locks on a cage; and the bears don't all live happily ever after. On June 21 at the home of Ted Tweet in Clover township a bear broke into the garage by tearing off pieces of siding, panels from an overhead door and finally the main entrance door and then made off with some dog food stored there. Later that bear returned for more and was shot. Tweet repaired his garage, but the following week another bear showed up and tore off more siding, the whole length of the building and chewed insulation from the wires within the wall. A live trap was used this time to catch the offending bear and it was delivered to a distant location to start a new life. As soon as this took place, a third bear broke into the garage on July 9, tearing off the temporary repairs, only to be trapped and removed from the neighborhood as well. (Farmers Independent)

Northland, coaches named in lawsuit

Northland Community College is party to a civil lawsuit in which a former student of the St. Cloud school district alleges that she was raped six years ago by a Northland Community College student while on an overnight high school sports trip.

Jim Haviland, president of Northland Community College, said he believes the alleged rape happened in 1988. Haviland said it was a surprise that a story about the lawsuit came up now. He said he hasn't been aware of any action in the case for a long time. When such incidents are alleged, he added, the reports are turned over to the College's lawyers and the Community College Systems office.

An Associated Press wire story appearing in the Minnesota Star Tribune, states that the civil lawsuit was filed in Stearns County District Court. The lawsuit alleges that the woman was raped at a hotel in Eveleth where she and her St. Cloud Apollo high school teammates were staying during a tennis tournament. She alleges that a Northland Community College football team member, who was not identified by name in the story, was staying at the hotel with his teammates.

The woman is seeking more than $50,000 in the lawsuit.

The lawsuit names Northland Community College, the football player, the Minnesota State Board of Community Colleges, the State of Minnesota and supervisors of the tennis and football teams as defendants.

The lawsuit alleges that Northland Community College knew of the defendants reputation for sexual offenses, and therefore, should not have been allowed him on the team. The story also states that the Thief River Falls college and its employees were negligent in allowing alcohol in the students' hotel rooms.

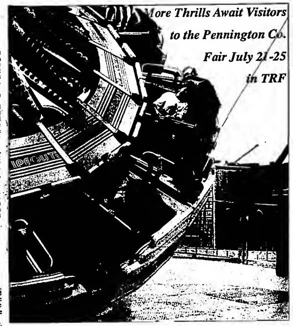
The Times attempted to reach the Community College Systems office for more information about the lawsuit but was unsuccessful.

AURI evaluating alternative crops

"Northern Minnesota is ripe with potential for increased agricultural profits," states Gary McVey of Crookston, technical services manager for the Agricultural Utilization Research Institute (AURI). "The key to agricultural expansion can often be found in alternative crops and new uses for crops already grown in the region."

Alternative crops best suited to northern Minnesota aren't what most would consider unusual, McVey said. Ranging from carrots to hybrid poplar trees, the crops are considered "alternative" only because they have not been widely produced in the region previously.

"On the other hand, using crops in new ways such as making paper from potato starch and manufacturing dye from red beets, might seem a little far-fetched at first glance," McVey said. "But these alternative uses are evaluated by universities and AURI—a non-profit corporation headquartered in Crookston. Different, yes. Farfetched? No."



Alternative crops best suited to northern Minnesota can be grouped into three categories, the technical services manager said. The first includes crops with potential national markets and with substantial acreage planned, including:

- Carrots—fresh and dehydrated. The goal is to have 10,000 acres dedicated to carrot production in Minnesota—10 per cent of U.S. production.
- Cole crops—broccoli, cauliflower, brussels sprouts and cabbage. Broccoli currently has the best potential. The goal is to have 2,000 acres of Minnesota cole crops.
- Green peas—fresh for eating. The goal is to grow 1,000 acres of peas in Minnesota by 1994. Within seven years, McVey expects pea acreage could reach 5,000 acres.

The second category includes crops with potential commercial uses. Markets are being evaluated for:

- High-starch potatoes—the starch could have industrial applications, such as paper production.
- Spinach—besides dietary uses, it can be used to color products such as pasta.
- Red beets, red cabbage—the red pigments from these plants can be used to manufacture dyes.
- Garlic—research is being conducted on the feasibility and profitability of producing garlic in Minnesota. It is used in some dietary supplements.
- Hybrid poplars—AURI, the University of Minnesota—Crookston and others are determining if it's feasible to grow hybrid poplars as an alternative crop. Potential uses include renewable energy as well as fiber for pulp and manufactured lumber. McVey said AURI is determining the most suitable methods and sites to grow the trees and

More thrills await fairgoers at the Pennington county fair. The youngsters pictured above found time to enjoy one of the many rides on the Murphy Brothers Midway. Besides the Midway rides, there are 4-H and Open Class exhibits, livestock, food stands and such outstanding entertainment as that provided by Tanya Tucker. The Pennington county fair will run through Sunday at the Huck Olson Memorial Arena in Thief River Falls.

Crazy Days July 29-31

Crazy Days will be held in Thief River Falls Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 29 through July 31. Besides great sales, several activities have been planned in the community on Thursday.

LaBree avenue from Second street to Third street will be closed to traffic on Thursday. On that stretch of roadway, merchants will be able to display merchandise on sidewalks and on the street. Many of the events planned during the day will also take place there.

The Public Library will hold a book sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday. There will also be free movies at the library from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m.

At 10 a.m. on Thursday, the Chamber of Commerce will hold a fish pond on LaBree avenue.

Events in the afternoon begin at 1:30 p.m. when special guests, including "Bubbles The Clown", the Hallmark Easter Bunny, the Hardees' Crispy Chicken, Big Hank, Mr. Peanut, and Santa Claus, will be walking around distributing balloon figures and/or handing out candy.

A stage will be set up on LaBree Avenue. From 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. "Mac Tonight" will perform on stage. From 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. "Bubbles the Clown" will appear on stage. Beginning at 5 p.m. there will be an open air concert featuring a number of performers including Kelsi Holland, Vanessa Anderson and Kristy Lindberg, the Goulet Family (Nikki, Angelique and Danielle), Bridgette Stock and Katie Christiansen, Bridgette Stock, Katie Christiansen and Beth Nelson. Each act will perform for about 15 minutes.

One of the featured events this year is the Doughnut eating contest. Registration for the event which will be held in front of Gary's Rainbow Bakery, will be held at 6 p.m. The event gets underway at 6:30 p.m.

Hot Wheel races for children, ages 4 to 7, is a regular event for Crazy Days. Registration for the event begins at 6:30 p.m. at the Kmart parking lot. The event begins at 7 p.m.

As always, Crazy Days means store clerks will be dressed up in

A Ganie variety pea plant grows in the peat soil near Clearbrook. This plant is surrounded by 10 acres of peas, grown by Northern Minnesota Pea Producers. Vegetables could revolutionize farming in an area typically reserved for small grains.

Tests show peas good crop

Second year studies are being conducted on more than 40 acres of test plots

by Mark Olsoo
Staff Writer

They are small, round, green and could revolutionize farming in Northwest Minnesota. They are peas. Area farmers are growing and testing them as a possible cash crop.

A small group of farmers formed Northern Minnesota Pea Producers (NMPP). NMPP works on research and development, as well as promotion, of peas and other vegetable crops not traditional to this area.

If the crops are successful a freezing plant might be on the horizon for Northwest Minnesota. The group has sponsored tours for the public and press to explain the operation and display the pea fields.

The latest tour drew more than 70 curiosity-seekers and farmers. About 100 farmers have donated money or said they would donate money toward a potential cooperative. Farmers have expressed interest in the venture from as far away as Barnesville.

This summer is the group's second season of serious testing. NMPP is leasing land from farmers to grow the peas. They have four 10 acre plots — near Fosston, McIntosh, Rindahl and Clearbrook, consisting of six different pea varieties. Birds Eye, Inc., provides the seeds.

NMPP is also growing smaller pea plots with 11 different varieties and 14 different treatments.

"There's a lot of variation, it's important to replicate," said Jim Stordahl, director and supervisor of plot work. NMPP will take the variations and compile them to compute an average yield.

The first five acres of peas were harvested July 12 and shipped to a Birds Eye plant in Waseca. Birds Eye usually requires pea harvest by the end of July, but because of cool temperatures and a rainy season, the deadline was moved to August 15. In August Birds Eye uses its facilities to freeze sweet corn.

The narrow harvest window, Stordahl said, makes it difficult to produce peas on a mass scale without freezing them. Freezing the peas, Stordahl said, also triples their value.

NMPP has contracted a Massachusetts firm to conduct a feasibility study for the freezing facility. If the plant is feasible, construction could begin next spring and the plant would be ready to freeze the 1995 harvest.

The counties being considered for growing peas include Norman, Mahnomen, Polk, Red Lake, Clearwater and possibly the fringes of other bordering counties.

This year has been a good growing year for peas, Stordahl said. The first harvest brought in 4,000 pounds per acre with several wet spots left standing. The second harvest brought in 6,500 pounds per acre. Last year was slightly higher with an average 7,000 pounds per acre — something "practically unheard of in Southern Minnesota," Stordahl said.

Southern Minnesota has a ten-year average yield of 2,500 pounds of peas harvested per acre. Many years of growing peas on the same

Children's theatre auditions planned

Crookston — "Alice in Wonderland" is this year's Crookston community theatre and Prairie Fire Children theatre production. About 60 children between the ages of seven and 18 are needed for the production, which will be held during the week of Ox Cart Days. Auditions will be held August 16 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Kiehle auditorium. Performances will be given August 21 at 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. (Crookston Daily Times)

Beltrami county overrules township license

Beltrami County — The Beltrami county board recently overruled the Hines town board to approve the renewal of a "set-up" license for the Blackduck Golf course. Hines Supervisor Jim Joy said the town board vetoed the license, which allows people bring in their own hard liquor and buy soda, ice and other "set-ups" to mix drinks, out of concern for children at the golf course and possible legal problems resulting from this situation. The county board however talked to local people and didn't hear any negative responses, so it was voted to overrule the township denial. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Lions to host "Indoor Picnic"

McIntosh — The McIntosh Lions club will hold an "indoor picnic" for single senior citizens about 75 years old and older who live in that community. The event will take place July 28 at the community center. After lunch there will be time to visit, drink coffee and play cards." (McIntosh Times)

Hospital board undecided on plans to build senior housing

Fosston — The Fosston hospital board will meet next week to discuss proposed plans to add assisted-care housing for senior citizens. The Multi-county Housing and Redevelopment Authority is presently planning a building project there. If the board decided to approve the senior citizen project, 12 family dwelling units will be built by the MCHRA, but if the board decides against the plan, the MCHRA will likely build 1[illegible] units, some for senior citizens. (Thirteen Towns)

Woodcarvers' festival set for August 7 & 8

Lake Bronson — The ninth annual International Woodcarvers festival will be held August 7 and 8 at Lake Bronson state park from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Last year over 5,000 people enjoyed watching and visiting with the carvers and this year carvers are expected from Oklahoma, New York, Wisconsin and Idaho, as well as Minnesota. Master carver Bill Palmer of Winnipeg, Manitoba will be the featured artist. The Red River Valley Fiddlers association will perform and an ice cream social will be held Sunday. (Kittson County Enterprise)

Roseau residents asked to help with run-off water

Roseau — Roseau City Clerk Leland Lunos has announced that extra rain water coming off roof tops and going into the city's sanitary sewer is creating permitting problems for the city. The city is having trouble getting a waste water permit for the system because there is too much volume of water coming into the lagoon. City officials suspect a large portion of that surplus to be storm sewer water from illegally installed run-off drains that dump into the sanitary sewer system. Lunos warns that this must be stopped or everyone will have to pay for an expensive sewer lagoon project. (Roseau Times-Region)

Settler's Square on the Marshall county fairgrounds in Warren will be filled with activity during the county fair Wednesday through Sunday, July 28-August 1. Included will be spinning demonstrations by Bev Johnson of Fisher, lefse baking by Jeanette Rierson of the Holt community, a display honoring Richard W. Fitzsimons (a 24-year legislator from rural Argyle), museum displays, ethnic food sales, fiddle music and other attractions.

86th Marshall County Fair to open July 28

Marshall County Fair in Warren will open its five-day run Wednesday, July 28, with the Murphy Brothers Exposition on the midway and close Sunday, August 1, with an amateur talent contest at 7 p.m.

The carnival features a $20 Mega-Ride armband which is good for unlimited rides by a person of any age all five days of the fair. Strips of 20 ride tickets for $10 are also available in advance at many Marshall county locations, including Strandquist Cafe, Young's Store in Middle River, Viking store, Stan's Grocery, Express Mart and Sethre's Hartz store in Newfolden.

A new 110x200 horse show arena and expanded horse stalls have been built and an all-time high 26 horses are expected to be exhibited. Improvements have been made to the grounds with special attention to the grandstand.

Schedule of main events for the fair includes the following:

Wednesday, July 28—Carnival opens at 6 p.m.; Warren and Argyle high school bands play at 7p.m.;

Thursday, July 29—Entry day from 1 to 10 p.m.; grandstand performance featuring "Memories," "The Zuchinis and "Ole and Elmer:"

Friday, July 30—Kids contests at 1 p.m.; Senior Citizen Day with program; 4-H on stage at 7:30 p.m. with coronation of the Marshall County "King Agassiz;" and a free fireworks display at 9 p.m.;

Saturday, July 31—Bingo at 1 p.m. and demolition car races at 7 p.m.;

Sunday, August 1—"Prairie Praisers" of Alvarado will present the all-faiths worship service at 10:30 a.m.; demolition derby will be held at 1:30 p.m. and the amateur talent contest at 7 p.m.

Because the fair is being held later in the summer than usual, it is hoped that grain, flower and other exhibits will be at a record level. Nearly 1,000 school exhibits have already been received to set a record in that area of the exposition.

Events will be going on almost continuously at the Settler's Square portion of the grounds.

Construction on Highway 1

Construction, which began Wednesday, July 21, is continuing on Trunk Highway 1 from the Burlington Northern Railroad line in Thief River Falls to Marshall County State Aid Highway 2, a distance of 17 miles.

The project involves resurfacing the road with one and one-half inches of bituminous overlay and widening the road by two feet on either side.

According to Minnesota Department of Transportation Project Engineer, Roger Hilie, the project will take from two to three weeks.

Northern Paving, Inc. of Crookston is the prime contractor on this $675,000 project. The contractor will use flagpersons to control traffic during construction.

T.H. 1 will be kept open at all times to traffic during construction, but motorists should expect some delays.

Persons with equipment wides than 12 feet should seek alternative routes.

You Wanted A Change? Now You're Getting It!

Many of the people who voted for Bill Clinton as President of the United States last fall did so because they said they wanted a change. The economy was slow to move upward, taxes were rising and too many people asking themselves if they were better off in 1992 than in 1991 were finding too often that the answer was "no."

Bill Clinton offered the promise of change. And things have been changing.....for the worse! The comedian who said that "Clinton wanted to be President in the worst way, and now he's doing it" isn't so funny any more. He has been unable to convince many Congressmen and Senators in his own party that his leadership is worth following because his proposals and his reasons for them are so flawed.

Most recent of the plans which proves him to be totally out of touch with the people is the "Clinton tax plan" which promises to make the 1990 budget agreement which so angered Americans look modest. That agreement contained a tax increase of $158 billion. The version of the Clinton tax plan approved by the House is $133 billion larger than that amount at $291 billion and the Senate version would increase taxes by $260 billion.

Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has confidently predicted that the result of the tax package will be: "The largest single tax increase in the history of public finance in the United States or anywhere else in the world."

How's that for change?

Well, candidate Clinton was dedicated to reducing the deficit, so a lot of that increase probably will go for deficit reduction, right?

Wrong.

Clinton's package contains $3.18 in new taxes for every $1 in spending cuts, and the net result, of course, is a massive tax increase. In fact, according to the President's own numbers, his program will result in an increase in the national debt of $1.5 trillion over the next five years.

Sure, that's a lot of money, but candidate Clinton was a champion of the middle class. His program probably comes down hard on big corporations and the really wealthy in the country, right?

Wrong.

Any family with an income of $20,000 or more a year can expect to get bit by tax increases. And that's just the start. Estimates are that the total job loss from the entire Clinton tax package could run as high as $1.4 million. Small business is facing a 42 per cent increase in taxes if this legislation is adopted. (Fortune 500 companies would be in for a three per cent increase.)

Senior citizens on Social Security would see a 70 per cent increase in taxes on their benefits if they make more than $25,000 as an individual or $32,000 as a couple. (These are defined by the President as "The Rich.")

If you're wondering why the economy seems sluggish, consider the position of the nation's businesses which are scared to death of the tax package and are either not hiring or are laying people off until they find out just how hard they will be hit. Business growth requires optimism and a reasonable expectation for profit. What small business could be optimistic about its future profitability if it can expect to face a 42 per cent increase in taxes?

Is there a ray of hope that can possibly slip through this curtain of economic gloom? Yes, if people will take the time to write or call their elected Congressman and two Senators and let them know in no uncertain terms that such a tax increase is unacceptable. To get a response, that message must be sent forcefully and in sufficient numbers to make an impression.

And it doesn't hurt to get personal. By that we mean let them know how those increases will affect you and your family.

It is hard to take time away from the active summer season to write letters to Congressmen, but if you want to do what you can to protect your hard-earned dollars for your own use, it could well be worth the effort.

Write: Rep. Collin Peterson, 1725 Longworth House Office Bldg.; Sen. Paul Wellstone, 702 Hart Senate Office Building; and Sen. David Durenberger, 154 Russell Senate Office Building —all at Washington, DC 20510.

"Peter Pan" Production Was First Class Family Entertainment

A collective community "Hats Off!" to Jane Olson, director, and the cast and crew which presented the musical "Peter Pan" Thursday through Sunday at the Lincoln high school auditorium. The talent displayed would have done justice to any touring group with professional experience.

As is often the case in locally produced stage productions, the lead roles are admirably cast and performed but the story provides an opportunity for people in the supporting cast to "steal the show." Such was the case in "Peter Pan" where we saw Tom Ronchetti's interpretation of Captain Hook's zealous assistant Smee as exceptional— a fitting complement to Rob Burkel's outstanding portrayal of the infamous Captain Hook.

We admired Shelly Hammer as Peter Pan, Lisa Swanson as Wendy, Joe Lafriniere as John, Philip Hoks as Michael and Key Teeters Asp as Liza not only for their vocal and/or acting ability but their courage in being hoisted and swung about on the flying apparatus. It may have been 99.99 per cent safe, but to an old fogey who gets a weak stomach on a porch swing, it looked unsettling enough.

Thanks to all who had a part in this musical for your participation and sharing of talent. The abilities of local people in acting and music is a constant source of amazement, and much of the credit for bringing it out must go to the directors and others who take the responsibilities of leadership to plan, organize and coach. You can not get too much credit for what you do.

Plans made for Education employment seminar

Representatives of business, labor, education and community service will convene at an Education to Employment seminar to be held Tuesday, July 27, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Discussed at the seminar will be three programs projected to have a major impact on Minnesota high school students, businesses and communities. It will be one of 11 such meetings being held throughout the state to encourage participation in the new Youth Apprenticeship, Youth Works and Entrepreneurship programs.

The new programs are geared sharply toward preparing students for the world of work.

Youth apprenticeship will provide students with a vocationally focused curriculum and a paid apprenticeship in one of several technical fields, integrating academic instruction and work-related learning.

Youth Works will demonstrate the connections between youth and community service, community service and education, and education and meaningful opportunities in the business community. Entrepreneurship will help students improve their academic and entrepreneurial skills.

"I am extremely pleased to begin implementation of these important programs," Gov. Arne Carlson said. "Minnesota students and the state as a whole will benefit from programs like these that will enhance students' future employment opportunities. I encourage as many Minnesota students, businesses and communities as possible to participate in these programs."

Gov. Carlson and/or members of the Minnesota Education and Employment Council are tentatively scheduled to address one or more of the seminars.

The sessions are being sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Education, the Minnesota Employment and Education Council, the Minnesota Business Partnership, Educational Cooperative Service Units, community colleges and technical colleges.

In addition to the July 27 opening session in Thief River Falls, seminars will be held at Brainerd, Fergus Falls, Marshall, St. Cloud, the Twin Cities, Rochester, Mankato, Eveleth and Duluth through August 25.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoorsiere

Serve some homemade breads or biscuits with your summer salads.

How about this old favorite – it's easy, too.

Buttermilk Biscuits

2 cups sifted flower
1 tablespoon baking powder
(yes, tablespoon)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon soda
5 tablespoons (3/4 stick) butter or margarine
1 cup buttermilk

In mixing bowl, sift together flower, baking powder, salt and soda. Using pastry blender, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal.

Add buttermilk all at once, stirring until dough clings together.

Knead slightly on lightly floured board. Pat or roll to about 1/2-inch thickness

Cut out biscuits with floured 2-inch round. Place on baking sheet and brush tops with a little buttermilk.

Bake at 450 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes.

(For variation, sprinkle tops of biscuits with 1 cup of shredded chedar cheese after brushing with buttermilk.)

If you haven't tried these, do so. The family will love them.

Popovers

3 large eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted butter

Beat eggs slightly. Add 1/3 cup of the milk and blend in flour and salt.

Add remaining milk and butter, beating only until free of lumps.

Pour into well-greased cupcake tins or custard cups, filling one-half full.

Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes, until golden.

IMPORTANT: 5 minutes before end of baking time, slit or prick popovers 4-5 times with wooden pick, knife or fork to allow steam to escape.

Serve immediately.

Wouldn't these be delicious with one of those veggie salads.

Herb Parmesan Biscuits

2 cups Bisquick
1 tablespoon sesame seed
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup grated Parmesan

Mix together Bisquick, sesame seed, oregano and allspice.

Using pastry blender, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk, stirring with a fork to make a soft dough.

Knead dough about 10 times on surface dusted with Bisquick. Pat or roll out to 1/2 inch thick. Cut with floured 2-inch cutter and place on baking sheet.

Brush tops with egg and then sprinkle each with generous teaspoonful of Parmesan cheese. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes.

Grand Forks man charged with sexual assault

An omnibus hearing has been set August 2 for a man accused of criminal sexual conduct.

Leroy Stromgren, 29, Grand Forks, pled not guilty to third degree criminal sexual conduct in a Ninth District court in Pennington county on July 19. The charge stems from an incident involving a juvenile female. Stromgren was formally charged by the Thief River Falls police department on July 14.

Northwest in best shape for crop production

Northwestern Minnesota is the only portion of the state where topsoil moisture is not considered surplus and traditional crops are doing quite well, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

The cool and wet weather in the small grain producing section in the northern part of the state has been good for development of those crops. Row crops which have been the traditional crops in the areas further south have suffered from too much rain, cloudy skies and cool temperatures.

Over half of the state's spring wheat crop is in excellent condition, for instance, while only one per cent of the corn crop and none of the soybean crop is considered excellent. Many farmers in the south central district reported their corn and soybeans are three to four weeks behind normal and worse than the poor crop of 1991.

Spring wheat heading is about complete at 98 per cent, matching both last year and the average. Heading of oats stands at 96 per cent versus last year's 98 per cent and the average of 99 per cent. Barley heading reached 99 per cent, ahead of last year's 94 per cent and the 98 per cent average.

Only 59 per cent of the corn acreage planted had been cultivated once by July 16, compared with 99 per cent last year and on average. Tasseling was just starting at one per cent, compared to 35 per cent at this time on average and seven per cent during last year's disastrous year.

Corn was rated 18 per cent very poor, 40 per cent poor, 36 per cent fair, five per cent good and one per cent excellent. Height as of July 18 averaged about 26 inches, compared to 54 inches last year and the shortest since 1983 when it averaged 40 inches.

Only 35 per cent of the soybeans had been cultivated once, compared with 99 per cent last year and on average. Height averaged only nine inches, behind last year's 17 inches and the average of 19 inches. Only nine per cent of the crop was blooming, compared with 39 per cent last year and 52 per cent on average.

Soybeans are rated as 17 per cent very poor, 40 per cent poor, 39 per cent fair, four per cent good and zero per cent excellent.

Haying has also been delayed by the wet weather and most farmers have been able to put up very little hay without rain.

As of July 18 sugarbeets were rated four per cent very poor, 18 per cent poor, 35 per cent fair, 35 per cent good and eight per cent excellent.

Gas leak results in potentially explosive situation in TRF

Law enforcement and emergency personnel responded to a report of a gas spill Tuesday night, July 20, in Thief River Falls.

Pennington county sheriff Gerald Moe, said the law enforcement center received a report of oil or gas on the Red Lake river at about 9 p.m. Upon investigation, it was determined that a small amount of gas was flowing from a storm sewer drain into the river. The gas spilling into the river was traced through the storm sewer system to an alley behind the Post Office and ACE Rental. Using equipment to determine the explosive state of the gas in the storm sewer, it was determined that the gas was in "an explosive state", said Sheriff Moe.

The Thief River Falls Fire department flushed the storm sewer and put up a barrier at the storm sewer exit to the river. The barrier consisted of pads and rope used in such clean up activities.

It was determined that approximately 10 gallons of gas had been emptied into the storm sewer from ACE rental. When law enforcement, assisted by employees of Lakehead Pipeline and Northwest Minnesota Utilities, entered the building it was determined that the air in the building was also in an explosive state. A fan designed to be used such situations where a spark might set off a fire or explosion, was brought from the fire department into the building to air it out.

Sheriff Moe said his department was assisted by the Thief River Falls fire department, police department, and employees of Lakehead Pipeline and Northwest Minnesota Utilities. The incident was reported to the Minnesota duty officer who is responsible for notifying the proper state agencies. The city building inspector was also notified.

There were no injuries as a result of the incident.

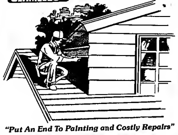
State ends reign of Clearwater College regional system in MN

In making allocations to colleges, the state board approved a recommendation to end the 10-year link between Brainerd, Fergus Falls and Northland Community College in Thief River Falls, which was known as the Clearwater Region.

Jim Haviland, president of Northland Community College, said he was notified of the end of the Clearwater region last Thursday. He said a notice from Chancellor Geraldine Evans and the Minnesota Community College System, explained that the end of the regional governance system will not mean an end to efforts at cooperation. The notice, states that, "Rather, it will free them to share their expertise in new ways, but without the need for the time-consuming and costly travel required of a regional presidents."



The news release goes on to state that, "These three thriving colleges are now empowered to move forward boldly to build new relationships with neighboring colleges and universities, with K-12 systems and with their communities."

Haviland said the change gives Northland Community College the flexibility that it needs, especially in view of the events taking place at Crookston. Haviland also referred to a letter to the editor that had been printed in the Times. Haviland said doing away with the governing structure of the Clearwater region did away with an extra layer of bureaucracy that didn't need to be there.

Opening dates set for '93 high school and college sports

Participants in fall sports activities are reminded to have their eligibility forms and physical examinations (if needed) completed before practice starts. In Thief River Falls, those forms will be available at the office of School District 564 Activities Director Lee Alger beginning Aug. 9.

Minnesota State High School League has set Aug. 16 as the starting date for football, boys and girls cross country, girls tennis, and girls swimming practice. Volleyball gets underway a week later, Aug. 23.

Opening dates for Northland Community College fall sports include an Aug. 27 start for the football team and an Aug. 30 reporting date for volleyball.

Thief River Falls Blue runner Kyle Williams reached the bag with a slide before Crookston II third baseball Aaron Tosh could turn and make the tag during Thursday's opening round game in the 1993 Babe Ruth Prep Lake Agassiz District baseball tournament for 13-year-olds at Northland Community College. The state tournament-qualifying event is scheduled to be completed Sunday. Thief River Falls White, Crookston I, Roseau, East Grand Forks I, East Grand Forks II and Warroad rounded out the eight-team double-elimination field. TRF, Moorhead split doubleheader

■ Match-up of top Ninth District American Legion baseball teams

A first-game Moorhead comeback was thwarted, but the Blues rebounded from a 10-7 eight-inning loss to beat Thief River Falls 3-1 in the second half of the Tuesday night American Legion baseball doubleheader at Matson Field.

Thief River Falls won three out of four regular season games against Moorhead and headed to Detroit Lakes Friday with a 23-5 season record. The split left the Blue 24-14. Post 117 is the defending Ninth District champion; Moorhead is the perennial title threat.

"Moorhead is our biggest challenge," noted Thief River Falls coach Howard Dalager. "Any time you win three of four against Moorhead, you've got to be happy, but I still think they're the favorite."

Thief River Falls saw a 7-3 seventh inning lead disappear in the opener, but answered the Moorhead rally with a three-run eighth for the extra inning win.

"It was a nice game to win," said Dalager. "It would have been a tough one to lose. The kids came through. They did a nice job."

The Blues bottled up the Post 117 attack and capitalized on four Thief River Falls errors for the second game win and the split.

"We just didn't get anything going the second game," said Dalager. "The errors hurt."

Thief River Falls hosts Roseau Monday and will have back-to-back outings against East Grand Forks Thursday (at Irv Wilson Field) and Friday (at Stauss Park). All three are 5:30 p.m. doubleheaders.

Moorhead's first game seventh inning comeback tied the game, but the Blues' lost what would have been the winning run at the plate to end rally, and paid the price in a 10-7 eight-inning loss.

A two-out error opened the doors for the Moorhead seventh inning outburst against Thief River Falls pitcher Rick Ostby, who threw six innings of six-hit baseball.

It was a triple that tied the game, but an overthrow on the play bounced back to third baseman Steve Burslie, who threw a strike to catcher Jason Svir for the inning-ending, game-extending out.

Marc Haugen, Dave Blazek and Svir opened the eighth with consecutive singles to break the tie. Burslie drew a bases-loaded walk and Jason Olson picked up an RBI on a fielder's choice for the 10-7 final.

Three walks and two errors started the Thief River Falls scoring in a three-run second inning, which included bases-loaded walks for Jeremy Olson and Joby Looker.

Moorhead gained a 3-3 tie only to see four more walks lead to a 7-3 Thief River Falls edge in the fifth when Carter Rogalla had a two-run triple and both Robert Nelson and Olson had RBI singles.

Rogalla wound up with two hits – the only Thief River Falls batter with multiple hits.

Ostby got the win, striking out four and walking two. He had retired 10 straight Moorhead batters before the seventh inning outburst by the Blues. Haugen worked the eighth for a save.

Brian Minks turned in a solid game on the mound, but Thief River Falls had almost as many errors (4) as hits (5) in the 3-1 Moorhead nightcap win.

Three of the Thief River Falls hits came in the second inning when singles by Carter Rogalla, Rick Ostby and Steve Burslie produced an early 1-0 lead.

Minks gave up six hits while striking out three and walking one. Three singles and two Thief River Falls errors resulted in a three-run Moorhead fifth inning.

Pizza Hut also beat Goodridge Jaycees/Creative Clippers 16-0 as Wikstrom and Kelly Cornell picked up three hits in four at-bats, while Tammy Swick, Darla LeMoine and Carlson were all 2-for-3.

B&E Car Wash/Terry's Service stretched its season-long winning streak to 21 games with a 14-11 decision against shorthanded Ridgerunners/Best Western Inn to start the night before losing to Pizza Hut.

Ridgerunners/Best Western Inn bounced back to beat Goodridge Jaycees/Best Western Inn 5-1 as Michelle Erickson went 3-for-3 and Andi Nelson, Diane Klemetson and Shannon Olson were all 2-for-3.

Thief River Falls went to 10-14 for the year and 7-7 against district competition Monday with a double-header split against Fergus Falls – a 9-3 first-game loss and a 5-3 second-game win.

Fergus Falls overcame a 3-2 deficit with three-run innings in the sixth and seventh to win the opener. Jason Hruby was 2-for-3 at the plate for a Thief River Falls team that was out-hit 10-4.

Thief River Falls starting pitcher Eric Bjorgaard went six innings and took the loss, giving up eight hits while walking three and striking out nine. Hruby pitched the seventh.

Nick Chiodo drove in the tying and winning runs as Thief River Falls scored three times in the bottom of the sixth for a 5-3 victory in the nightcap.

Chris Vanyo had a complete-game pitching effort for the win, surrendering six hits while striking out three. He gave up just one earned run and did not walk a batter.

The meet is geared toward the novice swimmers, with the idea of introducing them to the competitive nature of the sport, explained Lokken.

It was the fourth meet of the summer for members of the Thief River Falls USS team. A handful of team members will compete in the North Dakota state meet (Thief River Falls is part of the North Dakota USS zone) July 30-August 1.

Pea production holds high hopes

Southern Minnesota ground has led to numerous soil-borne diseases and lower yields.

A good growing year is something Stordahl doesn't want. He wants a bad growing year to learn how bad a bad year would be for pea growing in Northwest Minnesota. The growers might have to wait one more year and hope for adverse conditions before producing peas on a mass scale, Stordahl said.

This season's first harvest of 20,000 pounds of peas was brought to Waseca layered with 1,300 pounds of ice in a live-bottom (a conveyor belt runs along the bottom) truck to cool the peas. The second harvest was brought to Waseca layered with ice in a beet truck. Each pound of ice drops one ton of peas one degree. Birds Eye officials told Stordahl they were pleased with the quality of the peas.

If peas are grown on a mass scale and hauled without freezing them, Stordahl said, ten semi loads a day would need to leave Northwest Minnesota during harvest season, headed for Waseca.

Birds Eye has expressed strong interest in purchasing more peas, Stordahl said, if NMPP decides to grow peas on a mass scale next year.

A pea combine is used to harvest the peas. The harvester swaths the pea plants and the pea pods move into a 12 feet long, six feet diameter wire mesh drum with one-half inch square openings. The vines move out the back end of the harvester. The drum rotates, with a paddle inside which spins faster than the drum, breaking the peas from the pods. The peas fall onto a conveyor belt which carries the peas to a hopper. Each pea harvester costs around $350,000.

The Pea Producers are studying the possibility of other crops which could be grown and frozen, including green beans, broccoli, cauliflower and carrots.

Different vegetables were tried in 1989 under Headwaters Produce (which grew into NMPP). Headwaters Produce grew broccoli, cauliflower and celery. The first year didn't work because of "problems with labor," said Larry Roed, a founder of Headwaters Produce and NMPP secretary/treasurer. They began to look at other crops which could be mechanically harvested, such as peas, green beans and spinach.

To build and measure interest in vegetable growing, Headwaters Produce hosted a meeting in Detroit Lakes for vegetable industry leaders and growers.

Birds Eye expressed interest in vegetable growing in Northern Minnesota and area farmers formed NMPP to grow the peas.

NMPP is growing four acres of carrots beside one of their pea fields. "Carrots might have larger potential than we realize at this time," Stordahl said. Processors currently depend heavily on the West Coast for carrot production, and they may favor a closer location for growing.

"There's probably no other place in the world that you can grow carrots (better) than on this ground," said Stordahl pointing to the rich, peat soil.

Northern Minnesota Pea Producers, a group of Northwest Minnesota farmers, is testing the feasibility of producing peas on a mass scale in Northwest Minnesota. This 10 acre field of peas is located near Clearbrook. NMPP is growing three other 10 acre plots and a series of smaller plots. The peas will be harvested and sent to Birds Eye Inc., in Waseca.

AURI evaluating ways to produce alternative crops transfer the technology to producers.

The last of the three categories includes crops with regional markets that could replace produce shipped in from California or other states and countries. Sold at farmers markets, supermarkets or to wholesale suppliers, these crops could strengthen the regional economy:

- Green peppers
- Melons
- Cucumbers
- Squash

"These lists are by no means complete," McVey said. "They are only a sampling of what could be part of agriculture's future in Minnesota. The majority of these crops, especially those in the first category, have high growth and profit potential and require intensive management. Minnesota's climate well suits many of these crops. With others, we have to work with the environment to ensure proper production."

Cpl. Johnson in marines at Cherry Point

Marine Lance Cpl. Ira Johnson, son of Lawrence and Alberta Johnson of rural Thief River Falls, recently reported for duty with Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron 28, 2nd Marine Air Wing, Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, NC.

A 1991 graduate of Lincoln high school, he joined the marine corps in July of that year.

Froiland attends math institute

Reid Froiland of Franklin Middle School was recently selected to attend the fourth annual Summer Mathematics Institute (SMI), a three-week residential educational program for talented math students. The Institute was held at Macalester College from June 13 through July 2. SMI is sponsored by Unisys Corporation, the Minnesota State High School Mathematics League, and the National Science Foundation, which in 1992 provided a two-year Young Scholars grant.

SMI was developed for students who demonstrate a high academic aptitude and a special ability and interest in mathematics. The program is an enrichment experience for both the students and the teachers. Because the goal of the program is to expand the students' mathematical knowledge and experience, the topics covered are those not traditionally included in a high school curricula.

The 1993 SMI consisted of 54 boys and girls, 39 first year and 15 returning students, all of whom possess exceptional intellectual ability and commitment to scholarship and are well-prepared in theoretical and analytical approaches to problem solving.

Students used calculators and computers as part of the program, and engaged in small group instruction, independent study, tutorial sessions and library reading. Unisys Corporation, as part of SMI's business component, invited the students to a presentation at its Roseville, MN, facility to demonstrate the practical applications of mathematics in a work environment. In addition, Unisys hosted a Career/Skill Awareness Night to expose the students to business math applications and to provide the students with information on various math and non-math business careers. Employees from Unisys acted as mentors in small group discussions.

The SMI staff includes math educators who have experience working with gifted students. Led by Institute director Kay Shager, North St. Paul high school, the faculty includes Bill Boulger, St. Paul Academy; Ron Schulte, Wayzata high school; Roger Sadlowsky, Columbia Heights high school; and Jack Sorteberg, Burnsville high school. All hold master's degrees in the fields of math education, educator or mathematics.

Bergerson to leave Roseau library post

Ellen Bergerson, librarian at the Roseau public library for five years, has submitted her resignation to the Northwest Regional Library in Thief River Falls. She will be joining her husband Ellsworth in Des Moines, IA, where he is presently employed.

An open house in her honor will be held from 3 to 7 p.m. Thursday, July 29, at the library. The regional library has advertised for applicants for the position. Bergerson will remain on duty until August 14 to train her successor and a new substitute.

Guy Doud

Doud brings crusade to Newfolden

The Guy Doud/Roy Hope Crusade will be held July 31 and August 1 in the Newfolden High School Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

The crusade is sponsored by the Newfolden area churches and there is a crusade choir each evening.

Guy Doud, as a high school language arts teacher in Brainerd, received the National Teacher of the Year award in 1986. He was chosen from more than two and one-half million teachers.

The movie, "Molder of Dreams," starred Doud and was chosen as the Best Christian Film of the Year and the Best Documentary Film of the Year in 1990.

Doud has published several books, including "Molder of Dreams," which made it in the top ten on the Christian Best Seller list, and the recently released "Joy in the Journey."

Roy Hope will be the Crusade soloist. His recordings and singing ministry includes a blend of hymns and contemporary gospel songs with a country western influence.

Since 1971 Hope has performed over 200 concerts a year throughout the United States and Canada.

Karen Hope will solo at youth night on Saturday.

The public is invited to attend.

Public comment sought on intent to limit shell size

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service announced recently that it is seeking public comment on a notice of intent to propose limits on the length of shotgun shells, the size of shot, and the coatings on non-toxic shot used in waterfowl hunting. The Service said its notice is based on concerns that existing waterfowl hunting regulations have become outdated in the face of advancing technology.

In a three-part notice published in the June 30, 1993, Federal Register, the Service announced its intent to limit the length of shotgun shells to 3.5 inches, the largest currently available on the market. By limiting the length of shells, the Service expects to discourage long-range shooting that can lead to crippling and, in effect, over harvest of birds.

In addition, the Service proposes to limit the diameter of shot size to no larger than a No. T (0.20 inch). The proposed regulation is intended to reduce crippling losses by limiting shot sizes to those that have been demonstrated to be the most efficient for harvesting large waterfowl.

Under the notice, the hunting community and others would be given time to deplete their supplies of size No. F shot (0.22 inches), which is larger than T shot.

The Service also proposes to require shotgun shell manufacturers to obtain the Service's approval for anti-corrosive coatings on non-toxic shot pellets. Although non-toxic shot is currently required to hunt waterfowl and coots in the United States, there are currently no standards that control the coating applied to the shot pellets, which could be toxic. Waterfowl often swallow spent shot as grit, and this regulation would attempt to ensure that shot coatings would be non-toxic when ingested.

Public comments will be considered for 90 days after publication in the Federal Register. Additional information on this proposal can be obtained by writing: Director/MBMD, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 4401 N. Fairfax Drive, Mail Stop 634, Arlington, Virginia 22203 or by calling (703) 358-1714.

Committee forms to address domestic violence and abuse

Judge Russell A. Anderson, Chief Judge of the Ninth Judicial District, has formed a committee of area judges and other professionals to develop an action plan to reduce domestic violence in the 17 counties of the Ninth Judicial District.

Anderson's initiative is part of a statewide effort to enhance the responsiveness of the entire legal system to the issues of domestic abuse. Similar coordinating committees have been formed in Hennepin, Ramsey, Dakota and St. Louis counties. Anderson's committee is the first cross-county group of interdisciplinary professionals to start the planning process. The Minnesota Supreme Court has recently conducted a focus group to determine the need for a statewide conference to share information and effective approaches to reducing family violence.

"Family violence is a serious and growing problem that requires a coordinated and comprehensive approach on the part of all aspects of the community," said Anderson. "If we are to be successful in reducing domestic abuse, every element of the criminal justice system and the community must work together to root out this problem."

Anderson said the goal of the committee is to marshal community resources in a district-wide and ongoing prevention initiative. The counties in the Ninth District are: Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Koochiching, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater, Norman, Mahnomen, Hubbard, Itasca, Cass, Crow Wing and Aitkin.

Members of the committee include: Judge Paul Rasmussen of Clearwater county, Judge John Hawkinson of Itasca county, Judge Jay Mondry of Hubbard county, Ms. Desiree' Varner, director of Violence Intervention Project, Ms. Louise Seliski, director of Women's Center of Mid-Minnesota, Ms. Renae Whitbeck, LSW, Koochiching county social services, Judge James Wilson of Roseau, Judge Fred Casey of Crow Wing county, William Scanlon, Polk county court administrator, Ms. Beverly Warrent, director for Northwoods Coalition for Battered Women, and Susan Rantala, Esq. Assistant Norman county attorney.

Anderson cited the following statistics that illustrate the extent of the problem in Minnesota: An estimated 25 per cent to 37 per cent of all women experience battering — an estimated 382,000 to 566,000 women; the Minnesota department of corrections estimates at least 132,000 domestic assaults occur annually, based on police reports.

Anderson pointed out that the effects of family violence are pervasive throughout society and are carried from one generation to the nest. He said the national Attorney General's Task Force on Family Violence in Washington, DC, in 1984, reported:

"Violence in the home strikes at the heart of society. Children who are abused or who live in homes where parents are battered carry the terrible lessons of violence with them in adulthood. . . To tolerate family violence is to allow the seeds of violence to be sown into the next generation."

The committee expects to put a district-wide system in place to help law enforcement, the court system and social service agencies coordinate their efforts to deal more effectively with family violence.

Seamless Aluminum Guttering
Heating, Air Conditioning
378-4641 378-4585

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew - saving an labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Mud Run is off

Karlstad — The Karlstad Lions have postponed their annual Mud Run originally scheduled for August 1. Danny Johnson, coordinator of the event, said this week that the recent heavy rains have flooded the area around the Karlstad Municipal airport normally used for spectator parking and seating. The pit area has also suffered from too much water, making the mud a little too soupy for competition. The event may be rescheduled for September. (North Star News)

Globe highlights world's rivers

Itasca — "As the World Turns" is a new permanent, touch-and-learn sculpture that will soon sit in the open foyer of the Interpretive center at Itasca state park. Wanting something unique and long-lasting to give to the park, something to show the significance of the Mississippi river and other rivers of the world, the Itasca state park centennial wagon train association commissioned the sculpture. The six-foot-high bronze globe shows all the continents with four major rivers highlighted; the Mississippi, the Amazon, the Nile and the Yangtze. (Bemidji Pioneer)

But, did he turn into a Prince?

East Grand Forks — Some folks kiss with their eyes closed, some open and some even stick out their tongues! That's the way things went at a recent Saturday's frog kissing contest in River's Edge park in East Grand Forks. Child after child lined up to pucker up, making the annual Catfish Days event a hopping success. Tami Partlow didn't end up with a handsome prince when she kissed her frog, but she did get a new mountain bike for winning first place. Her comment: "I did not like that at all; it tasted gross!" (Exponent)

Mary and Tut Marvin (far right) cut the ribbon during the dedication of The Gardens last Friday. Master of Ceremonies Conway Marvin stands to their right. The new arena features eight locker rooms, 1,454 permanent seats and a 100 x 200 feet ice sheet.

St. Hilaire to host All Nations Cultural Fest

Music and dance groups from several nations will be featured when the first All Nations Cultural Festival is held Friday through Sunday, August 20-22, at Island Park in St. Hilaire—the site of a number of music concerts in the past three years.

Two years ago the St. Hilaire Community Club built a stage suitable for professional performances in the park and installed electrical service to handle most professional sound and lighting systems. In response to a search for something more diversified than a music concert, Ed Leeper of L.G. Promotions and Island Promotions in Thief River Falls agreed to work on the idea.

"It was first suggested that they would like to have a Norwegian or German festival in St. Hilaire," Leeper said. "With the wide diversity of ethnic backgrounds in the people of our area, I wondered why we shouldn't try to get everyone involved, including making it a family event so everyone of all ages can take part."

After months of making phone calls, Leeper said, things began to fall in place. Contacts were made overseas as well as the local area to schedule performers. Participation grew to the point where Leeper says that now "the only thing we have room for at this point are a few more ethnic food demonstrators and people who want to offer crafts."

The three groups which will perform daily are from different countries. Unlike the concert performers who are booked into motels, these groups come to America for a cultural exchange and will stay with host families while here.

"I was really surprised at the number of people who called and offered to provide host homes," Leeper said. "In fact, we had more host home offers than we had visitors to stay in them.

> "With the diversity of ethnic backgrounds in the people of our area, I wondered why we shouldn't try to get everyone involved."
> — Ed Leeper

"I believe our region will allow our performing guests to see the real America, and find that it is much different from the images they may have from television and/or the movies. It will no doubt create many lasting friendships between host families and guests."

The German group "Steinbach-Musikanten" ranges in age from 23 to 30 and includes members who come from the Black Forest to the Swiss border, to Schaffousen to Basel in the midst of the beautiful sunny foothills of the Alps. The group will perform a variety of folk music, popular standards and instrumental hits.

From the rugged mountains of the picturesque Telemark area of Norway hails the group "Nygamle Tider," which will be on its ninth tour of the United States and Canada. The group's motto is "Dans deg glad" (dance yourself happy) and Leeper says there will be a dance floor to do just that.

The Fialka Ukrainian Dance Ensemble from Selkirk, Manitoba, is a 20-member group ranging in age from 11 to 19. The dancers will perform with a different ethnic dress relating to the type of dance and region of the Ukraine where it originated. Two of the colorful regions that their performance will relate to are "Bukovnya" and "Poltava."

A cultural exchange is not complete without sharing our side and its heritage," Leeper added.

The "Coon & Crockett" club of the Grand Forks area will set up

Interest high for senior housing projects in TRF

Housing important to community

Over 50 people attended a meeting on senior citizen housing in Thief River Falls on Tuesday.

Don Stewart, community development director in Thief River Falls, said the purpose of the meeting was to provide preliminary information on current senior citizen housing projects, and more importantly, to gather information pertaining to interest in non-subsidized retirement housing.

Need is not an issue, said Stewart. The need for housing was established when a study was completed last year. That study revealed a need for 50 congregate apartments, 20-25 senior subsidized units, and 60 to 80 market rate rental apartments, townhouses and/or manor homes.

The city's involvement in any development project involving non-subsidized housing would probably be minimal, said Stewart. But there are ulterior motives for city involvement. Stewart explained that such a project might open the housing market for middle management employees in the community who are looking for homes. In addition, Thief River Falls cannot afford to have people move to other communities because they cannot find the type of senior housing they need in the community.

Thief River Falls is not alone in its pursuit of housing projects for seniors, especially non-subsidized senior housing. Stewart said many communities are targeting senior citizens as the next community development asset.

Norm Triebwasser of Triebwasser, Helenske and Associates Ltd. was the main presenter at the meeting Tuesday. Stewart said Triebwasser is currently involved in at least two senior housing projects in the community. He also owns or has participated in many senior housing projects. Stewart said Triebwasser provided information about different types of elderly retirement facilities. Alternatives include rental market rate apartments, rental assisted congregate housing, condo ownership, rental with rental assistance, and all the different services that each can provide.

In view of the many different types of non-subsidized senior housing, Stewart distributed a questionnaire to those in attendance. The questionnaire, which is designed to determine housing interest, asks such questions as what type of senior housing alternative people are interested in, what they are willing to pay, size of unity they would be looking for, the height of the building, type of ser-

Searchers locate body of man after canoe accident

The body of a canoeist who has been missing since July 26 has been found.

According to the Red Lake County Sheriff's department, the body of 42-year-old Delbert Schultz of Red Lake Falls, was located about two miles west of Red Lake Falls on the Red Lake river.

A spokesperson for the sheriff's department said that during the investigation of the accident they learned that two people, not one, were in the canoe at the time. Apparently they decided to ride through the rapids on the Clearwater river after dropping off some equipment at the old swimming beach in Red Lake Falls. The canoe tipped over in the rapids and one of the men, identified later as Louis Schultz was able to grab onto the canoe. Delbert Schultz was last seen attempting to swim to shore. Search and rescue efforts have been underway since the accident. On Thursday, July 29, rescue teams using two boats and a Civil Air Patrol plane began searching the river at 9:30 a.m. At 11:45 a.m. the body was recovered.

Assisting in the search was the Dive and Rescue team from Pennington county and the Civil Air Patrol from Walker and Thief River Falls.

According to Dick Sjoberg of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) chapter in Thief River Falls, a plane from the Walker chapter of the CAP and several personnel from the chapter in Thief River Falls, including

Livestock exchange to open near Bagley

Facilities offer over 300 cement and steel pens for 3,000 livestock

by Mark Olson
Staff Writer

The new Bagley Livestock Exchange auction market being built six miles west of Bagley promises to use the latest technology.

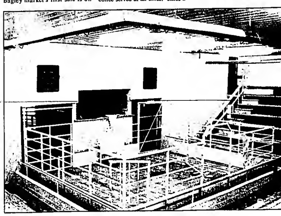
Cows wearing pagers? Not quite, but Joe Varner, who owns the business with his wife Diane Varner, said the market will feature state-of-the-art equipment such as automatic ring scale weights.

Varner also owns Rich Prairie Livestock Exchange in Pierz, a town 30 miles south of Brainerd. Varner splits his time between the two markets, driving back and forth. Billy Bushelle of Trail manages the Bagley market full time.

Construction work is nearly completed on the exchange. Half a dozen workers are scattered throughout nearly 350 pens, welding together thousands of yards of steel pipes.

When completed, 2,500 to 3,000 livestock will wind their way through the shoots to their respective pens. Giving a tour, Varner opened a gate. He gave it a swing and the gate returned home with a click. "Automatic locks," Varner said with a smile.

Big bulls have individual pens and there are special facilities for a veterinarian.



The outdoor pens hold hundreds of gates with hundreds of automatic locks. The ground is coarse cement, all sloped north to rid itself of rainwater and lined with thousands of small trenches to prevent hooves from slipping. It took construction crews one month to pour cement.

The 40-person construction crew has been bucking the rain all summer since ground-breaking in April. They began building May 7. The Bagley market's first sale is on Thursday, August 19 at 11 a.m.

The auction market complex includes the Farmer's Cafe "offering a comfortable, country-style atmosphere...with complimentary coffee served at all times," states a news release. The cafe is connected to the sale arena.

The cafe will be open during auction days, which will be every Thursday beginning at 11 a.m. On

The sale arena of the Bagley Livestock Exchange holds 400 people. The ring scale relays the livestock's weight to the two scoreboards above the ring.

Mud Run is off

Karlstad — The Karlstad Lions have postponed their annual Mud Run originally scheduled for August 1. Danny Johnson, coordinator of the event, said this week that the recent heavy rains have flooded the area around the Karlstad Municipal airport normally used for spectator parking and seating. The pit area has also suffered from too much water, making the mud a little too soupy for competition. The event may be re-scheduled for September. (North Star News)

Globe highlights world's rivers

Itasca — "As the World Turns" is a new permanent, touch-and-learn sculpture that will soon sit in the open foyer of the Interpretive center at Itasca state park. Wanting something unique and long-lasting to give to the park, something to show the significance of the Mississippi river and other rivers of the world, the Itasca state park centennial wagon train association commissioned the sculpture. The six-foot-high bronze globe shows all the continents with four major rivers highlighted; the Mississippi, the Amazon, the Nile and the Yangtze. (Bemidji Pioneer)

But, did he turn into a Prince?

East Grand Forks — Some folks kiss with their eyes closed, some open and some even stick out their tongues! That's the way things went at a recent Saturday's frog kissing contest in River's Edge park in East Grand Forks. Child after child lined up to pucker up, making the annual Catfish Days event a hopping success. Tami Partlow didn't end up with a handsome prince when she kissed her frog, but she did get a new mountain bike for winning first place. Her comment: "I did not like that at all; it tasted gross!" (Exponent)

Mary and Tut Marvin (far right) cut the ribbon during the dedication of The Gardens last Friday. Master of Ceremonies Conway Marvin stands to their right. The new arena features eight locker rooms, 1,454 permanent seats and a 100 x 200 feet ice sheet.

St. Hilaire to host All Nations Cultural Fest

Music and dance groups from several nations will be featured when the first All Nations Cultural Festival is held Friday through Sunday, August 20-22, at Island Park in St. Hilaire—the site of a number of music concerts in the past three years.

Two years ago the St. Hilaire Community Club built a stage suitable for professional performances in the park and installed electrical service to handle most professional sound and lighting systems. In response to a search for something more diversified than a music concert, Ed Leeper of L.G. Promotions and Island Promotions in Thief River Falls agreed to work on the idea.

"It was first suggested that they would like to have a Norwegian or German festival in St. Hilaire," Leeper said. "With the wide diversity of ethnic backgrounds in the people of our area, I wondered why we shouldn't try to get everyone involved, including making it a family event so everyone of all ages can take part."

After months of making phone calls, Leeper said, things began to fall in place. Contacts were made overseas as well as the local area to schedule performers. Participation grew to the point where Leeper says that now "the only thing we have room for at this point are a few more ethnic food demonstrators and people who want to offer crafts."

The three groups which will perform daily are from different countries. Unlike the concert performers who are booked into motels, these groups come to America for a cultural exchange and will stay with host families while here.

> "With the diversity of ethnic backgrounds in the people of our area, I wondered why we shouldn't try to get everyone involved."
> — Ed Leeper

"I was really surprised at the number of people who called and offered to provide host homes," Leeper said. "In fact, we had more host home offers than we had visitors to stay in them.

"I believe our region will allow our performing guests to see the real America, and find that it is much different from the images they may have from television and/or the movies. It will no doubt create many lasting friendships between host families and guests."

The German group "Steinbach-Musikanten" ranges in age from 23 to 30 and includes members who come from the Black Forest to the Swiss border, to Schaffausen to Basel in the midst of the beautiful sunny foothills of the Alps. The group will perform a variety of folk music, popular standards and instrumental hits.

From the rugged mountains of the picturesque Telemark area of Norway hails the group "Nygamle Tider," which will be on its ninth tour of the United States and Canada. The group's motto is "Dans deg glad" (dance yourself happy) and Leeper says there will be a dance floor to do just that.

The Fialka Ukrainian Dance Ensemble from Selkirk, Manitoba, is a 20-member group ranging in age from 11 to 19. The dancers will perform with a different ethnic dress relating to the type of dance and region of the Ukraine where it originated. Two of the colorful regions that their performance will relate to are "Bukovnya" and "Poltava."

"A cultural exchange is not complete without sharing our side and its heritage," Leeper added.

The "Coon & Crocken" club of the Grand Forks area will set up

Interest high for senior housing projects in TRF

Housing important to community

Over 50 people attended a meeting on senior citizen housing in Thief River Falls on Tuesday.

Don Stewart, community development director in Thief River Falls, said the purpose of the meeting was to provide preliminary information on current senior citizen housing projects, and more importantly, to gather information pertaining to interest in non-subsidized retirement housing.

Need is not an issue, said Stewart. The need for housing was established when a study was completed last year. That study revealed a need for 50 congregate apartments, 20-25 senior subsidized units, and 60 to 80 market rate rental apartments, townhouses and/or manor homes.

The city's involvement in any development project involving non-subsidized housing would probably be minimal, said Stewart. But there are ulterior motives for city involvement. Stewart explained that such a project might open the housing market for middle management employees in the community who are looking for homes. In addition, Thief River Falls cannot afford to have people move to other communities because they cannot find the type of senior housing they need in the community.

Thief River Falls is not alone in its pursuit of housing projects for seniors, especially non-subsidized senior housing. Stewart said many communities are targeting senior citizens as the next community development asset.

Norm Triebwasser of Triebwasser, Helenske and Associates Ltd. was the main presenter at the meeting Tuesday. Stewart said Triebwasser is currently involved in at least two senior housing projects in the community. He also owns or has participated in many senior housing projects. Stewart said Triebwasser provided information about different types of elderly retirement facilities. Alternatives include rental market rate apartments, rental assisted congregate housing, condo ownership, rental with rental assistance, and all the different services that each can provide.

In view of the many different types of non-subsidized senior housing, Stewart distributed a questionnaire to those in attendance. The questionnaire, which is designed to determine housing interest, asks such questions as what type of senior housing alternative people are interested in, what they are willing to pay, size of unity they would be looking for, the height of the building, type of ser-

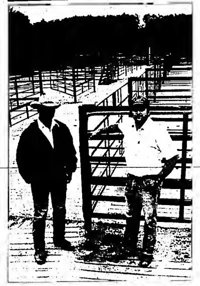
Searchers locate body of man after canoe accident

The body of a canoeist who has been missing since July 26 has been found.



According to the Red Lake County Sheriff's department, the body of 42-year-old Delbert Schultz of Red Lake Falls, was located about two miles west of Red Lake Falls on the Red Lake river.

A spokesperson for the sheriff's department said that during the investigation of the accident they learned that two people, not one, were in the canoe at the time. Apparently they decided to ride through the rapids on the Clearwater river after dropping off some equipment at the old swimming beach in Red Lake Falls. The canoe tipped over in the rapids and one of the men, identified later as Louis Schultz was able to grab onto the canoe. Delbert Schultz was last seen attempting to swim to shore. Search and rescue efforts have been underway since the accident. On Thursday, July 29, rescue teams using two boats and a Civil Air Patrol plane began searching the river at 9:30 a.m. At 11:45 a.m. the body was recovered.

Assisting in the search was the Dive and Rescue team from Pennington county and the Civil Air Patrol from Walker and Thief River Falls.

According to Dick Sjoberg of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) chapter in Thief River Falls, a plane from the Walker chapter of the CAP and several personnel from the chapter in Thief River Falls, including

Livestock exchange to open near Bagley

by Mark Olsoo
Staff Writer

The new Bagley Livestock Exchange auction market being built six miles west of Bagley promises to use the latest technology.

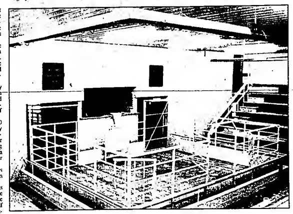
Cows wearing pagers? Not quite, but Joe Varner, who owns the business with his wife Diane Varner, said the market will feature state-of-the-art equipment such as automatic ring scale weights.

Varner also owns Rich Prairie Livestock Exchange in Pierz, a town 30 miles south of Brainerd. Varner splits his time between the two markets, driving back and forth. Billy Bushelle of Trail manages the Bagley market full time.

Construction work is nearly completed on the exchange. Half a dozen workers are scattered throughout nearly 350 pens, welding together thousands of yards of steel pipes.

When completed, 2,500 to 3,000 livestock will wind their way through the shoots to their respective pens. Giving a tour, Varner opened a gate. He gave it a swing and the gate returned home with a click. "Automatic locks," Varner said with a smile.

Big bulls have individual pens and there are special facilities for a veterinarian.



The outdoor pens hold hundreds of gates with hundreds of automatic locks. The ground is coarse cement, all sloped north to rid itself of rainwater and lined with thousands of small trenches to prevent hooves from slipping. It took construction crews one month to pour cement.

The 40-person construction crew has been bucking the rain all summer since ground-breaking in April. They began building May 7. The Bagley market's first sale is on Thursday, August 19 at 11 a.m.

The auction market complex includes the Farmer's Cafe "offering a comfortable, country-style atmosphere...with complimentary coffee served at all times," states a news release. The cafe is connected to the sale arena.

The cafe will be open during auction days, which will be every Thursday beginning at 11 a.m. On

The sale arena of the Bagley Livestock Exchange holds 400 people. The ring scale relays the livestock's weight to the two scoreboards above the ring.

Old-fashioned ice cream social planned

McIntosh — The Patriot Promoters are inviting the public to an old-fashioned ice cream social on the lawn of the McIntosh school August 1 from 2 to 5 p.m. Ice cream, cookies, bars, lemonade and coffee will be served while sack races, egg on a spoon and wheelbarrow races are taking place. The McIntosh Kitchen band will also perform. If remodeling permits, tours will be available to see the new band and choir room and ITV studio in the school. (Erskine Echo)

Kelliher seeks ideas for school forest use

Kelliher — The Kelliher school district is gearing up to find new uses for its "school forest," an 80-acre tract located about 12 miles north of Kelliher and used until now mostly for timber revenue. A school forest is supposed to serve as a classroom in the woods, but the Kelliher land has been underused since it was established in 1956. The area used to be a CCC camp and an airport was located there at one time. Comments can be sent to Jerry Stensing, Beltrami SWCD, 3217 Bemidji Ave. N., Bemidji, MN 56601. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Rev. Tillberry and his wife, Lora Jean, have four adult children. (Leader-Record)

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.

Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two-man crew, saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today we'll make some breakfast goodies. Nice recipes to have on hand for vacationing friends and relatives.

These are light, fluffy pancakes, something like an omelet:

FLUFFY COTTAGE CHEESE PANCAKES

3 egg yolks
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1/3 cup milk
1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add cottage cheese and beat until almost smooth.

Blend in milk, flour and salt.

Beat egg whites until peaks fold over. Fold into batter. Let batter stand 5 minutes.

Using 1/4 cup measure, pour batter onto buttered griddle. Bake until top is bubbly and edges are baked, then turn and bake other side.

Serve immediately. Good with butter and jelly.

RICE CAKES

3 cups milk
2 Minute Rice, uncooked
1 tablespoon honey
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 eggs, slightly beaten
Butter
Fruit (Strawberries, yum)

In saucepan, combine milk, rice, honey and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until all milk is absorbed and mixture thickens. Cool slightly.

Add eggs and blend thoroughly.

For each cake, spoon about 1/4 cup of mixture onto lightly buttered griddle. Bake until brown on both sides.

Here is another breakfast favorite—Just a little different from the usual:

PUFFY FRENCH TOAST

1 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup milk
About 8 slices bread

Mix dry ingredients. Blend milk and egg. Add to flour mixture and beat smooth.

Dip bread in mixture, turning to coat evenly. Fry in 1/2 inch preheated oil until browned on both sides.

Top your fancy French toast or ordinary breakfast hot cakes with this:

HONEY BUTTER

1/2 cup butter, softened
1/4 cup powdered sugar
1/4 cup honey
1/2 to 1 teaspoon flavoring (such as peach, orange, rum, vanilla)

Whip together with mixer.

Sales were brisk on the opening day of the Crazy Days sale in Thief River Falls. Crazy Days is Thursday, Friday and Saturday throughout Thief River Falls.

WE GLADLY ACCEPT

To the Editor,

I would like to compliment and thank all fairgoers on their cheerfulness and understanding when parking their cars in the wet parking lots while attending the Pennington County Fair this year. Needless to say, the fair board and Boy Scouts did not order the rain.

The general public was very cooperative, parked in straight lines and listened to our flag men. Our chalked lines were washed away several times and much of our planned parking was under water or impossible to get to. On a more positive note, we didn't receive a single complaint about "dust in the parking lot." In the past 12 years that Boy Scout Troop 199 has been parking cars at the fair, this has been the worst year, as far as rain and wet parking conditions.

I am suggesting a meeting with the Fair Board, County Board, City Council, School District, County and City Engineer, and the City Park and Recreation department to all work together to improve the large event parking situation around the fairgrounds and civic center. Should it continue to rain, or rain during Labor Day Weekend and on the Thief River Falls Stampede Rodeo, there could be major parking problems and consumer dissatisfaction. It could also cause damage the established turf.

Troop 199 Boy Scouts, parents, and friends would like to thank the general public for their understanding and cooperation during the fair. Troop 199 receives a donation from the Fair board for its efforts and services. The remaining revenue from parking is used by the Fair Association to help off-set operating expenses such as occurs in providing the free Band Shell entertainment, and general maintenance. The Boy Scouts use their contribution toward the purchase of troop equipment, troop operation, and partial payment toward a week-long summer camp. "A Scout is thrifty and helps earn his own way."

Again, we thank you for your support, cooperation and understanding.

Sincerely,
Art Heinze, Scoutmaster
Troop 199 Boy Scouts
St. John's Lutheran Church

To The Editor:

I am writing to you about my experience at the July 24 Tanya Tucker concert (7 p.m. show). I was totally appalled at how the audience treated her. Through the entire show the audience was in their seats! Tanya Tucker worked so hard at getting a response from her audience and received nothing. If people feel the need to go to a concert and sit quietly and watch, they should be home in their living rooms watching COUNTRY MUSIC TELEVISION.

I was seated about five rows from the stage; myself and two others. We were there to enjoy the show, so between songs we three would stand and cheer (although we were the only people to do so). We refrained from dancing while she was actually singing because the entire audience was sitting down. On several occasions I was cursed at and told to shut up and sit down. (SHUT UP AND SIT DOWN AT A CONCERT???!!)

There was a time at the end of the show when Tanya Tucker asked that the audience sing with her and the spot lights were then put on the audience, which meant she was looking for a response. We were the only three people in the entire audience to stand up and sing when she requested. She looked at the three of us and gave an enthusiastic thumbs up and kept the microphone out for us to keep singing.

In my experience at concerts, the performers thrive on their audiences' responses. It is their only way of knowing if you are enjoying yourself. If you sit there as if you are in a movie theater it must be rather frustrating for the performer. If Tanya Tucker never played here again, I for one certainly couldn't blame her.

Sincerely,
Jill Fremling

It's Not Just Taxes, Bill—It's About Personal Freedom

S. A. Spencer, principal investor of Holding Capital Group which he founded in 1975, is less than enchanted with President Bill Clinton's approach to taxes and business and he says so in a recent column...presented in the form of a memo to the President.

"Dear Bill:" he writes. "I am intensely patriotic and the quintessential small entrepreneur. My group has made hundreds of investments and created thousands of jobs. We work ungodly hours to pay—several dozen times over—the average taxes of our fellow citizens.

"A friend writes: 'Yesterday, Robert Reich said on national TV that people who earn over $200,000 per year make out like bandits. I am a 74-year-old bandit who worked 4,000 hours last year helping companies get competitive. My crime: I paid $197,340.50 in federal income taxes. Had your policies been in effect I'd have long since sat on my butt collecting Social Security.'

"Even a numbskull manager in industry, Bill, wouldn't deliberately install an incentive plan that penalizes effort and contribution to his own shop and rewards the reverse," Spencer continues. Then he explains what he means.

"With your system, our companies will pay 40 per cent federal and state income tax. That leaves 60 cents on each dollar earned. In many states I'd pay 50 per cent on all dividends from that remaining 60 cents. If the company fails, I lose 100 per cent of my investment. If it succeeds, I lose 70 per cent of my gain. Who in his right mind would invest with odds like that? No casino is worse."

Then Spencer makes a particularly pertinent point:

"And it's not just the technical issue of taxes. It's the broad issue of personal freedom. Bill, I am just not going to work for the state, through taxes, seven to nine months each year of my life. It's not quite the Russia of old, or Cuba today, but you're getting there. The only freedom left is not to work.

"Some 200 national economies exist in the world, each with decades of experience, not counting cities and states. Have you ever checked what works and what doesn't?" Spencer asks.

"New Zealand's finance minister, Ruth Richardson, created a furor in February by calling your tax proposals 'unintelligent.' She was polite. In New Zealand the maximum tax on income is 33 per cent. No double tax on dividends, no capital gains tax. Where would you rather invest, Bill? Where you keep 67 cents of the dollar earned, or 30 cents?

"....in the last Presidential campaign, all three of you monumentally missed the point. In much of the 1960s we had relative entrepreneurial freedom and incredible flowering of innovation. Thus, we were vastly better off than Europe or Canada: better economy, milder recession, faster recovery, far lower unemployment, low inflation, low interest—despite deficits and the task of defending the world.

"Yet the European cesspool with its progressive, productivity-punishing taxes, high labor and social costs and 10 to 12 per cent unemployment, is precisely the model you've adopted. Now we will get an immense flowering of tax shelters and investment abroad.

"The problem of the 1980s was indeed greed. Government greed. From 1980 to 1992 government revenues were up 95 per cent, spending 137 per cent, deficit up 366 per cent. Attacking revenue producers—not costs—is exactly where the problem is not.

"It is truly tragic for America, Bill, that you and your colleagues are utterly blind to basic human motivation—and all economic history—leading us down the path that is failing so spectacularly in Europe."

Spencer is obviously right and President Clinton is obviously wrong in the approach being taken. But don't look for any learning to take place on the President's part in the near future. America was founded on a basis of free enterprise and grew to the power it became through the incentive to earn and keep a profit. Tax away that incentive and you destroy the system that our capitalism has built.

It's sad but it's true what Spencer said: "It's the broad issue of personal freedom....The only freedom left is not to work."

Membership—Be More Than Just A Joiner

Every organization has them—the people who want the benefits of membership but make little or no effort to get involved, to help keep the organization going and accomplishing its goals and objectives. As a result, the few who are responsible and concerned are compelled to do most of the necessary work and frequently are complained about for "wanting to run the show."

From time to time we have seen reminders of the importance of participation, and this poem from the Minnesota Newspaper Association Bulletin is another good reminder for everyone who is a member of an organization.

MEMBERSHIP

Are you an active member, the kind that would be missed,
Or are you just contented that your name is on the list?
Do you come to meetings and mingle with the flock,
Or do you stay at home and criticize and knock?
Do you take an active part to help the work along,
Or are you satisfied to be the one who just belongs?
Do you work on committees to see
there is no trick,
Or leave the work to just a few and talk about the clique?
So come to meetings often and help with hand and heart,
Don't just be a member, but take an active part.

East Grand Forks third baseman Todd Olson waited for the throw to arrive from catcher Travis Lind, then applied the tag to Thief River Falls runner Marc Haugan before he reached the bag on this second inning stolen base attempt in the second game of Thursday's American Legion baseball doubleheader at Irv Wilson Field. Post 117 won a pair of 3-0 games in its final home appearance of the year. A Friday (July 30) doubleheader rematch in East Grand Forks and a single game Monday at Roseau ends the Thief River Falls regular season schedule. The 1993 Ninth District tournament starts Thursday in East Grand Forks.

Legion wins pair of 3-0 games vs. EGF

■ Sweep in final home appearance puts Post 117 at 27-7

Once again Thief River Falls compensated for offensive shortcomings with pitching and defense Thursday as Post 117 put together a pair of 3-0 wins in an American Legion baseball doubleheader sweep over East Grand Forks at Irv Wilson Field.

Jeremy Olson threw a complete game three-hit shutout in the opener. Carter Rogalla matched that with six innings of three-hit pitching in the nightcap before Jayson Olson completed the goose egg night for the winners with a seventh inning relief appearance.

Fourteen innings of error-free defense backed up the Thief River Falls pitchers as Post 117 closed out its 1993 home season with a 27-7 record.

While the pitching and defense shined, the Thief River Falls offense struggled, picking up five hits in Game 1 and four in Game 2.

"We've been playing pretty decent ball," offered Thief River Falls coach Howard Dalager. "We're pretty solid on defense and our pitching has been good. Offensively our run production is down this year. We've tried everything (stealing bases, hit-and-run, sacrifice bunts, squeeze plays). I guess we need more batting practice."

There is no such knock against a Thief River Falls pitching staff that has recorded three shutouts in its last four starts.

"We're pretty happy with our pitching," pointed out Dalager. "We're really blessed with pitching this year. Worm (Jeremy Olson) did a nice job in the first game, and we found out what Carter can do in the second game."

Dalager said Rick Ostby, who shut out Roseau in the first half of a Monday doubleheader, Jeremy Olson and Rogalla will be Thief River Falls' top three pitchers heading into the state tournament-qualifying Ninth District playoffs beginning Thursday at East Grand Forks. Post 117 is the defending champion.

Thief River Falls....................3
East Grand Forks....................0

Three East Grand Forks errors led to three unearned runs in the Thief River Falls first-game win.

Back-to-back walks to open the second inning set the stage for a pair of Thief River Falls runs. A two-out error on the left side of the infield scored the first run and a double into the left-center field gap by Joby Looker made it 2-0.

Only other scoring occurred in the sixth when consecutive one-out singles by Rick Ostby and Steve Burslie were followed by a run-scoring error.

Jeremy Olson struck out two and walked four to earn the win. His biggest challenge came when two singles and a walk presented East Grand Forks with a two-out bases-loaded opportunity in the fifth – a threat ended on a fielder's choice ground ball by No. 3 hitter Dave Kohns.

Losing pitching Mark Berry could hardly be faulted with his work that included three walks and a strike-out.

Thief River Falls....................3

All the scoring – what little there was – came in the first inning as Thief River Falls won another 3-0 decision.

First four Thief River Falls batters reached base safely. A single to left to Marc Haugen, a single to right by Rick Ostby and a walk issued to Nathan Knutson loaded bases. Carter Rogalla got a free RBI with a walk; Ostby scored on a wild pitch; and Knutson came home on an infield ground ball off the bat of Robert Nelson.

Thief River Falls did not have a runner reach third the rest of the night.

East Grand Forks moved only one runner as far as third during the entire game – when Luke Melquist led off the sixth with an infield single, Jeff Vonasek walked and a Jeremy Werness ground-out advanced the two runners. Rogalla struck out clean-up hitter Ricky Rivera to keep the shut-out intact.

Rogalla struck out five and walked just one. Jayson Olson faced four batters in the seventh, giving up a single.

East Grand Forks pitcher Ben Brickson, like first-game counterpart Mark Berry, also pitched well, striking out three and walking four.

VFW wraps up 1993 regular season play

■ TRF hosting district tournament

Bemidji won the opener 19-6, but Thief River Falls took the nightcap 9-4 Tuesday in a VFW baseball doubleheader for 16-year-olds.

The final regular season outing for the Rick Looker-coached Thief River Falls team was switched from Irv Wilson Field to Bemidji because of wet grounds.

A 10-run third inning carried Bemidji to the first-game win. Thief River Falls efforts included two hits apiece for Adam Henney, Jon Elizondo and Cory Jenkins. Starting pitcher Tim Barry took the loss. He gave way to Jenkins in the third inning, with Jason Hruby and Brad Thayer also pitching in relief. They combined on 11 walks and three strike-outs.

Thief River Falls snapped a 4-4 tie with three runs in the bottom of the fifth and then padded the margin with a two-run sixth to gain the twinbill split with a 9-4 win in Game 2.

Eric Bjorgaard and Henney were both 2-for-2, while Barry had two hits in four at-bats. Bjorgaard drove in two runs. Henney scored three times. Chris Vanyo turned in a complete-game pitching effort for the win, striking out five and walking three.

Bemidji and Thief River Falls were matched up again Friday in the first round of the Ninth District VFW tournament currently being played at Irv Wilson Field.

Moorhead entered the five-team, state tournament-qualifying event as the No. 1 seed, followed by Bemidji, Thief River Falls, Fergus Falls, and East Grand Forks. Friday/Saturday results will set up Sunday's finals at 12-noon. A second title-deciding contest, if needed, would be played at 3 that afternoon.

State VFW baseball tournament will be played at Brainerd Aug. 12-15.

Schmitz, who was 3-for-3, Deb Cota and Shannon Mosbeck all had seventh inning doubles in Game 2.

The Swingers finished atop the final regular season Division II standings while closing with a split – a 21-0 win over Goodridge Jaycees/Creative Clippers and a 6-5 loss to Pizza Hut.

Ridgerunners/Best Western Inn ended the schedule with wins over Legion/Sather Law 10-9 and Best Western Inn 15-0. Cheryl Olson was 3-for-4 with a double, triple and home run, while Marilyn Helgeland and Rhonda Beito were both 2-for-3 in the opener. Olson added a 3-for-3 game in the nightcap, with Michelle Erickson picking up two hits in two at-bats.

Janelle Konickson and Shari Stranger were both 3-for-4 as Legion/Sather Law bounced back to defeat VFW 12-9.

Mush-A-Rets wound up with a Wednesday split by beating VFW 3-0 behind the shut-out pitching of Julie Halvorson and a 3-for-3 plate effort by Suzie Kaiser.

Sheriff lifts barriers to rivers in TRF

Barriers preventing use of the Red Lake and Thief rivers in Thief River Falls because of fast currents and debris have been lifted.

The barriers at the Eighth street boat landing and swimming beach were opened Thursday afternoon. All areas were closed earlier this week because of unsafe conditions coused by recent rain storms. A Pennington county sheriff's department spokesperson said the Third street boat landing would either be opened Friday afternoon or on Saturday.

New rules for highways

New rules now allow county state-aid highways to be declared as Natural Preservation Routes to protect natural and historic resources, the Minnesota Department of Transportation announced.

Designation as a Natural Preservation Route allows designers greater flexibility in selecting design standards for new construction or rebuilding existing roadways.

These relaxed standards aim to reduce impact on the surrounding environment while ensuring that the roadway remains safe for motorists and bicyclists. Revised standards include narrower widths for lanes, shoulders and clearances and reduced design speeds.

To be designated as a Natural Preservation Route, a roadway must possess sensitive or unique scenic environmental or historic characteristics. Examples may include roads near historic buildings, along lakes, rivers and wetlands or through forests, hilly, rocky or bluff terrain.

Individuals who wish to request that a roadway be designated as a Natural Preservation Route must make a written request to the county board having jurisdiction over the route.

Livestock exchange to open near Bagley on August 19

sale days the market will employ 25 workers. Varner said he tentatively plans on auctioning hogs every Wednesday morning. The market will also hold special feeder cattle, bred stock cow, bull and horse sales.

Varner has seen his share of livestock, growing up in the cattle country of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming. For the Bagley market, "we took the best things out of every place," Varner said.

Some improvements upon other auction markets, Varner said, include capabilities of unloading three trailers at a time.

Overnight facilities for 1,500 to 2,000 livestock are available, as well as five pasture lots ranging from two to eight acres.

The sale arena seats 400 people. The ring-scale weight is relayed to two scoreboard displays which list the weight, average weight, headcount and price. One board displays cattle currently selling and the other board displays cattle just sold.

Radiant heat keeps the arena warm and fans circulate the air. "It's going to smell good. It isn't going to smell like a cattle barn," Varner said.

A 500 foot catwalk gives the buyers a bird's-eye view of the livestock. "You don't have to worry about a bull running over you," Varner said.

The Bagley area was chosen, Varner said, because of its central location. "We thought there was a need here so we thought we'd try and do 'er," Varner said.

A Bagley-location sales barn has always been Varner's goal. He plans on his two auction markets playing off of each other, drawing in buyers and sellers. "I think I have all I can handle. The goal now is to make it work," Varner said.

During sales Varner works in the sales ring announcing and explaining the livestock. Diane Varner takes care of the books.

The large volume of cattle in this area, Joe Varner said, will draw in buyers. Buyers from feedlots in Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas already plan to go to the market, Varner said. At least five packer buyers will attend each sale, an Exchange brochure states.

Commission rates are $10 per head on feeder, slaughter and fat cattle and $15 per head on bred cows and bulls weighing over 1,000 pounds.

The Exchange has already sent out pamphlets explaining the market to 4,200 farmers in 21 Northern Minnesota counties.

"This is cattle country up here," Varner said. "Northwest Minnesota is cattle country."

A worker welds railings on the catwalk at the Bagley Livestock Exchange, Inc. The catwalk stretches about 500 feet, giving a bird's-eye view of over 300 pens.

The Bagley Livestock Exchange, six miles west of Bagley, can hold between 2,500 and 3,000 livestock. The Exchange holds its first sale Thursday, August 19 at 11 a.m.

Searchers locate body

Dave Odette, Hardy Hodge, Jim Hulteen, Virgil Wagner, Pat Hoffman, Stan Springsteen, and Hal Waale worked much of the day and evening on the first day.

On the second day, Sjoberg said, the CAP chapter from Thief River Falls rented a plane. Pat Hoffman was the pilot in command, Virgil Wagner and Dick Sjoberg were spotters. Hardy Hodge provided ground communications.

On the third day, using a rented plane again, the local chapter, with Pat Hoffman as pilot, and Hal Waale and Jim Hulteen as spotters, located the missing canoe paddle. The body was located by people involved in the search and rescue in boats. The local CAP triangulated their position and directed the ambulance to the site.

Handbook tells seniors about legal rights

Seniors are often the target of con artists and swindlers. A wide variety of scams swindle older consumers out of billions of dollars each year. The best protection against scams is alert and informed consumers. The Attorney General's office has updated the "Seniors' Legal Rights Handbook" to better educate seniors about their rights in the marketplace.

The handbook contains information important to seniors such as consumer protection, charitable giving, investments, insurance, health and nursing home care, age discrimination and protection under the law. The handbook is designed to help older Minnesotans with their day-to-day activities and legal affairs.

Becoming a wiser consumer can save you hundreds of dollars and countless worries. To receive a free copy of the "Seniors' Legal Rights Handbook" send your name, address, and request to: Attorney General's Consumer Division, 1400 NCL Tower, 445 Minnesota Street, St. Paul, MN 55101; (612) 296-3353 or 1-800-657-3787. TDD numbers are (612) 297-7206 or 1-800-657-3787.

camp to show how people lived during the fur trade era. The encampment will feature the lodging used and demonstrations of how people hunted, ate and survived in those early years of our country.

Representatives from the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians will attend to present yet another cultural point of view. They are expected to set up shelters and display and sell craft items as well as buffalo meat and walleye prepared in the old way.

Also among the many local exhibitors and performers will be the Arctic Lights gymnastics club, Heritage Center choir, Bubbles the Clown, a play entitled "Chaos in the Garden" by Discovery Place, wood carving by Al Sollom, "Down Memory Lane" display by Helen Chervestad and Ethel Wiseth; wool spinning by Lori Olson, soap making by Vicki Kolden, sword choreography by Patrick Myhrer, pony rides, food concessions, a petting zoo and a beer garden with imported beer.

Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village, operated by the Pennington County Historical Society, will have several displays, covered wagons will be on display and a senior citizens booth will provide information on our area. Large tents have been obtained to insure the event will be held rain or shine.

Major sponsors of the event are St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator and KTRF-KSNR radio. Admission prices will be $6 for adults and $2 for children age 12 and younger.

MMCDC completes expansion

School building on schedule, budget

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Construction site of the Challenger elementary school in Thief River Falls is a hub of activity as a number of contractors are at work on their various phases of the project. In all the $10 million project will involve more than 40 different contractors. All exterior footings and foundations are now complete and backfilled and block is being laid on the approximately half mile of exterior wall. Goal is to complete block laying on the exterior walls in about three months.

"Challeng... y school construction project continues on schedule and on budget," is the word from Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent of schools for School District 564.

Approximately 95 per cent of the project has now been bid with about $750,000 in contracts awarded for six divisions of the construction project July 19.

"The school district has employed some outstanding contractors on this project," Supt. Duncan said, "and the architectural firm of Dana, Larson, Roubal and Associates and the construction management firm of E & V, Incorporated have been very responsive to the project. Everyone is working cooperatively in making every effort to build a quality school for our community."

Peter Elzinga of the E & V, Incorporated management company, confirmed that progress was on schedule and within the proposed budget. "We're certainly pleased," he said, "and for the present at least we see no major problems for remaining on schedule. It indicates that we did things right during the design phase to get the most building for the money for the people of the Thief River Falls community."

According to Supt. Duncan, the exterior footings and foundations are now completed and have been

Badger says farewell to Neuenfeldts

Badger — Community members, along with several Badger school administrators and teachers, gathered recently at the Badger school cafeteria to say goodbye to Ed and Sandy Neuenfeldt. Sandy had served as the principal and superintendent for the past four years. Ed recently resigned from Hydra-Mac in Thief River Falls. The couple is moving to St. Cloud for Sandy to accept a position as kindergarten through fourth grade principal at the Westwood Elementary school. (Greenbush Tribune)

Zion church in Oklee dedicated building additions

Oklee — A dedication ceremony was held July 25 at the Zion Lutheran church in Oklee for two long-planned-for additions: an elevator and a balcony. The elevator is a welcome addition since it allows people to enter the basement and sanctuary floor levels from ground level. The balcony was a part of the church building for many years, but was closed off in 1964 and the opening sealed up. It has now been reopened for use. (Oklee Herald)

To dedicate water plant August 13

Dedication of the water treatment facility in Thief River Falls will take place August 13. An open house including tours of the water plant will be August 13 and 14.

The dedication ceremony for improvements and additions to the water treatment plant will take place at 2 p.m. Friday at the water plant on Pennington avenue. Except for landscaping, the modifications are now complete.

The project, which cost $6.7 million, began nearly two years ago. Modifications to the plant were ordered because of changes in water treatment regulations. With the completion of the modifications, standards set by the EPA will be met. In fact, the project allows water processing to be well below the present standard of 0.5 turbidity units, for example, and meets standards set by the Safe Drinking Water Act. One interesting aspect of the changes involved treatment time. The modifications have increased treatment time from 3.6 hours to 10.5 hours.

The project was funded through a $600,000 grant from the Minnesota Department of Economic Development, a $1 million grant from the Economic Development Administration, and a long-term loan of $5,124,300 from Farmer's Home Administration. The loan is at 5 1/4 per cent interest for 30 years.

During the open house on Friday and Saturday, August 13 and 14, water plant tours will be given, beginning at 9 a.m., at one hour intervals.

Refreshments will be served and everyone is invited to attend.

Jared Daisy, age 8, appears to be encouraging fellow Kitty Cat riders John Marben, age 10, and Brittnoy Odberg, age 4, to pull harder. The Kitty Cats were attached by ropes to a 75 by 180-foot section of a building being moved from an area behind Digi-Key. Digi-Key is an electronic parts distributor in Thief River Falls. The Kitty Cats appeared to be moving the 80-ton building, but the real muscle came from a large diesel truck hidden within the building. The 32,000 square foot building was moved in two sections. The first section was moved last week. By using a truck to move the building, which was supported by hydraulic dollies, Carrington Building Movers of Carrington, ND, were able to move it to within a half inch of where it was supposed to be. As a result of a land transaction, the building was moved from behind Digi-Key to an area behind Arctco, a distance of less than one-quarter of a mile, where it will become part of Arctco's personal watercraft division. The building section pictured above weighed 30 tons. An additional 50 tons of steel beam was added to support the structure during the move. Balance on the dollies which supported the weight of the building was maintained by hydraulics. Harlan Kirkeide of Digi-Key is the project manager.

Crop forecast dimmed by weather, disease

Extension agents in Minnesota's northwest counties predict lower yields than had been expected earlier

by Mark Olson
Staff Writer

Fungus, rain and cool temperatures are taking their toll on crops in Northwest Minnesota and throughout the state.

The crop forecast at the beginning of July was 50 bushels per acre for wheat and 70 bushels per acre for barley, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

Diseases

The potential for diseases, such as scab, a fungus which attacks flowering grains, has lowered the expected wheat harvest.

Responding to the would-be record yields one farmer told Red Lake county extension agent Rhonda Amundson "You can't count your kernels before they're in the bin."

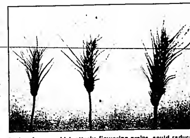
"Up to three weeks ago I would have said that our small grain crops were excellent," said Pennington county extension agent Howard Person. Person has inspected fields with scab damage affecting from 10 per cent to 50 per cent of the wheat.

"There's no way to tell really how bad this is until we get into harvest and we start seeing what kind of yields we're going to get and how elevators are going to respond to the crop. And so we're all just kind of sitting on pins and needles here to see," Person said.

The scab infections are county-wide, Person said. Other Northwest Minnesota county agents report significant scab levels in crops and scab has also attacked wheat in West Central Minnesota and Eastern North Dakota.

The fields can look deceptively healthy, Person said. "The scab comes in and the stand looks good, but you walk into the fields and you see the field plumb full of scab and you wonder if its even marketable. It sure takes the fun out of things in a big hurry," Person said.

The fungus attacks the grain spikelets and drains the seeds of starch. It shuts off the nutrient flow to the spikelets above the infected spikelets and makes the wheat light weight. The fungus is pink and infected kernels are shrunken and shriveled. There are no wheat varieties totally resistant to scab.



In Red Lake county diseases such as scab, root rot and bacteria blight could reduce the wheat yield 20 per cent, Amundson said.

Scab carries the possibility of mycotoxin, also called vomitoxin because tainted grain reportedly causes swine to vomit when they ingest it. "Of course you aren't going to want to make bread out of that either," Person said.

Millers will accept only one half of one per cent of wheat infected with scab, said St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator Manager Bob Miller.

The St. Hilaire elevator will turn the air "wide open" on its machines to blow out the light-weight diseased kernels, Miller said. If farmers turn the air wide open on their combines they could get rid of 95 per cent of the scab wheat, Miller said. Person also recommended this procedure.

Scab, a fungus which attacks flowering grains, could reduce some yields up to 50 per cent. Only about 10 per cent of the kernels remain in the head of wheat on the far left. Scab has moderately affected the middle head of wheat. About 90 per cent of the kernels remains in the head of wheat on the far right. Some size fluctuations are due to different wheat varieties.

Kittson hospital to expand services

Hallock — Kittson Memorial hospital in Hallock will be adding a special procedures room in the next year or so, to allow non-surgical procedures, such as carpal tunnel repair. The hospital is also making progress toward a rural health clinic designation and is waiting for the state to make this determination. This would result in better funding for the facility, as well as increasing the likelihood of attracting physicians. (Kittson County Enterprise)

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

I had some calls about problems with last week's recipes. First of all, the recipe for Rice Cakes is supposed to have two cups of Minute Rice (not two Minute Rice).

Secondly, the Puffy French Toast recipe called for milk to be blended with egg, but did not have any eggs listed. In checking the recipe in the cookbook, there was no egg there, either. I finally made the French toast, using one egg, and that seemed to turn out right.

Since I found the Puffy French Toast to be a little too different for my taste, here is another, more ordinary, recipe you might like (I made sure the recipe has eggs this time and also added our family favorite, nutmeg, to the recipe):

FRENCH TOAST

1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
vanilla
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg (optional)

Beat eggs with fork. Add salt, milk, vanilla and nutmeg and stir.

Dip slices of bread into the mixture and fry in shortening or margarine. Serve with topping of your choice.

While we are in the mood for breakfast ideas, let's try some different pancake recipes.

These sound really good. I plan to try them for Sunday breakfast:

OATMEAL PANCAKES

1 1/2 cups rolled oats
2 cups buttermilk or sour milk
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 beaten eggs

Mix the rolled oats and buttermilk. Beat in the rest of the ingredients and bake as usual. (Batter will be thin.)

SOUR MILK PANCAKES

2 cups buttermilk or sour milk
2 to 3 eggs
2 tablespoons oil
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 teaspoon salt

Beat all ingredients together until well mixed. (Makes about 16 pancakes.)

RICE PANCAKES

Add 1 cup cooked rice to usual pancake recipe.

CORNMEAL PANCAKES

Use half corn meal and half flour in usual pancake recipe

...

POTATO PANCAKES

2 eggs
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups potatoes (peeled and cut into chunks)

Combine eggs, milk, flour, baking powder and salt in blender. Cover and blend five seconds.

Add potato chunks (all at once) and blend for 10 seconds or until grated.

Fry on well-greased griddle.

Serve with sausages and applesauce, if desired.

Here is a really fancy breakfast recipe I received from the Bays English Muffin people. (I would bet you could use any type of English muffin, but we'd better give credit where credit is due.) Make it with the fresh fruits available now:

PEACH MELBA FRENCH TOAST

4 Bays English muffins, split
3 eggs
3/4 cup milk or half and half
2 tablespoons Amaretto (optional)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon salt
dash nutmeg
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 pint fresh raspberries confectioner's sugar
fresh mint

Arrange muffin halves in large, shallow baking dish.

In medium bowl, combine eggs, milk, Amaretto, vanilla, salt and nutmeg. Pour over muffins, turning to coat evenly. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight.

To cook, heat 2 tablespoonfuls of the butter in non-stick skillet. Add 4 muffin halves and cook over medium-high heat until browned, turning once.

Remove from skillet and keep warm. Repeat with remaining muffins and butter. Make Fruit Sauce.

FRUIT SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 medium peaches, sliced
3/4 cup apricot preserves
2 tablespoons Amaretto (or orange juice)

Heat butter in skillet. Cook peaches until slightly softened, 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in apricot preserves and Amaretto or juice. Heat until mixture bubbles.

To serve, cut French toast slices in half. Arrange 3 pieces on plate. Spoon Fruit Sauce over each serving and sprinkle with raspberries and confectioner's sugar. Garnish with mint sprigs, if desired.

Thanks to everyone who called me to let me know about the mistakes in last week's recipes. I appreciate it.

Hwy 2 speed limits reduced for construction

Speed limits in construction areas between Crookston and Grand Forks on Highway 2 will be reduced to 40 mph beginning August 9.

The speed limit will be in effect during the duration of the project, according to Charles Magnusson, project supervisor for the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

The project will last two to four weeks and the speed limit will be in effect during working hours, which are dawn to dusk.

Construction areas are the eastbound lane between East Orand Forks and Fisher and the west bound lane between Fisher and Crookston.

The project will correct a longitudinal crack in the highway which exists where the old highway was widened by four feet. Northern Paving of Crookston is the prime contractor.

Magnusson emphasizes that speed limits of 40 mph will be enforced in the construction areas to ensure the safety of motorists and highway construction workers.

Arctco doubles quarterly sales

Boosted upward by the sales of Tigershark personal watercraft, net sales for Arctco, Inc. of Thief River Falls increased 119 per cent to $37,393,000 for the first quarter of the 1994 fiscal year ended June 30. Last year net sales for the quarter totaled $17,092,000.

Net earnings increased 136 per cent to $2,596,000 (13 cents per share) from $1,099,000 (six cents per share) a year ago.

"Our net sales increase is primarily attributable to the Tigershark personal watercraft," commented Chris Twomey, president and chief executive officer of Arctco. "We began shipping Tigersharks in the fourth quarter of fiscal 1993 and completed shipping in the first quarter of fiscal 1994.

"Our net sales were further positively affected by increased shipments of snowmobiles and related parts, garments and accessories to our dealers and distributors," he added.

Arctco also announced that the board of directors has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of five and one-third cents per common share, payable Sept. 2, 1993 to shareholders of record on Aug. 17, 1993.

Deductions of $27,396,000 in cost of goods sold and $6,476,000 in selling, general and administrative expenses from the $37,393,000 in sales resulted in an operating profit of $3,521,000 for the first quarter of fiscal 1994. Last year cost of goods sold was $11,821 and selling, general and administrative expenses were $3,955,000, leaving an operating profit of $1,316,000.

The company this year also had interest income of $308,000, interest expense of $33,000 and other income of $84,000 for earnings before taxes of $3,880,000. Income taxes totaled $1,284,000.

Last year there was $337,000 in interest income, $55,000 in interest expense and $30,000 in other income for earnings before taxes of $1,628,000. Income taxes totaled $529,000.

At the end of the first quarter of fiscal 1994 the company had 19,444,000 weighted average shares outstanding, according to Timothy Delmore, the company's chief financial officer.

During the incident one woman was allegedly hanging onto a purse while being dragged by the vehicle. She had minor bumps and scratches but did not require hospital care. LETTERS

To The Editor:

It is nice to know that we have honest people in Thief River Falls. I would like to thank Darryl Tveitbakk and his son for being honest. They found my daughter's wallet on the street and returned it with all her money in it.

It is really nice to know that people can be that honest when times are tough. It made by daughter very happy because she never thought she would get it back.

Sincerely,
Cheryl Nelson
Newfolden, MN

To The Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter written by Jill Fremling concerning the Tanya Tucker concert. There were a few fallacies as to how she explained her and her friends' behavior.

For one thing, it was not just between songs that they would "cheer." It was more like every two seconds that they would scream at the top of their lungs while sitting maybe two feet behind us.

Also, it wasn't several occasions, but once, that someone told them to shut up. And to my knowledge nobody ever told anyone to sit down because they never really were standing. Telling them to be quiet only made them scream louder and more often, which was really quite irritating.

True, performers like their audiences to get involved, but I'm sure they also want everyone to enjoy themselves. Of course it was good that they were enthusiastic about the concert, but a little courtesy wouldn't have hurt either. This was Tanya Tucker, not Guns-N-Roses. She is one of the few truly good singers and I think people wanted to be able to listen to her.

I could understand if the concert were outdoors and the atmosphere were a little different, but we were in a hot, jam-packed arena. I think I speak for a lot of people by saying that it doesn't hurt to think about others once in a while.

Sincerely,
Jenny Nicholson

Opinions

Editorial opinion published on this page, whether locally written or re-printed from other sources is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Opinions expressed by the editor are his own and not necessarily those of other staff members. Thoughts On House Speaker's Resignation

Legislator Dee Loog's decision to resign her prestigious position as Speaker of the Minnesota House would appear to be one of the wiser decisions she has made of late. It was certainly wiser than skipping sessioos at a legislative conference lo California to play golf, which is what she was shown to have done on Twin Cities television.

If Long were a corporate executive at a convention, skipping sessions to play golf would not attract any attentioo. It would probably be the norm. But the Legislature is public business, and merobers of the tax-paying public do not take kindly to paying for legislators' recreation when struggling to provide for their own oecessities.

That same attitude was expressed when Long did not object to 75 legislators and their families going on a free ski weekend sponsored by the Duluth Chamber of Commerce in January (although she did oot participate herself) and when the legislature adjourned for a long weekend while Long and a group of friends took an annual ski trip to Canada.

Minnesotans in general are hard working people with a strong work ethic. They believe in giving an hooest effort to do a good job while on the job and they expect others around them to do the same. They elect representatives to represent their beliefs in the legislature and they expect an honest effort in return for their personal and financial support. When that performance is not forthcoming, and their expectations are met with indifference or ignored, they become justifiably upset.

Feminists must be particularly disturbed—or at least they should be—by Speaker Long's failings. As the first woroan to serve as Speaker of the House in Minnesota, she had an outstanding opportunity (many would say n special responsibility) to provide an example of bow female leadership could be an improvement to longstanding male dominanec in that position. By showing not only ao inability to sustain a leadership role but a lack of respect for the office and its importance, she bas roade no positive impression from a feminist standpoint.

Loog's dowofall, and the continual problem with legislative leaders over the years, is that they seem to get so wrapped up with themselves and their colleagues thot they lose touch with their constituency. As a result their conduct and behavior are geared to those with whom they surround themselves, and that is not always exemplary.

Voters....taxpayers have a right to expect the people they elect to the legislature to give them their best. At the very least that should be full-time attention to the business at hand while the legislature is in session for a few roonths and while attending to the state's business at other times of the year. That should be merely no exercise in good judgment. Unfortunately, good judgment seems to be ooe of the ottributes that Speaker Long is lacking.

Homeschooling Gains Momentum In State

Since the state of Minnesota began keeping track of homeschooling lo 1987, the number of children in homeschool situations bas doubled to an unofficial total of 6,437 as of the 1992-93 school year.

According to a report prepored by the Minnesota Homeschoolers Alliance (MHA), the 1992-93 total compared with 2,322 in 1987-88 and is up 25 per cent frorn 5,086 reported during the 1991-92 school term.

Because some bomeschoolers are affiliated with satellite schools and do not report to a local superintendent of schools, the total is believed to be closer to 7,500. That is a lot of children to be formally taught in a home situation and must be at least partially construed as a result of dissatisfaction with the public and even the private schools of the state.

The HMA points out that homeschoolers typically score in the 80th perceotile on standardized tests and perform well in tests measuring self-esteem and critical thinking skills. A recent University of Florida study on the social development of homeschoolers showed that they behave better than their conventionally schooled peers. Researcher Larry Shyers said the results "seem to show that a child's social development depends more on adult contact and less on contact with other children than previously thought."

The behavior test results are not at all surprising to us. When parents care enough about the needs of their children to make the effort to teach them at home, they are probably teaching a lot more than the ABCs and 1-2-3s.

Homeschooling is oow legally recognized in all 50 states. In Minnesota only Traverse county is listed as having no homeschoolers known. No other county has less than two. Hennepin county leads with 981 and St. Louis county bas 458. In northwestern Minoesota, according to the association, there are six being homeschooled in Kittson county, 29 in Roseau, 19 in Lake of the Woods, 20 to Marshall, 14 in Red Lake, 47 in Polk, six in Norman, two in Mahnomen and 37 in Pennington.

"As the nurober of homeschoolers grows," states Sally Westfall of the MHA, "more opportunities are developing for group activities. Many coromunities bave boroescbool groups planning field trips, family get-togethers, shared academic projects, plays, concerts and athletic events."

We think is must take a dedicated and well disciplined family to devote the time and effort necessary to homeschooling. And if the process roakes better citizens that public and private schools can produce, who can argue with their success?

Oslo School District faces difficult decisions

Oslo School District board has informed residents of the district that it could survive mounting financial problems for only one more year.

Declining enrollment and state aid has put the Oslo school district, which is located on the western edge of northwestern Minnesota and part of which is in North Dakota, in a financial bind. There were 273 students enrolled in the school last year. Enrollment projections estimate there will be 251 students enrolled in the 1993-94 school year, 238 in the 1994-95 school year and 210 in the 1995-96 school year. The enrollment projections are a far cry from the 450 students enrolled in 1978 when the Oslo School District built a new $970,000 gymnasium.

In an attempt to solve the financial crisis facing the school district, residents of the district voted for a referendum last year, raising taxes to the maximum allowable levy limit.

The board, however, projects a $68,499 deficit at the end of this school year on revenues of $1,344,809. General revenue, which is based on per pupil unit, is expected to be $110,412 less in the following year and $85,539 less the year after that.

Operating fund balances have gone from a plus $148,498 on July 1, 1991, to a minus $31,021 on July 1, 1992, and to a preliminary estimate of minus $148,915 on July 1, 1993.

Jim Hahn, superintendent of Oslo school district, said that without damaging school curriculum, expenses have been cut to the bone. Hahn said the school district is just meeting state requirements.

Other factors contributing to the difficulties include:

- Oslo received fewer open enrollment elementary students from Alvarado than expected;
- North Dakota legislation reduced the amount of money from North Dakota students, which curtailed the number of students attending school in the district. (Last year, there were 63 students from North Dakota. They anticipate only 49 students from North Dakota next year.);
- Minnesota sparsity aid is not retroactive and there will be none for the 1993-94 school year and after that only $15,000 will be available for the 1994-95 school year, which is much less than expected;
- State aids will be reduced and the district will be required to spend $7,045.50 this year and $12,852 next year for staff development and the funds cannot come from new tax dollars;
- A new law also ends use of referendums without sunsets in Minnesota and limits all referendums that expire July 1, 1997, to five years.

The board will appoint a task force of six or more members to come up with recommendations for the board. Although the board is expected to entertain a variety of suggestions. One of the issues to be discussed will be whether to dissolve or consolidate.

Offer seniors discount

Individuals using Tri-Valley Heartland Express or Roseau County Area Transit to attend the Northwest Area Agency on Aging 19th annual conference at the University of Minnesota in Crookston August 25 will receive a $1 fare discount. Deadline to reserve transportation with Tri-Valley is August 11.

A coupon for the discount as well as reservation information is provided on the brochures that are available at senior centers throughout the seven northwestern counties of Minnesota. Transit users should present the discount coupon to the bus driver and the bus services will be reimbursed by the Area Agency on Aging.

Conference registration deadline is August 19. Further information is available from Faith Rud, director of the Area Agency on Aging, by calling 681-2637 or 1-800-450-2637.

Thief River Falls 8-0 tournament winner over Perham...

Legion wins district debut

Thief River Falls began defense of its Ninth District Division I American Legion baseball tournament title Thursday with an 8-0 win over Perham in the opening game of the 1993 post-season playoffs at Stauss Park in East Grand Forks.

Rick Ostby and Joby Looker combined on a two-hit shutout as Post 117 improved its record to 30-8. Perham dropped into the loser's bracket of the eight-team, double-elimination state tournament-qualifying event with a 7-10 mark.

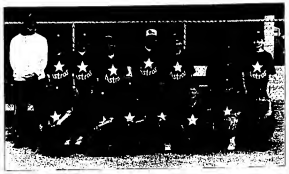
In other first-round results, Roseau surprised perennial title challenger Moorhead 2-1, Detroit Lakes hammered host East Grand Forks 17-1 and Fergus Falls got by Crookston 4-2.

Ostby started on the mound and worked five innings for the win, giving up the two hits while striking out one. He did not walk a batter. Looker turned in two 1-2-3 innings in relief. Together, Ostby and Looker retired 17 straight Perham batters to end the game.

"Our pitchers did a nice job," noted Thief River Falls coach Howard Dalager. "Ricky pitched well, but in a tournament situation you want to try to save him for down the road, so we took him out after five innings."

Offensively, a five-run third inning wrapped it up for the winners, turning a 3-0 edge into the 8-0 cushion. The eight-hit attack included two hits apiece for Robert Nelson and Steve Burslie. Nelson drove in three runs; Burslie had two RBI.

"Things went pretty well," said Dalager. "The kids did a good job. They were ready to play."



Day 2 match-ups Friday included Perham vs. Moorhead and East Grand Forks vs. Crookston in afternoon loser-out games, followed by Thief River Falls vs. Roseau and Detroit Lakes vs. Fergus Falls in the evening winner's bracket.

The 12-noon, 2:30 p.m., 5 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. schedule remains on the books today (Saturday). Last of the loser-out games is on tab for 1:30 p.m. Sunday, followed by the finals at 4 p.m. A second title showdown, if needed in the double-elimination format, would be played Monday at 7 p.m.

Winner moves on to state tournament play Aug. 12-15 in New Ulm.

Trap League

A month after five of the six First Half Season shoot-off qualifiers had been named, the final post-season spot was filled Monday when Narverud Cleaners ended a four-week tie Sjoberg's Cable TV.

Johnson Trap Company, Eagles, Northern State Bank, St. Hilaire Elevator, and Bridgeman's finished 1-through-5, respectively in the First Half Season point standings back on July 5. Narverud Cleaners and Sjoberg's Cable TV shared the No. 6 spot.

And they remained deadlocked through three subsequent Monday night shoots. But Narverud Cleaners emerged the post-season qualifier by beginning August with a 119-95 win over Thief River Glass, while Sjoberg's Cable was losing to Woodmen Construction 119-116.

The top six First Half Season teams will be joined by Second Half Season qualifiers in the city championship shoot later this summer.

Fund-raiser aids aviary

Employees of Oakland Park Nursing Home are sponsoring a walkathon to raise funds toward the establishment of an aviary in the home. About $4,000 has been raised to date with about $2,000 more needed to make the project a reality.

Administration and staff of Oakland Park believe the residents would enjoy the color and activity of birds in the aviary and are eager to complete the fund drive and have the case installed.

Oakland Park employees will pick up pledge sheets at the administrative office in the home and seek either pledges or cash donations for completing the approximately five-mile walk on Wednesday, August 18, starting at 4:30 p.m.

The walk will begin at the parking lot by the nursing home and continue down Oakland Park Road to highway 32. It will follow the highway to Zeh street, then follow Zeh to the city power plant and follow the Riverwalk across the dam to Discovery Place child care center. Walkers will then retrace their route back to Oakland Park.

While employees will be contacting people for donations or pledges, persons who know an Oakland Park employee and would like to contribute to the aviary fund are encouraged to contact the employee and make a donation.

Incentives for participation are being provided to the employees by Pizza Hut, McDonald's, China King restaurant, Taco John's, the Dairy Queen store, Corner Drug and Joppru's Meat Service.

News director finds missing TRF resident

A 72-year-old man reported missing last Friday was found driving his car near the Thief River Falls airport Thursday evening.

Terry Bayne, news director for KKAQ/KKDQ in Thief River Falls, remembered receiving a report of the missing man the day before when he observed the car described in the report driving near the airport.

"I was fortunate enough to be the one to find Israelson driving his Pacer on the airport road (County road 17). I had been out to my mother-in-laws with my wife and little girl, and we were going to go to Grand Forks to visit my parents. We left my mother-in-laws house in Rocksbury township at about 7:30 p.m., and we were going west on County road 56 when I noticed an older looking brown Pacer heading north on the airport road or County road 17. I remembered from my news story earlier in the day that the license number of the vehicle should have read 206-GGA. I pulled in behind the vehicle, which was only going bout 30-miles per hour and I read the license plate as being the same."

Bayne then went to the airport and called the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls, telling them what he had observed. He then went after Israelson and stopped his vehicle by pulling in front of the vehicle.

Israelson was coherent but said he had blacked out and didn't remember where he had been and didn't know where he was. He said the last time he remembered eating anything was six days ago. He agreed to go back to the airport with Bayne where they called the law enforcement center. Sheriff Gerald Moe and Deputy Ben Kuznia then came out to the airport.

TRF ProLawn operator faces felony charge

Charges of felony theft are pending against Scott Alan Strande of Thief River Falls following an investigation into the theft of money from ProLawn.

Strande, 31, was operating a satellite operation in Thief River Falls for ProLawn of Fosston. According to the criminal complaint, he is alleged to have opened a savings account, depositing company checks in the account and then withdrawing funds with a cash card for his personal use. Police in Thief River Falls received a complaint from the owner of ProLawn on July 24. The amount of money missing has been estimated at over $10,000.

RCMP charges Mahnomen casino workers

Nineteen employees of the Shooting Star Casino were arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) while returning to Mahnomen aboard a bus from the Rat Portage First Nation Territory, according to an article in the Becker County Record.

According to the article, officials of the casino termed the visit to the Rat Portage First Nation Territory as a vacation, but while they were there, the employees apparently worked at a common gaming house on tribal property. The employees were charged by the RCMP with violating the Immigration Act of Canada by failing to have a work authorization permit.

They appeared before a provincial justice of the peace that day, pleaded guilty and were fined $250 each, according to the article.

Rat Portage tribal council has protested the arrests, fines and outstanding arrest warrants with the Ontario government. Currently the tribal council is negotiating for a permit to operate a gambling casino. The permit has not be issued yet.

Warrants for the arrest of President of the Gaming World International, Angelo Medure, and three other Gaming World officials, Ed D'onofrio, Jack Howes, and Lee Garner have been issued by the RCMP, according to the article. The article also states that Medure expects the arrest warrants will be dropped and the fines paid by the 19 employees returned.

Search and rescue dive team and law enforcement officials assisted the Thief River Falls Utilities department in locating and removing an obstruction from in front of the dam. Utilities Superintendent Arlo Rude explained that power plant operators were in the process of putting in some stop logs when the logs became blocked by an obstruction. Divers called to the scene discovered a metal "T" beam, which was about six inches deep and maybe as long as 10 feet or more. Rude speculated that over the years it could have drifted down from the old bridge, which was located near the dam. Divers were able to attach a rope to the beam but a utilities department boom truck was unable to budge the obstruction. Finally a tow truck from Hubert's was brought in and it was able to bend the beam away from the dam, but not move it. Rude said it posed no threat to the safety of residents above or below the dam. It's just a nuisance that will have to be watched in the future. Eventually the city might have to have a diver equipped with a blow torch cut the beam.

Crop forecast cut by adverse weather

"It's going to hurt their yield a little bit, but they'll probably make it up ten fold in discounts they'd otherwise receive if they left it in the hopper," Person said.

Plant pathology departments from North Dakota and Minnesota will work together, collecting wheat samples to determine toxin levels, Person said.

Scab can survive the winter on field residue. More people will probably bale the straw to eliminate the residue containing scab spores, Amundson said.

Weather

1993 has lagged behind in growing degree days. Cool temperatures are amiable for small grains, but row crops like corn, soybeans and sunflowers are slow to mature and grow in cool temperatures, Person said.

The rain has wreaked havoc on crops. Roseau county extension agent Sheldon "Snooky" Erickson reports that barley crops could yield from zero to 80 bushels per acre. "It's all over the board because of the wet condition," Erickson said. "There are some areas where the ditches are backed up, causing extreme damage."

Wet conditions exist throughout Northwest Minnesota. "The fields are pretty soft," said Ray Thompson, Marshall county extension agent. Unless we get some drying weather we're going to have problems getting machinery in the fields."

The weather has ravaged some row crops, such as edible beans, in Marshall county. From 30 to 100 per cent of edible bean crops have already died, Thompson said.

Extension agents reported that barley should be ready for harvest this weekend and early next week. "Normally we start harvesting barley the last week of July, but it has been so cool that the grain is slow to ripen. It fills longer, so it's good from that standpoint, but we're probably a few days behind normal harvest," Person said. Wheat will be ready for harvest across the region in one to three weeks.

Grass crops, significant crops in Roseau county, are currently being harvested. Most bluegrass has been harvested and timothy harvest should begin in the next week. Bluegrass harvest is average and the timothy harvest should be average to above average, said Charlie Lund, production manager at Norfarm Seeds, Inc.

The cool weather has put a damper on insects, and area extension agents said farmers had to do very little spraying.

Wheat prices

Prices for grains are all over the board. The increased need this year for high protein grain has split grain prices into a two-tier system between high and low protein (called any-protein) grain, Miller said.

Prices have been jumping all over the board with prices for high protein wheat ranging from $3.50 to $5.25. It is priced at $4 for August. Any-protein, non-milling wheat is $2.65. The price for any protein wheat has remained steady.

The majority of the wheat in this area, Miller said, falls in the any protein category. Last year 95 per cent of the wheat was any-protein.

Howard Person, Pennington county extension agent, holds wheat samples infected with scab. Scab has effected over 90 per cent of the wheat kernels in the wheat head on the left and only about 10 per cent of the wheat kernels on the right.

School building on schedule and budget

backfilled. The north and south parking lots have been built up to Class 5 level, awaiting installation of curb, gutter and blacktop surfacing.

Work is presently underway by Broce Contracting of Backus to erect the exterior walls of the building while foundations and supports for the interior walls are being poured. Work on the interior wall foundations is expected to be completed in about a week.

Lee Plumbing and Heating of Thief River Falls, which received the plumbing contract for the building, has begun installation of that system. Hanson Electric of Bemidji has begun its work on site installing electrical components of the project and Hammerlund Construction of Grand Rapids is installing the underground utilities.

Scope of the construction project is mind boggling to the casual observer. The $10 million school which will house approximately 1,000 students from pre-school through grade five will have 140,000 square feet of interior space. It will have about 2,500 lineal feet—nearly half a mile—of exterior wall, miles of pipe for its water and plumbing systems and more than 40 contractors employed on its various construction phases.

To prepare the site required approximately 120,000 cubic yards of earth moving, including the hauling in of about 40,000 yards of fill material. A spokesman for Thygeson Construction company of Thief River Falls, which shared the contract for site preparation, said the school district may have saved as much as $100,000 by having suitable fill material available within a couple of miles of the site at the Van Swanson and Henry Olson properties.

The fill raised the school building, parking lot and playground site by about four feet above existing grade.

"Without heavy rains, progress of the project over the next few weeks should be significant," Supt. Duncan said, "and people viewing the project should notice the exterior of the building beginning to take shape. Barring unforeseen happenings such as adverse weather, plans are to have the exterior block walls of the building completed in about three months."

The building will utilize geothermal heating and cooling which will require the drilling of 560 holes to a depth of 150 feet and looping flexible pipe to the bottom of each hole. A glycol solution will be circulated through the system to utilize the natural below ground temperature for both heating and air conditioning.

University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, ND, has named 440 students to the President's roll of honor for the 1993 spring semester.

The UND President's roll of honor recognizes outstanding academic achievement over the course of the student's complete academic career. Area students named to the honor roll include the following: Pamela Marie Bachand of Brooks; Corey Allen Harbott of Newfolden, Jonathon Michael Weiss of Red Lake Falls, and Michael Todd Jensen and Sharon Joy Leister of Thief River Falls.

Members give Hartz Foods new life

Board's recommendation for dissolution is rejected by 70 per cent at a meeting of members here Thursday

Voting the consensus opinion that "Hartz Foods' future is our future," members of the Hartz Foods cooperative headquartered in Thief River Falls rejected a recommendation by its board of directors that the cooperative be dissolved.

The special meeting of members had been called by the board to present information on the operation and condition of the company and to have the members vote on the dissolution question.

After approximately four hours of questions and discussion, the vote was conducted with a "yes" vote in favor of the dissolution and a "no" vote in opposition to ending the company's operations. Seventy per cent of the approximately 140 members in attendance and 100 per cent of the proxy votes cast by those not in attendance were opposed to the dissolution—a combined total of 77 per cent opposed.

Members and management agreed that the tone of the meeting was good with everyone being given an opportunity to be heard and discussion conducted in an orderly fashion.

At a meeting of the board of directors following the membership meeting, resignations were accepted from board members Doug Lindner of Warroad, Ben Sitter of Grafton, ND; Larry Swenson of Cooperstown, ND; and Ron Nelson of Thief River Falls.

Appointed to the board were store owners Doreen Bjerknes of Mark's Hartz in Erskine, Lynette Jelle of Grygla Hartz and Rick Noreen of Rick's Hartz in Portland, ND.

Continuing on the board are Tom Lucca of International Falls, Bob Stoner of Bismarck, ND and Dr. Tom Clifford of Grand Forks, ND. Lucca and Nelson were the two board members who had voted against dissolution of the company.

"I have always been positive about the potential for Hartz Foods," Lucca—who has been a board member for four years—told the Northern Watch by phone Friday morning. "The old board was great, but this was something that had to come. With a new board and new direction we can get our battle plan made.

"I'm convinced that the situation can and will work and that we are on the road back up. The small grocer believes in Hartz and wants to give back to the company the support that the company has given them."

Nelson had been named to the board earlier this year and also feels there is ample opportunity for the company to serve its members and be profitable. He said his resignation was due to the amount of time he knows will be required of the board in its transition and that he can not neglect his own business to that extent.

Nelson said he was surprised by the extent of support from the members and viewed that as an especially positive position for a "new beginning" for the company.

"The opportunity for a turnaround has never been better," he said, citing a study conducted by an outside management firm which had outlined methods which could be used as guidelines for future management.

Norm Feske, who had served as president and CEO of the company since January and had resigned effective July 26, has agreed to continue on at the request of the board in an advisory position during the transition. Dave Johnson, former vice president and acting president since Feske's resignation became effective, will also continue as interim president while a search for a new CEO is conducted.

The membership meeting was open only to members, but information presented included a press release from Mayor Bob Reeve of Thief River Falls, a hand-out prepared by the company's employees and a verbal assurance from Roy Niemi of Duluth, secretary of the Teamsters Union, that the union would work in a cooperative manner with the company.

Dave Johnson presided at the meeting and reviewed the company's situation and the purpose of the meeting.

In a conversation with the Northern Watch Friday morning, Johnson and Feske, as well as corporate secretary Steve Olson, said they foresee "exciting and positive things in the future" for Hartz Foods. They said the company has 212 eligible voting members but serves about 240 stores throughout its territory.

Doug Lindner, owner of Doug's Hartz in Warroad and a member of the board since February, said he was the first to submit his resignation at the board meeting Thursday. He left the meeting after his successor was appointed, he said, believing that he had no further purpose for being there.

"I believe the board has done everything it could to go in a clear and precise direction," he said, "but the uncontrollable factors were too great to expect any long term continued success.

Hearing held on loan for roof repair

Karlstad — No one from the general public was on hand apparently when the Karlstad city council met in special session for a public hearing to discuss the application for a $100,000 loan to work on the roof of the Karlstad Memorial Nursing Center. An architect has now been contacted and all legal aspects of the decision fulfilled. (North Star News)

Stephen — Through the efforts of LeRoy Sundby and Helen Avery, Stephen now has a Burlington Northern caboose. The caboose will be making its permanent home in the north end of Stephen's Railroad park. Experts have advised that the caboose be sandblasted before being painted to assure that the paint lasts. Estimates indicate that this will cost nearly $1,600. Anyone interested in more information may contact Helen Avery or Tammi Anderson of Stephen. (Messenger)

County engineer cuts budget by $1,000,000

Kittson County — Kittson County Engineer Craig Kvalo rendered the commissioners nearly speechless with his announcement that he was asking for a 1994 budget reduction of one million dollars. Kvale said that the amount of road and bridge construction in 1993 was higher than normal, which resulted in a higher than normal budget, but that he wouldn't want to deal with that kind of construction program every year. Long history of Hartz had modest start Story goes that L.B. Hartz began his business career at the age of eight by selling vegetables in Duluth door-to-door on his bicycle. On Thursday, August 12, 1993, six years after his death, stockholders faced with an offer to dissolve the company by the board of directors, voted to keep the company operating.

Before opening the Hartz Cash Store in Middle River in 1927, L.B. Hartz was involved in many business endeavors, including the purchase and sale of bankrupt stock. After the sale of a store in Roseau, he moved his business to Middle River and formed the Hartz Cash stores, opening stores in Warroad, Badger and Roseau. He soon added a store in McIntosh and by 1931, there were Hartz stores in Stephen, Greenbush and Thief River Falls. The Hartz grocery store in Thief River Falls realized more than $70,000 in sales in the first year.

In Thief River Falls, he rented the old Trinity Church building and later the Thief River Creamery building for storage space. In 1937, the first warehouse was built on the Great Northern Tracks.

The company continued to grow, showing profits every year of operation. Sales volume for the year of 1981 exceeded $50 million.

About that time Hartz arranged for the formation of a cooperative whereby his store owners would become owners of the company through credits for purchases of merchandise. The year ending September 30, 1981, showed a return of $460,000 to members in company profits and the employee payroll for that year totaled $2,843,000.

After the death of L.B. Hartz on March 25, 1987, Sheldon Knutson became president of the company. In February of 1991, he announced his retirement and Everett Kompelien became president. Kompelien had been with the organization since 1956. At that time they had about 105 full-time employees.

Hartz Foods has been fending off rumors of buyouts and financial losses for the past couple of years. In October of 1992, it announced a purchasing affiliation with Scrivner Foods, Inc. of Oklahoma City, OK. Kompelien emphasized the purchasing affiliation involved no change in ownership of Hartz Foods and no outside money. There was also no financial investment required on the part of Hartz Foods to enter into the contractual agreement. There was a 280-store member network at the time.

In November of 1992, the Hartz Foods store, known as Ken's Hartz, in downtown Thief River Falls closed. It was the first time since 1931 that the company was without a company store in Thief River Falls.

In December of 1992, Hartz Foods management announced a salary and benefits cut. The announcement was made following approval of a plan to implement a restructuring plan.

Everett Kompelien retired as president late in 1992. On January 25, Norm Feske of Fargo became chief executive officer of Hartz Foods, Inc. As of July 26, 1993, Feske resigned, but is currently assisting in transition until the company can find another chief executive officer.

Attractions added to Cultural Festival

Attractions continue to be added to the All Nations Cultural Festival to take place Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 20, 21 and 22 at Island Park in St. Hilaire, according to organizer Ed Leeper of Thief River Falls.

"As the dates get closer I am finding more and more people interested in becoming involved," Leeper said late this week. "It is shaping up to be a very entertaining family event with a lot of activity and entertainment for all ages.

"The city of St. Hilaire has just been outstanding in its cooperation and preparation for this event," he added, "and that spirit has extended out to a number of area communities. The festival seems to be creating quite a little excitement over a fairly wide area."

Admission to the events scheduled from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily will be $6 for adults and $2 for children age 12 and younger.

Leeper said that among the special features will be the Darrell Auginash family from the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians which plans to roast and serve buffalo as well as offer walleye, fry bread and wild rice. Native dances will also be presented and an historic encampment arranged.

The presentation by Helen Chervestad of Oklee and Ethel Wiseth of Goodridge entitled "Down Memory Lane—Norway" will include a 16x22-foot painting by Mrs. Wiseth of the Telemark area of Norway. They will also display a 200-year-old Hardanger eight string fiddle, be attired in Norwegian costumes and involve five couples in the dancing.

One family has informed Leeper that it will attend dressed in traditional German costume. Persons with such costumes of their native

Young's Store has 'generally' everything

"If We Don't Have It, You Don't Need It" is appropriate slogan for Middle River's only remaining retail store

by Mark Olson
Staff Writer

"If we don't have it you don't need it," states a yellowing sign in Young's General Store.

Middle River's lone store, serving a population of 285, backs its boast. The store's shelves hold enough merchandise to keep a pair of eyes busy for a week.

Supplies run floor to ceiling. Every nook and every cranny serves as a department-for-something: baby clothes, boots, men's clothes, hardware, toys, groceries, candy, crystal, fabric, plumbing, pharmaceuticals and on and on and on.

"Do we have anything shorter than one and one-half inch roofing nails?!" echoed a voice across the store. Steve Holm, employee and son-in-law of family patriarch Howard Young disappeared in the store maze and reappeared. "All fixed up," he said with a smile under his mustache.

Howard Young's father, Henry, opened the store around 1907. In earlier years the store sold International Harvester equipment and provided embalming services.

Young has been involved with the store his entire life "I was brought up in it and just..."

"One day at a time — that's how I operate," said Young, with his thick white hair ablaze. "I'm 78 years old and feel good. What more can I ask for," he said.

Across the street at the Rex Cafe, waitresses give glowing reviews of Young. "He's kept a lot of people afloat in hard years (by allowing long-standing charges)," one waitress said. "He's very generous," said another waitress. People tell stories of Young visiting children in hospitals and bringing them fruit.

"People are different," Young said. "Some people will step on your neck. Not one of us is better than anyone else. Treat em' all alike."

"Howard is truly a very caring person," said Sally Gentry, Middle River city clerk. "He does things for people that are not heralded. I don't think a function goes on in Middle River that, in one form or another, Young's Store hasn't taken part in."

"Times have changed," Young said. He pointed to the "Owners vote Thursday on Hartz Foods future" headline in last Wednesday's issue of The Times. "A lot of small stores depend on that... Years ago it was Gamble Robinson."

Researcher discovers new insect at Itasca Park

Itasca — A new species of insect, important to the food chain and aquatic life, was recently discovered in Itasca State Park. Margot Monson, a graduate student at the University of Minnesota, discovered the new species of caddisfly in Nicollet Creek, which runs through the park. The insect helps to keep the water system clean by eating decaying plant and animal material. Although it is considered fairly common to discover a new species of insect in the tropics, it is rather unusual in this climate. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Since fall and apple season are soon upon us, we have some apple recipes for you today.

APPLE PIE

Crust

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cup lard (or shortening)
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons water

Cut lard into flour and salt until flour is well coated. Gently cut in butter. Add water, mixing lightly with fork. Press into ball with hands.

Filling

4 cups diced apples
1 1/4 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
dash cinnamon

Mix sugar, salt and cinnamon. Add apples and mix. Place in pastry-lined pie pan and dot with chunks of butter. Place top crust and cut slits in it. Top crust may be brushed with milk and then sprinkled with extra cinnamon and sugar, if desired.

Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes and then at 300 to 325 degrees for 45 minutes, until crust is golden and filling is bubbling.

If you don't have time for apple pie, you might like to try this easy apple dessert:

APPLE PUDDING

6 apples
1 cup sugar
1 cup water

Slice apples into saucepan. Add sugar and water and cook for 5 minutes.

Crust

1/2 cup butter
1 cup flour
1/2 cup brown sugar

Mix together to form crumb mixture.

Pour apple mixture into 9x13 pan. Sprinkle crumb mixture on top. Bake 30 to 40 minutes at 350, until topping is browned.

These bars are as good as pie, but easier to make:

Crust

2 cups flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening (half butter)
2 egg yolks (save whites for filling)

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening, then 2 egg yolks. Mixture will be crumbly.

Press half into 15x10 or 9x13 pan. Reserve remaining crust.

Filling

4 cups pared, cored, sliced apples
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 egg whites, slightly beaten

Combine all filling ingredients except egg whites. Arrange over bottom crust. Sprinkle with remaining crust and brush with egg whites.

Oake for 35 minutes at 350. May be drizzled with thin powdered sugar glaze, if desired.

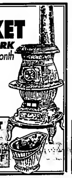
Thank You

We wish to thank everyone who has so generously offered expressions of comfort and support to our family since the death of our precious Logan. We are fortunate to live in a community where people work so hard to help one another. Thank you to all who sent cards or brought food or lent us a shoulder to cry on. What you have done for us has sustained us while our hearts are broken with a pain we never could have imagined.



Thank you to the Law Enforcement Center personnel for your dedication and training to be able to respond so quickly when needed, and to Drs. Bray and Patel and everyone at Northwest Medical Center and ambulance for doing everything humanly possible. Thank you to Karen Gladen and Pastor Don Pederson for waiting with our children during the uncertain hours and to Pastor Neil Gladen who seemed never to leave our side.

Thank you to Pastors Gladen and Pederson for Logan's funeral service and to the members of The Redeemer's Band - Paula Adamson, Dave Sisler, Greg Dally, Joel Johnson, Karen Gladen and Neil Gladen for your special kind of music that Logan always enjoyed. Thank you, too, to Joyce Halbasch and Paula Adamson for your beautiful organ-piano duets, and to the Redeemer Innkeepers for providing the lunch. Thank you to everyone at Green's Funeral Home for your care and consideration.

Thanks especially to Logan's friends at Sunday School and Nursery School and to all who loved him, for being his friends. He learned many lessons about the goodness of people, because people were so good to him. Thanks for tractor rides, for chats by the mailbox, for special hair cuts, for letting him carry packages to the house, and for answering his many questions about how things work. Logan loved people, he loved life and we miss him.

Your Friends in Christ,
Duane, Suzanne, Ryan, Megan, Colin, Nathan and Caitlin Browning

Do these drawings shock you?

They would if you could see them all. But the Thief River Falls Times won't let us show them all to you.

The drawings illustrate a gruesome new abortion technique being used in the second and third trimesters of pregnancy.

The abortionist removes the baby as far as the head and then suctions out the brain. This allows the head to be more easily removed—and it also allows easy access to fetal brain tissue for transplantation.

The technique (called D&X) was described by Dr. Martin Haskell at a September, 1992 meeting of the National Abortion Federation, a trade association of abortion providers.

Haskell said he personally has done 700 of these "procedures."

Congress is considering the "Freedom of Choice Act" (FOCA), a bill that would protect the practice of abortion at all stages and would lead to an increase in the use of this grisly procedure.

There is no "nice" way to do an abortion.

But if you are particularly shocked by the brutality described here, please ask your U.S. Congressman and two Senators to oppose the radical FOCA—(1-202-224-3121).

Guided by ultrasound, the abortionist grabs the baby's leg with forceps.

The baby's leg is pulled out into the birth canal.

Censored

The abortionist delivers the baby's body, except for the head.

Censored

The abortionist jams scissors into the baby's skull and opens them to enlarge the wound

Censored

The scissors are removed and a suction catheter is inserted. The baby's brains are sucked out and his or her body is "evacuated."

Illustrations depicted are adapted from drawings appearing in the February issue of "Life Advocate."

To The Editor:

As a parent I felt I owed it to other loving parents who care about their children's welfare to warn them of President Clinton's proposal that will definitely attack parental rights and family privacy.

The Clinton Administration is leading a bi-partisan effort in the House and Senate to implement a one billion dollar program to vaccinate all children in the U.S. This proposal would create a nationwide tracking system that would require all children to be registered at birth in a centralized computer databank.

The "Comprehensive Child Immunization Act" (S732 and 733) was introduced on April 1, 1993, by Senator Ted Kennedy and Senator Don Riegle. The House version of the bill (H.R. 1640) was introduced by Congressman Henry Waxman.

At first glance, a proposal for universal vaccination might seem like a very positive step for America's children. The truth behind the pro-immunization rhetoric is that the Clinton proposal would transfer the responsibility for the medical are of children from the family to the state.

Kennedy spokesman Dr. Keith Powell said that a primary goal of the bill was to create "a registry with the capacity to do tracking and surveillance." Regarding enforcement mechanisms against parents who withhold some vaccinations from their children, Powell stated that the law would be designed so that "if a child does not show up and get a vaccination, bells and whistles will go off."

Genuine issues exist regarding vaccine efficacy and safety. Seizures, retardation and death are only a few of the many potential "side effects." The National Vaccine Information Center recently announced that 17,221 adverse reactions to vaccines were reported to the Food and Drug Administration during a 20-month period that ended in July 1992.

There is a lack of evidence that vaccines may be consistently relied upon to confer immunity. In fact, of all reported cases of measles in the U.S. in 1984, more than 58 per cent of the school age children were "adequately" vaccinated. Some studies even show that a virus may be more likely to be contracted by those who are vaccinated against it than by those who are left alone.

....since its introduction in 1963, the live oral polio vaccine is the only source of polio in this country. In other words, the oral polio vaccine is the cause of the very disease it was designed to prevent.

On Feb. 15, 1993, the "Wall Street Journal" reported that a New York judge ruled that failure to immunize a pre-school child constitutes child abuse. A father was found neglectful because he declined, for religious reasons, to allow his daughter to be vaccinated against measles, although the judge specifically found he was a "diligent, loving and concerned parent" in all other regards. In (another) circumstance, after a Middletown, Ohio, woman whose two children were killed by the DPT vaccine refused to vaccinate her only surviving child, officials from the Ohio Department of Health sent her warning letters that she must vaccinate the child.

If any of the vaccination bills become federal law, parents who choose not to immunize can be found guilty of neglect in a court of law and have their children removed from the home by the Department of Social Services and placed in state custody.

Ira Magaziner, a Clinton Administration health care policy official, asserted that the President wants "to create an integrated system with a card that everyone will get at birth." Under the Clinton National Immunization Tracking System, every registered newborn child in America will be monitored through a national database linked to other database systems....One need not have a vivid imagination to see that this tracking system opens the floodgates for potentially devastating governmental intrusion into the family.

Sincerely,
Kim L. Kazmierczak

After 25 Years Of Writing, Helen Calls It Quits

For the past quarter of a century, Mrs. Orlando (Helen) Chervestad has been writing the River Valley News for The Times. That used to seem like a lot more years to this editor than it does now, but it is still a long period of dedicated and devoted service.

"After 25 years of writing the news, this will be the last time," Helen writes as a conclusion to her last submission of River Valley news. "I have enjoyed all the interesting news and will miss visiting with all of you by telephone. News from home is very interesting to many folks far and near to read every week in your local papers. The River Valley news was started by Mrs. John L. Radniecki of rural Trail, Mrs. Otella Mandt and Mrs. Roman Radniecki of Oklee."

Helen was ever in tune to her neighborhood in the area of the River Valley bridge. She was a true rural correspondent for The Times, not only writing the news of her area but alerting us at the Times' office to news happenings in the community that would be of special interest to us or suggesting people who might—and usually did—make interesting feature subjects.

We have appreciated Helen's efforts over the years and hope that she will continue to keep us in mind and informed even though Kathy Dulka has taken over the responsibilities of gathering and reporting the River Valley news. We want to publicly thank her, and the other rural correspondents who take a keen interest in their communities and informing others about them.

There is an occasional trend in modern journalism to downplay the contribution of rural correspondents. The trendists cite limited readership, sometimes unprofessional writing skills and devotion of valuable space which might be devoted to more profitable use as reasons for their opinions. They cite these perceived shortcomings as though they are making some great new discovery.

What they show is that they know a lot less about what readers prefer than Helen does. "News from home is very interesting to many folks far and near," are Helen's exact words, and she is exactly right. When people are able to read about the folks they know, they aren't very often concerned about Pulitzer Prize winning prose. It is enough to have contact and information.

Much like Helen Chervestad of River Valley and Rebecca Solem of the Steiner news area, although perhaps not as long, our correspondents help us give our total readership a total product that they want to read. That's one of the nice things about a newspaper—you can read what interests you and skip the rest. And few things engender as many calls about our product as concern about what's happening with news written by our correspondents. Thanks again, Helen and those like you for your hard work. And good luck Kathy and those like you who take on a new task that pays pennies per hour with all the zeal and enthusiasm you can muster. Your readers, and ours, are indebted to you.

Peterson Votes Against President's Budget Bill

Our compliments to Congressman Collin Peterson for having the courage of his convictions to vote against the recent budget bill which passed the U.S. House and Senate with a scant three-vote total margin. The President's own party—the party to which Rep. Peterson belongs—has a 94 member majority in the two houses of Congress.

It was widely reported prior to the vote that the President and Congressional leadership had mustered enough supporters for passage. Given the expectation that the legislation would pass anyway, it would have been possible for Peterson to curry party favor by casting his vote with the narrow majority. He chose not to take that route.

"I voted for the President's budget on its first time through Congress in the hope that we could fix it," the Congressman said in a recent press release. "The budget that came out of the conference committee was not fixed and, in fact, was in worse shape than the original plan. For that reason, last night I cast my vote against the reconciliation bill."

Rep. Peterson added the following comments:

"We must cut spending and reduce the deficit in a way that's fair to everyone. Many of the provisions of the President's original program did just that. Unfortunately, politics and gamesmanship by negotiators from the Ways and Means committee undermined many parts of the President's original deficit reduction plan.

"The conference committee returned us to business-as-usual by cutting deals with special interest groups. For example, at the last minute, they exempted commercial airlines from the 4.3-cent gasoline tax while the rest of general aviation—private pilots and spray pilots—will have to pay. I suppose this was done to secure an additional vote to pass the plan. The policy reason given was to help a financially-troubled industry, but truckers have as much financial trouble as the airline industry. They aren't exempt from this gas tax. This is just one of the many examples where the final bill was not fair.

"....We need to move beyond partisan politics and do what's right in terms of truly meaningful deficit reduction and real tax fairness. That failed to happen last night, but I hope that in the future I can work with the Administration and a bi-partisan group of members of Congress to build an economic program that cuts the deficit, reduces spending and builds a tax code that helps all of us."

The bill's narrow passage despite a large party line majority of potential votes, and the fact that it failed to attract a single vote from the opposition party, would indicate that it isn't a good bill.

Washington Post columnist David Broder makes a key point: "...Do not be distracted by all the blather about $496 billion of 'real' deficit reduction, supposedly guaranteed by being set aside in an untouchable trust fund to 'buy down' the national debt. The House Budget committee—in Democratic hands—estimates that if all goes according to the Clinton plan, the debt will go up—not down—by $887 billion in the next four years."

The bill apparently offers little in means of boosting the national economy. "The claimed $63 billion in savings on Medicare and Medicaid comes entirely out of hospitals and other health care providers," Broder adds. "As in the past, those costs will simply be shifted onto the bills of their other patients—a nice dodge for the government but no help to the country."

It would seem that in this vote Rep. Peterson voted not only his own convictions but those of most of his constituency. That probably made the decision easier. But it's never easy for a Congressman to go against his party's leadership, and we feel he deserves credit for that.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

If Bill Clinton had not been so generous with our money like squandering three billion dollars on a gift to Russia we wouldn't have to wonder where the money is coming from to aid our own flood victims.

Our gutless politicians could cut down on some of their perks and wasteful pork spending and they wouldn't have to raise our taxes to pay for flood relief.

Yours Truly,
Arnold Honl

Warren man charged with sex crimes

Don Loeslie, a Warren, MN, farmer has been charged with criminal sexual conduct involving a female juvenile in 1986.

Polk County Attorney Cindy Ostlie, said Loeslie was arrested Wednesday on eight counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and eight counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct, which stem from two separate incidents involving the same juvenile female.

Although the incident is alleged to have occurred at Loeslie's farm home in Marshall County, Marshall County prosecutors have excused themselves from the case because of a conflict of interest. Polk county prosecutors were then appointed to handle the case.

Loeslie appeared before Ninth District Judge John Roue Wednesday in Crookston. He was released on his promise to appear at a hearing set for Monday in Crookston.

Ellen Haymond, Alicia Borneman, Brenda Koparl, and Katie Hegen show off their tops and shorts sewn during Annette's Fabrics Kids Can Sew Day Camp. The camp was held July 6 through Friday July 9 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. completing both shorts and tops during the four two hour sessions. Other youngsters who attended the camp but were not pictured include Lindsey Anderson, Sarah Zak, Sarah Altepeter and Alicia Lampe.

There was minor damage to the semi.

Hobart in concert at Westaker

Claire Hobart, musician, composer and a missionary to the blind in Mexico, who himself has been blind since birth, will present a concert at Westaker Free Lutheran Church of Newfolden Sunday, August 22, at 7:30 p.m.

An organ prelude will begin at 7 p.m. The concert will include numbers Hobart has composed for organ, piano and voice, Bible reading and description of his work at a school for the blind in Nueva Laredo, Mexico. His wife Norma will show slides of the school.

Arrangements are being made by Muriel Nelson of Newfolden whose late husband Arnold was guide and chauffeur for Hobart in the 1940s when Claire served as a missionary to migrant workers in the Red River Valley.

A freewill offering will be received for the school which operates solely on donations. The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served.

Hartz Foods gets vote to continue

"The study by the George S. May company did project the possibility of profitable operation, if everything goes perfectly, based on a number of assumptions, including increased sales. But what ever goes perfectly?"

Johnson and Feske noted the support of board member Ron Nelson throughout his board service, and strong support from Greg Larson of Jubilee Foods, for which Hartz Foods is the major supplier, as being especially appreciated.

They also commended the employees for coming together in a cohesive group and making an effort to keep the company in operation. Employees in general said they were greatly relieved by the membership's decision and the chance for the company to continue.

Text of Mayor Reeve's news release which was read at the meeting follows:

The City Council and economic development leaders in the Community have been aware of the fact that Hartz Foods, Inc. has been under financial stress for some time. The potential for the closure of Hartz Foods, the loss of jobs and the resulting impacts on the employees and their families, has concerned us greatly.

Hartz Foods has been a significant factor in the economy and an important part of the tax base in Thief River Falls for 70 years. It has been both a major employer and a good corporate citizen.

During the past 10 years or so, the City Council, County Board, the Community Development Advisory Board and Jobs, Inc. have consistently considered working with existing industry to be the most effective way to strengthen the economic base of the Community. Arctco, Digi-Key, Bridgemans/Land O'Lakes, Hydra-Mac, Forsbergs, Northern Pride, Northern Woodwork and Independent Machine Service, to mention a few, are all examples of local industries that have benefited from incentive programs administered by the City.

In the past 7 years the Community Development Advisory Board, who administers our incentive programs, or staff have met with Hartz management on at least three occasions. These meetings involved discussions as to how Hartz Foods might take advantage of low interest loans through the Local Enterprise Zone. For a number of reasons, Hartz Foods did not pursue these incentives.

We had hoped that their restructuring moves over the past 12 to 18 months would produce the positive financial results needed. We have monitored their progress as closely as we could so we would be positioned to work with them if the opportunity presented itself.

I wish to assure Hartz Foods employees and the Community as a whole that the City Council, economic development leaders and our staff will do everything we possibly can to assist. We will gladly entertain any reasonable requests from the stockholders, management or Hartz Foods employees.

Conference on aging deadline is Aug. 19

Deadline to register to attend the 19th annual conference of the Northwest Regional Development Commission's Area Agency on Aging is August 19, according to Faith Rud, NWAAA director and conference coordinator.

Registration information is included on brochures available at senior centers throughout northwestern Minnesota or at the agency's office in Thief River Falls.

"The conference entitled 'Celebration of SENIORITY' will provide educational workshops and a variety of activities to empower seniors to live dignified and independent lives," Rud said, but preregistration is required or a noon meal can not be guaranteed.

"Purpose of the Older Americans Act, Minnesota Board on Aging and NWRDC Area Agency on Aging is to empower seniors to live the active, independent lifestyles they desire," Rud added. "We know that knowledge is power. The conference is an opportunity to gain more knowledge."

Seniors age 60 and older are encouraged to contact the agency and request a scholarship available through VFW Post 2793. Requests should be submitted as soon as possible.

1993 Post 117 American Legion baseball review...

Record highlights TRF season

Thief River Falls fell short of its state tournament goals during the recently-completed 1993 American Legion baseball season, but a 31-10 record still put the ball club in pretty good company.

Post 117 made its first state tournament trip in 38 years last summer en route to a 29-13 finish. With a number of players returning off that squad, Thief River Falls carried the roll of Ninth District favorite through the 1993 season. And they looked like a solid choice to repeat while winning 19 of their first 21 games.

But success didn't come so easy in the second half of the season, which produced just an 11-8 finish.

Still, the 31 wins rank second on the all-time Post 117 list, trailing only a 36-10 showing in 1982. Howard Dalager has served as Thief River Falls American Legion head coach the past five years, with his teams compiling a 128-73 won-loss record during that time.

Dalager acknowledged disappointment in not making a second straight state tournament trip, but he wasn't going to dwell on it. "There's no sense in putting any negatives in the paper," said Dalager. "We want to remember the positive. The 31-10 record was the biggest highlight – a real high for me as a coach. We didn't expect it."

Fatigue, both physical and mental, might have played a part in the declining winning percentage over the second half of the 1993 Legion season, offered Dalager. A majority of the players were part of a longer-than-usual 26-game high school baseball program that resulted in a Section 8AA runner-up finish for the Prowlers this spring. The 41-game Legion schedule began days after the high school season ended – resulting in some 67 baseball games over a four-month period.

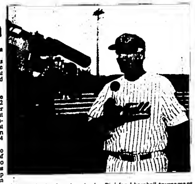
"I'm not making excuses," said Dalager, "but coming off a successful high school season, the kids were still keyed up. It carried over through the first part of the Legion season. But in the second half, the kids just didn't seem to have that same.....drive, or urgency. I'm guessing they probably had enough baseball."

Thief River Falls began defense of its Ninth District Division I title with wins over Perham 8-0 and Roseau 9-6, but then bowed out of the double-elimination event with losses to Fergus Falls 8-4 and Moorhead 7-2.

"We don't have to apologize for the tournament losses," said Dalager. "We lost to a couple of very good teams – facing their No. 1 pitchers. We're not ashamed of our performance. We just got outplayed, that's all."

Carter Rogalla, who has signed a letter of intent to play baseball at the University of North Dakota next year, led Post 117 in hitting this summer with a .430 batting average (52-for-121). He also led Thief River Falls' offense during the 1993 high school baseball season with a .452 mark (33-for-73).

Others hitting .300 or better this summer were Steve Burslie, Wade Evenson and Robert Nelson, all at .333, David Blazek .322, and Nathan Knutson .314.



Post 117 hit .299 as a team.

Rick Ostby proved to be the team's No. 1 pitcher, going 10-2 with a 2.38 earned-run average over 72 innings of work. He struck out 46 and walked 21. Other top winners were Jeremy Olson, who went 7-1 with a 3.26 ERA, and Jayson Olson, who finished 5-1 with a 3.44 ERA.

Marc Haugen fared well in the role of a late-inning stopper out of the bullpen. Brian Minks, who worked his way into the line-up as the season progressed, would up with a team-leading 2.17 earned-run average.

Thief River Falls' line-up will have a much different look next summer since the nucleus of this year's squad completed their Legion eligibility in 1993, and Dalager, himself hinted at a change in the coaching staff assignments that also included Legion assistant Bill Moreau and Rick Looker, who coached the VFW 16-year-olds.

"I love baseball too much to quit, and we've got some real nice kids coming up," said Dalager. "But I'm maybe getting a little too old to run the program. I'd like to stay in the program, but I'd like to spread some of the responsibility around."

A Ninth District American Legion Division I baseball tournament win over Roseau last week in East Grand Forks netted air time for Thief River Falls coach Howard Dalager. Post 117 failed to successfully defend its 1992 title, but did finish 31-10 – the second-best record ever for the program. Dalager has been the Post 117 head coach the past five years.

Council discusses action to curb youthful offenders

Noise generated by youths gathering in various locations throughout the city of Thief River Falls is an issue that came before the Thief River Falls City Council Tuesday night.

Complaints coming from residents near the cul de sac on North Pine Avenue in Thief River Falls have reached the ears of the Mayor and members of the public safety committee. The solution offered to the council Tuesday was to recommend that the cul de sac curbs on Pine Avenue be painted yellow and posted for no parking. Members of the city council weren't ready to accept that resolution and tabled the discussion until the next council meeting.

Jean Heinrichs, alderman at large, said she had talked to representatives of the Pine Avenue pool and teenagers about the issue. She concluded that she didn't like the message it sends to teenagers.

Alderman John T. Anderson noted that it's a problem that won't go away just by painting the cul de sac yellow. They'll just move on to somewhere else, he said.

There's some validity in what Anderson said. Police Chief Ken Froschheiser noted that the teenagers had been chased from other locations, such as near a car wash on Highway 59 and some grocery store parking lots. As a result, he had four pages of warnings.

Anderson noted that the real problem for teenagers is that they don't have anywhere to go. To residents living near these areas, he said, it is either a noise problem or a garbage problem. It doesn't seem to be a parking problem.

Anderson suggested talking to the youths, but Chief Froschheiser noted the four pages of warnings and said they just won't listen. The reason for the yellow paint and no parking, he explained, is so that his officers have a legal means to take action. For an officer to enforce a noise complaint he has to hear the noise, or a citizen has to sign a citizen's complaint. Now, he said, the teenagers just turn down their stereos as soon as they see a squad car.

Alderman Milt Burstad, simply said it will take a lot of yellow paint to keep them moving. He was referring to the fact that there are a number of cul de sacs in the community as well as other places where teenagers with loud stereos can gather.

One alderman suggested that they be asked to move their meeting place to the parking lot at the sports arena.

Mayor Bob Reeve, who has received complaints about the noise, noted that the Pine Avenue cul de sac is a unique turn around area. It was built specifically to allow people to turn around and it was not designed for parking.

Mayor Reeve voted against a motion to table the issue, but the motion passed.

■ The park department will exceed its budget for mosquito spraying.

Without much discussion or hesitation, the council approved a recommendation to allow the park and recreation department to exceed their budget to purchase additional mosquito spray. Even before the city council meeting began, one of the main topics of discussion was mosquitoes. The wet weather the community has experienced this summer has provided perfect breeding grounds for mosquitoes.

Curt Howe, co-director of the park department, explained that his department has been spraying once a week on each side of the community. Currently, his budget for mosquito spray has been exceeded by over $2,300. Howe said he wanted permission to purchase at least an additional 60 gallons of Ultra Low Volume mosquito spray. Howe said he might also have to start spraying more times each week.

■ A recall of several bonds could mean a savings of between $150,000 to $200,000.

The council approved a recommendation to implement a plan to refund a number of the city's outstanding bond issues. The council approved a full advance refunding of the 1975, 1980, 1983 and 1986 improvement bonds and the 1975 water and sewer bonds, all of which are callable in late 1993 or early 1994. Based on estimates from a law firm hired by the city, the refunding should generate $150,000 to $200,000 in present value savings. To accomplish this the city would issue a refunding bond issue of about $1.35 million.

■ The fire hall needs repair.

The council agreed to proceed with the preparation of plans and specifications by the firm of Widseth, Smith and Nolting for roof and exterior wall repairs at the fire hall. According to Fire Chief Dave Bjorkman, insulation on the roof delaminated on the 15-year-old building causing expansion which pushed a wall out.

■ Residents asked to trim tree branches over sidewalks.

City residents are being asked to trim tree branches of trees on their property if they prevent people from using sidewalks. Curt Howe of the park and recreation department said staff from his department will begin cutting the branches themselves in the next week if they are not cut.

■ The council approves an early retirement incentive resolution.

The council approved a finance committee recommendation to adopt an early retirement incentive resolution. It was not the intent of the resolution to authorize any hospital, medical or dental insurance continuation benefit option for any city employees or former city employees. City employees who are eligible under laws 1993, chapter 192, would be authorized to accept and receive the multiplier percentage increase authorized by the legislation.

In other business, the council: received a present from the Mayor of Regina who's community sponsored the International War Veteran's Alliance this year; approved a management plan for the proposed downtown commercial and residential rehabilitation project; approved a recommendation to offer a 31 day extension to the low bid on the southeast storm sewer project; approved a request to have the Minnesota Department of Transportation office of Aeronautics to participate in a one and one-half inch bituminous overlay on a taxiway at the airport; approved a salary adjustment for Assistant Airport Manger Mark Josephson; approved a progression raise for Patrolman Jeff Nelson; ordered the preparation of proposed assessments for the Highway 32 project; ordered the preparation of assessments for the 1993 Sidewalk and Utility Improvement project; extended hours for Daryl Johnson and Mark Borahcim; approved a progression raise for Scott Beito; approved a parade permit for the rodeo on September 4 at 1:30 p.m.; approved requests for beer in Oakland Park by Bridgeman's on August 21, Elk's Lodge on August 22, and Arctco on August 28, and for the SnoDrifters in Oakland park and at the fairgrounds during the Rodeo; approved a request to hold the library ball in the city auditorium; approved a request to secure requests for proposals for consulting services to study the floor at Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center; approved a list of all Dutch Elm Disease trees; extended hours for Jim Kohler, accepted the resignation of Marian Ellingson, billing clerk; eliminated the senior billing clerk title; hired Diane Torblaa as a full-time billing clerk; approved a request to advertise for a part time billing clerk; approved a progression raise for Alan Newton, customer service representative.

Young's store generally has everything

Young said.

"Young's Store has not changed much in my lifetime," Gentry said. "It has grown, but it has always had the same atmosphere 40 years ago as today. (It hasn't changed) other than keep up with the times." A "Penny one full turn Nickel five full turns" bubble gum machine sits next to a Minnesota Lottery computer. Modem merchandise sits on worn hardwood floors.

The store has always carried the general line, but took up slack as other Middle River businesses went out of business. When Berg Drug went out of business Young's began selling over-the-counter drugs. When the hardware store went out of business Young's began selling hardware.

Howard works at the store with his daughters, Bobbi and Patsy and Bobbi's husband Steve. "The store is family-owned and family-run." Steve said. A total of eight employees work at the store. The store is open 365 days a year.

Customers constantly enter the store, buy this or that and leave. The customers and employees greet each other by first name and chew the fat. "A lot of people stop in just to see Howard," Steve said. "It's the hub of the community," Gentry said.

"We give 'em service," Howard said. The store delivers clothes to Thief River Falls for dry-cleaning. The employees will help people find their groceries and Young's Store offers delivery service to home-ridden people. "Like Howard said, 'full service,'" Holm repeated.

Young's General Store is the only store offering groceries in a 10 mile radius.

The store becomes an outpost for hunters. "It's just like a resort town when hunting season comes," Steve said. The store sells deer licenses and buys deer hides.

During deer hunting season the store is open extended hours and sells almost every necessary a hunter might need. Holm said the store has received requests for wool clothing from as far away as Crookston.

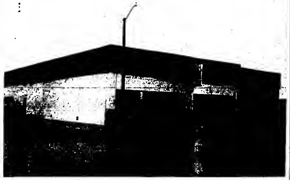
The store also specializes in clothes for large men — up to size 60 pants and 5X coats. The store stocks stacks of clothes, lesser-known brands as well as major brands. Accessories sit between the shelves — baseball hats which read "Pac Man" or "Middle River Goose Capital of the World," and suspenders ranging from camouflage to rainbow color.

A parade of suppliers is constantly entering and exiting the store with their goods. "It's the medicine man from Thief River Falls," Young yelled to the man stocking pharmaceuticals.

The store specializes in boots and hundreds of boots surround one aisle.

The store doesn't stock kitchen sinks, but it sells four varieties of kitchen faucets — "With sprayer or without and single handle or double handle," Holm said.

It takes a week to finish inventory in the 6,500 square feet store. "We're straightening up constantly — straightening up and stocking," Holm said. The biggest challenge, Holm said, is "shortage of time to get everything done. Otherwise everything goes pretty smoothly."



Outside the store sit two weathered wooden benches facing the Hans Lian Post 444 American Legion. People sit on the benches, watching people enter and leave the store.

Inside the store Young talks with some older customers, one wearing suspenders and seed cap. "Don't worry about the past. Live today. Isn't that right Ralph?"

Ralph nodded.

Young's Store is the "hub of the community," said Sally Gentry, Middle River city clerk. It is a hub commercially as well as socially. Two benches outside the store are frequently occupied by people watching customers go in and out (as pictured).

Serving the Middle River community for over eight decades, the Young General Store carries almost every kind of merchandise imaginable —from fabric to plumbing supplies.

"If we don't have it you don't need it" has long been the motto of Young's General Store in Middle River. The men's department contains clothes from floor to ceiling. The store specializes in large man's clothing, up to size 60 pants and 5X coats.

RLF man is injured in accident Tues.

Red Lake county sheriff's department responded to a report of a four-wheeler accident Tuesday in Red Lake Falls. Larry Weiss of Red Lake Falls was taken to Riverview Hospital in Crookston following the accident. According to the accident report, Weiss was riding the four-wheeler when it went out of control and rolled. The Red Lake County Sheriff's department is continuing its investigation of the accident.

According to staff at Riverview hospital in Crookston, Weiss was treated and released Tuesday.

Aasen Harvest Day to be August 29

Skime — Harvest days will be held again August 29 (weather permitting) at the Albert and Hazel Aasen farm in Skime. There will be a parade at 2 p.m. with many antique articles on display. Other events include horse and wagon rides, threshing, binder cutting and shocking. The Lumber Mill will be running and several other activities are being planned. (Grygla Eagle)

Fish waste to valuable compost

Erskine — An open house will be held August 24 at 1:30 and again at 7 p.m. to show the Fish Waste composter built by the Union Lake Sarah Campground with technical assistance from the Polk County Extension service and the University of Minnesota. If the weather is bad, the program will be postponed to the following day. The organization, has worked out a program for area resorts and fishermen to dispose of fish waste through their composter and will present this information at that time. (Erskine Echo)

There will be a Potato Day

Williams — A rather small delegation of enthuriasts gathered last Sunday to discuss whether the 40th annual Potato Day celebration will occur in the city of Williams. Those who attended have comprised the primary list of organizers for the past several years and were emphatic about the idea that the annual celebration, unique to the quarantine seed potato area surrounding Williams should continue. Plans for the October 9 event will be similar to past events with a morning parade, afternoon program at the former Williams school turned community center, coronation of a new Potato Day Queen and presentation of scholarships to last year's queen and runner-up. Planning a return trip to the Thief River Falls Stampede this year is Derek Clark of Colcord, OK. A member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association since 1980, he has been to the National Final Rodeo nine times as one of the top 15 saddle bronc riders in the world. He is shown in action at the Headwaters of the Mississippi rodeo in Park Rapids on the Fourth of July weekend. Clark told the Northern Watch Thursday night that he is looking forward to riding here again. His wife Angie will also be a competitor in the cowgirls barrel racing event.

Clark expects to become an old bronc rider

by Marvin Lundie
Times Editor

Derek Clark had a good reason to switch from bull riding to saddle bronc riding. "I know more old bronc riders than bull riders," he said, supplying the emphasis on the word "old."

It isn't like Clark picked up rodeo bronc riding on the spur of the moment (no pun intended). He represents the fourth generation of professional rodeoing in his family, and he represents it very well. When he climbs on a bronc he intends to stay in the saddle for a qualifying ride and put some money in his pocket.

He was the Oklahoma high school saddle bronc champion in 1978 and the national intercollegiate champion in 1984.

A couple of days ago the PRCA office showed Clark in sixth place in the world standings with earnings of $46,100. He has ridden a couple of times since then, including a win in Sidney, NE, and when we caught him at home for a brief stay Thursday night he believed he had moved into fourth place.

He said he had just walked in the door when I called him Thursday evening and Friday morning he would be on the road again, scheduled for rodeos in Texas, Arizona and California over the weekend seeking Copenhagen/Skoal Championship Awards Program points. He said he was leading in the Copenhagen and Dodge Truck Series competition and the Coors Chute-Out. He has previously won the Copenhagen/ Skoal title once, the Coors Chute-Out twice and the Dodge Truck Series three times.

Now 32 years old, Clark has been a PRCA member since 1980 and has qualified for the National Finals Rodeo nine times as one of the top 15 saddle bronc riders in the world. His best year to date has been 1990 when he was runner-up to world champion Robert Etbauer of Ree Heights, SD, and won $89,489. The PRCA lists his career earnings at $515,378 and his best

Hartz Foods moves ahead with planning

Al Walseth appointed interim president while search is conducted

Moving ahead with its efforts to restructure, reorganize and revitalize its operations in accordance with the wishes of its membership, Hartz Foods took several steps at a meeting of the board of directors Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting followed previous sessions with the City of Thief River Falls Community Development Advisory Board Tuesday afternoon and the Jobs Incorporated board of directors Wednesday morning.

Dave Johnson, who has been serving as interim president of the company, said that the Tuesday meeting to discuss possible funding for long-term implementation of the company's plans had an excellent response. He also said that Jobs Incorporated directors seemed very open to assisting with future developments for Hartz Foods.

At its Wednesday afternoon meeting, the board appointed a management team with the appointments becoming effective Friday, August 20. Al Walseth was appointed as interim president and Bob Olson was appointed interim vice president. Paul Herding of the Hartz Foods staff was appointed to work with Walseth and Olson as a member of the management team.

Also appointed was a search committee to seek candidates for a chief executive officer. Candidates found by the search committee will be interviewed at the board level prior to a selection being made. Tom Lucca, board member from International Falls, will chair the committee which also includes board members Lynette Jelle of Grygla, Doreen Bjerknes of Erskine and Dr. Thomas Clifford of Grand Forks, ND.

Employee meetings were also held following the board meeting Wednesday afternoon to keep the company's workers informed about action being taken by the board and management.

Dave Johnson pledged to make himself available to do all he can when and if called upon to make Hartz Foods recovery a success.

Meeting Held With City

Representatives of Hartz Foods met Tuesday in Thief River Falls with the Community Development Advisory Board (CDAB) to discuss any assistance that could be provided to the company.

Dave Johnson, interim president, and Norm Feske, consultant, reviewed recent events at Hartz, which included a vote to continue operation by stockholders, resignations of board members and the Problem wolves destroyed

Wolf attacks pet in yard of rural Middle River family

On August 3, the Jerry and Arlys Strandberg family living about four miles northwest of Middle River and only one mile off a state highway, discovered that their family pet, a miniature collie called Daisy, had been killed by wolves. As horrifying as this may be, conservation officers have yet to record a wolf attack on a human in this century.

The Strandbergs were at home on the evening of Tuesday, August 3, when at about 9:30 p.m. they heard a disturbance in their front yard. Their 10-year-old golden retriever was frantic in its attempts to get into the house. When the Strandbergs went outside to investigate the cause of their dog's behavior, they could not find their 11-year-old Sheltie (miniature Collie), Daisy. Jerry Strandberg, however, did catch a glimpse of a wolf and quickly instructed his family to return to the house.

Jerry and his wife Arlys began searching for the dog using the headlights of their pickup, but they didn't have to look very far. The family pet was found dead, approximately 12 feet from the edge of the yard in a plowed field. The dog was not mauled, but had been grasped by the spine. Because they had observed a wolf they contacted the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Tom Provost with the Minnesota department of natural resources investigated the incident on August 5. Provost said he did not examine the dead pet, but based on the sign in the yard and his knowledge of a wolf pack to the west of the area, he was confident that the dog had been killed by a wolf.

Bill Berg, a research biologist for the department of natural resources, explained that it isn't uncommon for a wolf to attack and kill another canine. Berg said wolves are very territorial and generally cannot tolerate another canine in their territory.

Because the wolf is protected under federal law, state officers with the department of natural resources are not allowed to destroy them. In instances where livestock depredation and attacks on pets, such as dogs, have occurred, the Animal Damage Control department with Minnesota Animal Damage Control of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a division of Wildlife Services, is contacted and a trapper sent to the area.

None of the several department of natural resources officials contacted for this story were aware of any significant increases of wolves preying on domestic pets or livestock. Provost did say that he had handled four incidents of wolf attacks in the last three weeks.

Bill Paul of Minnesota Animal Damage Control said 104 wolves had been trapped since January 1. He said that is about the same num-

Arctco expects growth

Shareholders of Arctco, Inc. were told at the annual meeting Thursday at the Arctco plant in Thief River Falls to expect accelerated growth in the coming year.

"With industry-wide snowmobile inventories at historically low levels and strong orders for our exciting 1994 product line, we believe that 1994 sales will increase at an even faster rate than 1993 sales," President and Chief Executive Officer Christopher Twomey told the shareholders.

"We are presently taking orders for the 1994 Tigershark personal watercraft, and expect very strong growth in this market as well," he added.

He reviewed the company's fiscal 1993 financial performance which saw sales increase 25 per cent to $184,720,000 and net earnings grow by 36 per cent to $18,011,000 or 93 cents per share. It was the 10th consecutive year of increased retail sales of Arctic Cat snowmobiles and marked the introduction of the Tigershark personal watercraft.

Hoffmans win farm beautification award

Rural Goodridge couple turns resettlement farm into showplace with filling, shaping, seeding and tree planting

by Marvin Lundie
Times Editor

Farm beautification award for 1993 through the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District will be awarded to the farm of Roger and Colleen Hoffman of rural Goodridge. The farm is located one mile south and half a mile east of the intersection of highways 1 and 219 south of Goodridge.

Roger and Colleen acquired the former resettlement farm—known generally in the community as the John Kulseth place—in 1987 and almost immediately began a major overhaul of the farmstead, managing to retain a bit of the historical significance of the farm while substantially changing its appearance, function and attractiveness.

First project was to haul in countless loads of fill, allowing leveling of low spots and at some points raising the elevation by as much as two feet. Sloping, shaping and shallow ditching was done to provide drainage—an especially evident feature during this exceptionally wet summer.

To smooth the filled ases for grass seeding, Roger set a spring tooth harrow section on a piece of discarded carpet and pulled it around the area with the farm's three-wheeler ATV.

Next phase of the project was the location of trees. Trees were available on nearby abandoned farmstead. With the use of two tree moving machines, approximately 150 trees—some of them up to 15 feet in height—were plucked from the abandoned farmstead and relocated in the Hoffman yard.

"I know we moved in 66 evergreens to make up the west windbreak," Roger said, "and we put another 53 evergreens in different places around the yard. Then there were at least 25 other trees of different kinds—maple, basswood, ash, birch, flowering crab and others—that we also moved. We bought three small apple trees. So far all but one of the trees has survived."

If water is the secret to tree survival, the Hoffmans have found the secret. Roger perforated flexible plastic hose and buried it by the transplanted trees. A pump is located in a nearby ditch which provides a water supply for pumping through the hose to water the trees.

Overall the farmstead consists of about 10 acres which is kept neatly trimmed with five lawnmowers....four one-horsepower quarter horses and one 20-horsepower diesel with a 60-inch cut. Mowing (not counting that done by the horses) takes about two to four hours and this year is being done about twice a week.

Colleen draws the task of doing most of the mowing and much of Farm beautification award winner for 1993 in the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District is the farm of Roger and Colleen Hoffman of rural Goodridge. At one time a resettlement farm with small house and barn, the farmstead has been filled, sloped, shaped and seeded and about 150 trees moved to the farmstead from an abandoned farmstead nearby. The yard area totals about 10 acres and takes from two to four hours to mow with a 20 h.p. diesel tractor taking a 60-inch cut.

Hartz Foods moves ahead in planning future of Hartz. Feske and Johnson also discussed a management study developed by the George S. May Corporation of Chicago. Feske and Johnson explained that it would cost roughly $60,000 for May Corporation to assist in the implementation of a plan in the process of being developed. That plan will involve some major changes at the wholesale food distributorship. Changes under the plan could include the search for a new chief executive officer and the purchase of some refrigeration equipment.

J.J. Womack, chairman of the CDAB, said the advisory board was "listening positively and would like to help." It was clear that the board was not exactly sure how to proceed, but did decide to begin the revolving loan fund application process anyway.

A number of issues and barriers need to be resolved or overcome before assistance is forthcoming. The advisory board will have to study by-laws to determine whether it is possible to provide grants for operating capital to finance the plan, look for other sources of capital, including those available from regional and state sources, look at financial information from the company, and follow many requirements that involve significant time elements, such as publishing advertising requirements.

It was clear that, without making any commitments yet, the city was willing to listen to proposals from Hartz and look for ways to provide assistance. The question of whether that assistance will be in time to be of help remains unanswered.

The ultimate responsibility, however, for whether Hartz Foods succeeds or fails belongs with Hartz management and board of directors.

Kingdom Hall open house announced

An open house for the Kingdom Hall for Jehovah's Witnesses in Thief River Falls will be held Saturday, August 21 from noon to 1:30 p.m. Kingdom Hall is located on Highway 59 south. A dedication program will be held later in the afternoon.

Abe Lincoln portrayal at Chautauqua

Bruce Hanks, a distant relative of Abraham Lincoln's mother, will portray Lincoln during the Chautauqua to begin Saturday, August 28 and continue through Sunday, August 29, at the Old Crossing and Treaty Park at Huot, 10 miles northwest of Red Lake Falls.

Hanks has portrayed the 16th president across the country for 20 years and makes an impact in his authentic costume complete with coat, top hat and gold watch and chain.

Three other historical portrayals will also be given. On Saturday at 6:30 p.m. Virginia Sanderson will portray Marie-Anne Lagimodiere, the first white woman who came from Quebec in 1813 to join her fur trapper husband in the Pembina area.

Pierre Girard will present Rev. Lucian Galtier, a French missionary, who established a chapel and dedicated it to Saint Paul in 1841, thus naming the settlement in the area.

On Sunday at 6:30 p.m., Ron Parker will portray Warren Upham, the region's first major geologist. Hanks' portrayal of Lincoln will also be a part of the Sunday program.

The performances will be held under the big tent at the Old Crossing and Treaty Park. Other activities include a fiddler's contest both days at 1:30 p.m., Festival du Voyageur Entertainers, Canadian Errants Singers, AFRAN Singers and a cultural and crafts store.

Special games for children will be led by Suzanne Tupa and food sold at the site will include Red Lake walleye.

Old Crossing and Treaty Park is the site where the Woods Trail of the ox cart era crossed the Red river from the 1840s to the 1880s. It was there that the Treaty of 1863 was signed between the Chippewa Indians and the U.S. government.

The Chautauqua is sponsored in part by the Minnesota Arts Board, Red Lake County Historical Society, Red Lake County, the City of Red Lake Falls and the Association of the French of the North.

Wolf kill of small dog raises concern of farm family in the Strathcona area

ber trapped last year, which was a record year. Last year, 122 wolves were trapped from 62 farms where wolf problems had been verified.

Paul said the wolf population has increased in the last five years, but still, the wolf range includes 25,000 square miles of territory. Because the forested range for the timber wolf has become fully colonized and because the deer population has grown, timber wolves are now beginning to colonize agricultural areas. He said he wasn't exactly sure how many wolves there were in Minnesota, but a Minnesota Department of Natural resources study concluded three years ago that there were between 1,550 and 1,750. Paul estimated that there are probably 1,800 or so now.

A typical adult male timber wolf weighs between 70 and 90 pounds. The typical female adult will weigh between 60 and 80 pounds. A wolf recently trapped in the area, however, weighed 98 pounds. A pack will generally lay claim to 50 to 100 square miles as their territory.

The timber wolf in Minnesota is no longer considered an endangered species, but is considered a threatened species. The wolf was never introduced to the area. Paul said between 1975 and 1978 the timber wolf was considered an endangered species in Minnesota and officers could not trap and kill them. During that period, he said, they relocated 104 to Superior National Forest away from farms and populated areas. That process, did not prove to be a viable alternative with problem wolves. Many left the area they had been relocated to immediately, some even covered long distances to return to where they had been captured.

When Arlys Strandberg learned that it was not uncommon for wolves to attack domesticated dogs, it made her mad. She said she had always thought that they wouldn't kill unless hungry or desperate.

The family is a bit unnerved by the incident. Arlys said they haven't been allowing their pets to roam about the yard and they check through the windows before venturing outside. Arlys realizes that there hasn't been a wolf attack on a human in this century, but doesn't want to be the first to make headlines either.

Arlys said she hasn't seen wolves around lately. In the past she has known that they were there because of their howling. She said she notices it more in the winter. It was so loud one time that she had to turn up the volume on the television to listen to the program she was watching.

Arlys said she has been pleased with the response by the DNR, and Animal Control officers. The Strandbergs were not compensated for the loss of their pet, but the trapper has been on their property every day since he was called in to trap the animals.

According to a news story in the New River Record, five wolves have been caught and destroyed at the Kevin Roppe farm, which is near the Strandberg residence. One was an 89-pound male, two females, weighing 69 and 61 pounds, and two pups. The Roppes own a dairy farm and have apparently lost a calf due to wolves.

Local students graduate from UND Aug. 6

University of North Dakota President Kendall Baker presided over UND's Summer Commencement on Friday, August 6, at the Chester Fritz Auditorium.

UND awards more than 2,000 degrees each year. Candidates for degrees are announced at the end of the fall, spring and summer sessions.

All told, 393 are eligible to go through the commencement ceremonies this summer. Last summer, 346 students were eligible for degrees.

Among the graduates were Steven J. Dalager (MA), Laura June Gullikson (BSN), and Tracee Dawn Joppru (BAcc) all of Thief River Falls.

Strandquist quits post in CMCPFC

At the August 10 steering committee meeting of the Central Marshall County Project Future Committee (CMCPFC), David Strandquist resigned his position as chairman. Vice chairperson Susan Skadsem will serve as interim chairperson until the annual election of officers in January.

Strandquist said he regretted having to make the decision but felt that school and family commitments would not allow him to give the position the time and attention it needs. He will continue to serve as a steering committee and action team member.

A special election will be held August 31 at 7:30 p.m. In the Newfolden community center to fill the vacant position of vice chairman. Steering committee and action team heads will meet at that time to discuss plans for the annual Newfest celebration. All members are asked to attend.

Next regular meeting of the CMCPFC will be held September 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Sessions added to aging conference

Two new workshop topics have been added to the NWRDC Area Agency on Aging 19th Annual Fall Conference agenda, according to Faith Rud, conference coordinator. The conference is scheduled for August 25 at the University of Minnesota at Crookston.

"Savvy Seniors: Too Smart for Scams" and "Celebration of Light" are the titles of the new sessions. Michael Sparby, mediator with the Office of the Attorney General, and Diane Grundyson, rehabilitation instructor with Duluth Lighthouse for the Blind, will be the presenters.

Sparby will alert seniors to the tactics used in telephone scams and provide information on the reporting of rip-off artists. Grundyson staffs the new branch office in McIntosh which provides training and services for blind and low-vision individuals. She will present an overview of services available.

"The sessions address issues of concern to seniors and will provide more choices of workshops," stated Rud. "Interested persons should get their registration fees in as soon as possible to be guaranteed a noon meal."

For more information, contact Rud at 525 Brooks Avenue South, Thief River Falls, 1-800-450-2637.

Mixing Pickerel, Pike And Politics on Lake Of The Woods

"As a result of four Task Group meetings held over the past three months, agreement in principle has been reached to resolve the fisheries issues," says a statement from Gord Pyzer, Kenora district manager for the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources (OMNR). Pyzer refers to differences between his province in Canada and "Minnesota-based" anglers on Lake of the Woods and the Rainy River.

Implementation of the agreement as it is presented bodes ill for Minnesota anglers and for resorts and other accommodations which cater to those anglers on the United States side of the river.

A good point is that Ontario will rescind the Daily Angling Validation Tag—an uncommonly irritating requirement ever since it was introduced in 1985—as of Jan. 1, 1994. According to Pyzer, the tag had limited effects on reducing the U.S.-based harvest of Ontario fish.

Not so good is the proposed allocation of fish. It is estimated that currently Minnesota-based anglers take 32,000 pounds of walleyes from Ontario waters of Lake of the Woods annually while Ontario residents have a negligible harvest of Minnesota walleyes. The new allocation would reduce the Minnesota-based take of Ontario walleyes annually to 8,000 pounds and allow Ontario-based anglers the same amount from Minnesota waters.

Anglers based in either country and fishing in the other country would be subject to conservation limits of two walleyes or saugers, two bass, two northern pike, 10 crappies and one lake trout per day. No muskies would be included in the limits.

Not only would the limits be cut by approximately two-thirds, both the Minnesota ONR and the Ontario MNR "will consider" (read "will authorize") issuing an annual Lake of the Woods Border Water Conservation Sticker at a "nominal fee" to validate anglers' licenses. Purpose of the fee would be "to assist in funding the additional efforts required to monitor harvest."

Annual creel surveys would be conducted by the MNR and ONR to monitor harvest levels. If monitoring over the next two to three years shows voluntary compliance is poor, it was agreed that Ontario may institute further changes to achieve the agreed upon allocated harvest.

Ontario and Minnesota agreed to work toward common regulations and reciprocal fishing licenses for the Rainy river.

Since the Ontario MNR began its programs in the early 1980s to "conserve fish stocks in Ontario waters of Lake of the Woods," the general perception by non-Canadian anglers has been that the province is generally unfriendly to visiting fishermen. More than a few have considered the hassle an unnecessary affront and taken their angling business elsewhere—usually to other seemingly more friendly provinces.

Ontario, of course, has a perfect right to do whatever it thinks is best for its resources and its people. Non-residents are guests on Ontario waters, albeit paying ones. If you don't want guests, you close the door and don't answer the phone. That's what the result of this "agreement in principle" will be.

If the Ontario fisheries resource is truly in jeopardy and restricted angling is necessary, that is one thing. Anglers with a concern for their quarry can understand corrective action on that basis. But mixing pike, pickerel and politics doesn't often make palatable chowder.

Some Thoughts On Health Care Dilemma

In a recent visit to Thief River Falls and to The Northern Watch office, State Sen. Linda Berglin discussed the state's health care program that she has been actively involved with developing. She appears to have a strong working background of conditions and certainly knows what direction she wants the system to go.

Regardless of the knowledge and dedication of Sen. Berglin and other public officials, however, they will have little impact on some of the areas of health care costs if the American free enterprise system is allowed to continue.

Much has been made about the average earnings of medical practitioners, such as the 1991 averages of $221,000 for anesthesiologists and $230,000 for radiologists. While such earnings far exceed even the dreams of average Americans, we can at least recognize that the investment in education and the responsibilities of the work justify higher financial rewards.

But the earnings of such practitioners—although there are many of them at clinics and hospitals throughout the country—pale when compared with some other health field professionals. The highest paid executive in California in 1991 was the head of a hospital chain who made more than $17 million. The chief executive of Bristol-Myers Squibb pharmaceutical firm was paid $12.8 million.

Most Americans would agree such payments to executives are outrageous. But many would also wonder if the intervention of government to curtail such expenditures is proper. Should it be the prerogative of government to decide how private business conducts its affairs and spends its money?

Health insurance premiums have climbed to the extent that many families and small businesses have had to drop their coverage. Four out of 10 Americans who have health insurance have had to take a cut in health benefits in the last two years. While many of those in the health care fields have profited unreasonably, the people who need the care or attempt to insure against the costs of it are paying too much or electing to not seek it.

Not all health care costs can be contained, but some of these excesses can certainly be reduced. As Ron Pollack, executive director of Families USA Foundation puts it: "It's easy to see why American families are drowning in health care bills. Those who profit from health care are swimming in our money!"

LETTERS

To The Editor:

This letter is prompted by the frenzy of recent suicide deaths in which the so-called Suicide Doctor, Jack Kevorkian, "assisted." The media has given these tragic deaths, (recently seventeen) considerable coverage. I have read these stories about people in severe physical pain, or emotional anguish stemming from fear of what the future may hold. The reports have been about people with multiple sclerosis, alzheimer's and cancer committing suicide with Kevorkian's help.

I wonder what our local community members think about this in terms of themselves, particularly if they suffer from these illnesses, or about their loved ones who may struggle with these diseases. Do they think they will have no other option at some time in the future? Do they worry that they may have to face loss of dignity, intractable pain or become an unwanted burden to their families?

As a 15-year veteran of health care systems, as a social worker and as the director of Northland Community Hospice, I am compelled to write this letter. It is important your readers be aware that not everything can be reported and furthermore, should be encouraged to look beyond the scope of a news story.

Responsible decision making about euthanasia in general, or for one's self in particular, requires everyone concerned be fully informed about all the issues. For example, Jack Kevorkian turned down many requests after he interviewed some of those asking for help. Why? The reasons were unclear in news reports.

Knowing the circumstances that prompted Kevorkian to say "no" is critical to our understanding about what happens to a person and his or her family during such a crisis and how these circumstances might be changed if people are assisted to have a better quality of life during this time. The greatest danger in knowing only part of this story is that it may give terminally ill people the impression that Kevorkian's way is the only alternative to sometimes futile, expensive and often painful medical care. This is absolutely incorrect.

For terminally ill persons and their families there is another choice, and it is called Hospice care. In our community we have provided care for the dying and their families for 10 years. This hospice is free of charge, this hospice is skilled in pain management and emotional support for the patients and their families. We use a team of professionals to address all the needs from spiritual, to financial, to pain control. Hospice provides direction support and care throughout the "dying time." In most cases people can remain at home with family at their bedside.

Hospice care is for the terminally ill person and for the care of their families. Experience has taught us that the earlier hospice can be involved the more effective our help can be. For this reason we invite all inquiries – even those where there may be no immediate need for hospice.

It is certainly not our intention or place to judge Jack Kevorkian or the people whose desperation drove them to seek his services. However, this issue, if it does not affect you now, will in the future and I am deeply concerned that this community may get the very mistaken idea that euthanasia is the only way to cope with those secret fears around death and dying. It is not the only way. It is the solitary and single minded goal of hospice to care compassionately for the dying. It is our job to address fears and quiet them. It is our goal to aid in maintaining dignity and support for the family.

I encourage everyone to consider hospice care as part of your personal planning. I furthermore challenge everyone to ask the hard practical questions that I am certain will reveal some undesirable qualities about how we have treated the dying person in our society. I am also certain that these qualities directly contribute to the isolation so profound that the dying person often feels suicide is the only option. This doesn't have to be and I urge everyone to consider hospice as a viable alternative.

Hospice is becoming increasingly known and more widely used. Last year we cared for 46 patients and nearly 140 family members in the counties of Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake. Something like 210,000 patients were served nationwide. Further information about our service can be obtained by writing us at Northland Community Hospice, P.O. Box 714, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or by calling 681-4240, ext. 115.

Very Truly Yours,
Martha Wissmann, MSW
Director
Northland Community Hospice

When Derek Clark gets on a saddle bronc and the gate opens, he intends to stay aboard for at least eight seconds. His intentions seldom go unmet. The Oklahoma cowboy said he has been thrown a total of three times in the past three years. Right now he is fourth in the PRCA saddle bronc standings with winnings approaching $50,000. A participant in the first TRF Stampede last year, he is looking forward to being here again this year.

Derek Clark expecting to become an old bronc rider payoff of 1992 as $4,176 in San Antonio, TX.

Clark travels to 125 or more rodeos every year from virtually coast to coast and said he is looking forward to coming back to ride in Thief River Falls again. His wife Angie enters the cowgirl barrel racing events and has also had a good season in 1993. She will also race in Thief River Falls at the second annual Stompede. They have two children ages nine and five.

When Derek blasts out of the bucking chute aboard whatever horse he has drawn, he expects to make a qualifying eight-second ride. In the past three years he can recall being thrown only three times and his riding style usually puts him somewhere in the money.

Derek and Angie have a ranch at Colcord, OK, and Derek has recently introduced a T-shirt line. He says he has no plans to retire from the sport he enjoys so much.

He is quoted in the PRCA media guide as having this viewpoint on life in the rodeo business:

"Grandpa told me a long time ago, 'While you're rodeoing, get every picture you can, meet everybody you can, because when you get done, that is all you'll have left."

Two residents plead guilty to drug charge

Two Thief River Falls women pled guilty to conspiracy to sell methamphetamine, which is further defined as a charge of controlled substance in the fourth degree.

Kay Lynn Richter and Vikki Hutchinson of Thief River Falls pled guilty in a plea agreement Monday to one count of conspiracy to sell methamphetamine, a controlled substance, in the fourth degree. Richter and Hutchinson both testified before Ninth District Judge L.G. Jorgenson in Pennington county, that they put money in an envelope addressed to Bernadette Prather in California and took it to the UPS office in Thief River Falls. Later, a package containing methamphetamine was brought by an undercover officer in a UPS uniform to Richter's residence. The package was addressed to her 7-year-old son. Richter then turned the package over to one of the Matthew brothers. The two women were involved with Keith and Kenneth Matthew and Bernadette Prather, who have since pled guilty to a federal charge.

Sentencing for the two women will be in six weeks after a pre-sentence investigation is completed.

If You're Considering Refractive Eye Surgery, Here Are Five Reasons Why You'll Want to Talk to Northwest Eye Centers:
1. EXPERIENCE
2. EXPERIENCE
3. EXPERIENCE
4. EXPERIENCE
5. EXPERIENCE

Setting the Standard for Refractive Surgery Excellence, Quality Eye Care, and Patient Safety. No other eye clinics in Northwestern Minnesota have more extensive clinical experience than Northwest Eye Centers. So it comes as no surprise that we're the preferred choice among families for: comprehensive eye care, quality optical services, and refractive eye surgery.

Richard L. Lindstrom, M.D.
Consultative Ophthalmology
Refractive & Laser Surgery

A World-Renowned Refractive Eye Surgeon is the North Country. Dr. Richard L. Lindstrom is widely regarded as a leader in corneal, cataract, refractive, and laser eye surgery. And now, we are able to offer Dr. Lindstrom's world class corneal and refractive surgery services to our patients.

Over 3,000 Refractive Surgeries Performed. Since 1980, Dr. Lindstrom has performed more refractive procedures to correct nearsightedness, farsightedness, and astigmatism in patients than anyone else in Minnesota. The 20 minute outpatient procedure can correct vision to 20/40 or better in 90% of the cases. It's virtually painless, and most patients return to work in a couple of days.

Committed to Achieving the Best Clinical Outcome for Our Patients. Dr. Lindstrom and our eye care specialists provide the full spectrum of diagnostic and refractive surgical procedures - not just the radial keratotomy procedure. So we're able to offer patients the best refractive surgical procedure based upon their needs and lifestyle and job limitations.

"Dr. Lindstrom, following my refractive surgery, the most beneficial aspect on my lifestyle has been not having the problem of putting contact lenses in and out everyday. It's been a real treat not wearing glasses or contacts when hunting, fishing, skiing, swimming, golfing, and playing table tennis. It's great. Thanks." Mr. RT*, Minneapolis

A Unique Association of Optometry and Ophthalmology, Serving Northwestern Minnesota. With offices throughout Northwestern Minnesota, we're able to provide for your total eye care needs. And, our offices accept Medicare assignment for most procedures. So, whether you're interested in a new pair of glasses or contact lenses, or learning more about refractive eye surgery, stop in one of our seven convenient eye care centers today.

New group leads Prowlers

Graduation losses took a big bite out of Thief River Falls' high school football program, but head coach Jeff Mumm isn't using the word rebuilding in describing the upcoming 1993 season.

"Sure, we lost a lot of kids," admitted Mumm, "but I'd like to think our program is at the point now where we can do that year in and year out and still be competitive. A school our size should be senior-dominated. I would like to think this year's seniors will be ready to take over."

There were 17 seniors on a the 1992 team that put Thief River Falls into the Section 8A finals for the first time. A 7-4 season included post-season wins over East Grand Forks 13-6 and Fergus Falls 21-0 before coming to an end against eventual Class A state champion Detroit Lakes 48-13.

Only starters are back from that team are linebackers Chris Ortloff, a 6-1, 190-pound senior, and John Davis, a 6-2, 180-pound junior. They ranked 2-3, respectively, on last year's defensive point charts.

There are 15 other returning lettermen, including seniors Robby Bakken, Jeff Cota, Eric Dahl, Justin Kempert, Brent Kleinvachter, Joby Looker, Lee Lund, Jeff Lundgren, Corey Olson, Mark Sullivan, Nick Trudeau, Jeff Twomey, and Chris Tveitbakk; along with juniors Brian Howe and Jason Hruby.

"We've got a number of lettermen back, but a lot of them don't have a whole lot of varsity experience," noted Mumm. "They'll have to step up and carry the load this time around."

This year's group has size, according to Mumm, but doesn't have the speed that made the 1992 Prowlers so dangerous. "All the speed was in one class," said Mumm. "We're not slow, but we aren't fast. We do have good size. We'll still use some mis-direction in the backfield, but we won't spread the field so much, and we'll use more power and strength-type things."

With 66 players in grades 10-through-12, the Prowlers have their biggest football turnout in years. There are also some 35 players on the freshman squad. "It's the most kids I've ever had," noted Mumm, who is beginning his ninth year as Prowlers head coach.

However, none of those players have thrown or caught a varsity pass. Twomey lettered as a back-up quarterback as a junior. Howe gained 223 yards on 38 carries and scored three touchdowns as a sophomore to rank as the statistical leader among the returning ball carriers. Lund netted 107 yards on 25 carries and had three touchdowns.

In addition to the lettermen, the 1993 Prowlers include senior Alex Stoskopf, a transfer from Warroad; juniors Nathan Anderson, Eric Bjorgaard, Steve Burslie, Jason Cota, Tony Halsa, Carlos Diaz, Lee Haugen, Adam Henney, Jason Homme, Jon Lorenson, Luke Moe, Philip Nelson, Caylor Olson, Justin Phillips, Max Radniecki, Nathan Scott, Mark Spyhalski, Joey Vettleson, and Ryan Wold; along with sophomores Keith Anderson, Ryan Bendickson, Jason Breiland, Justin Brunkhorst, Nick Chiodo, Aaron Ehrenstrom, John Elizondo, Robby Farbo, Billy Fogarty, Adam Fulton, Andy Furuseth, Paul Gonsorowski, David Halsa, Eric Halvorson, Chad Hanson, Josh Harris, Craig Huot, Pete Johnson, Chance Keefe, Brent Kragness, and Matt Lawrence, Kaine Martell, Kyle Miller, Josh Melby, Darren Nelson, Steve Rambeck, Chris Sorenson, Rob Stock, and Justin Stevenson.

Mumm's coaching staff includes Tim Olson, Glenn Chiodo, Scott Brekke, Gary Laidley, Glen Peters, and John Schmitz.

The Prowlers face a formidable task in their Thursday, Sept. 2 opener when they will host a Detroit Lakes team laden with veterans from last year's 14-0 state championship squad.

Matt LeMoine

LeMoine is part of advanced session at Forkhorn Camp

Matt LeMoine of Thief River Falls attended the July 25-31 Advanced Forkhorn Camp at Deep Portage Conservation Reserve near Hackensack. He was sponsored by the Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association.

While participating in the week-long camp, LeMoine studied different concepts in relationship to the white tail deer. Special emphasis was placed on wildlife management, deer habitat, population dynamics, and ethics. Skills were also introduced in the areas of map and compass, canoeing, safety, first aid, woodcraft, and survival. Advanced Forkhorn Camp also has an emphasis in archery, with each camper attempting to become certified as an International Bowhunter.

Campers attending Advanced Forkhorn Camp are in their second summer of training. Last year they were involved in the Forkhorn Level One Camp at Deep Portage.

The students tested their newly-acquired sills during a canoeing overnight, a survival camp, and the Forkhorn Woodcraft Olympics.

In addition, each student practiced marksmanship and range safety. All were given the opportunity to practice with a .22 caliber rifle, .30-.30 rifle, and .50 caliber black powder rifle. At the end of the week, a firing range competition was held.

All Forkhorn Camps are sponsored by the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association. Deep Portage is a 6,100-acre resident environmental learning center, located in north-central Minnesota.

Delmore, Williams in Golf Club finals

Tim Delmore will try to defend his 1992 title when he takes on Tom Williams in the championship flight finals of the 1993 Thief River Golf Club Tournament. Tee-off time is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Delmore defeated Dave Geatz in the rain in last year's finals. Williams won the event in 1989, also beating Geatz in the title match.

Jeff Hendrickson will be meeting Roger Anderson in Sunday's president's flight finals, while Clair Ellison takes on Jeff Tunberg in the first flight finals. Rest of the flight match-ups were still being determined heading into the weekend.

Tennis starts TRF fall sports season

In the same breath, Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney will describe both the experience and the youth his girls have heading into the 1993 high school tennis season. That's because Five of the seven returning letter winners are sophomores or freshmen.

"We've got some experience," acknowledged Forney, "but we're still young."

Five-year varsity performer Jennifer Paggen was the only senior on last year's squad, but four other 1992 letter winners decided not to play tennis this fall.

That will leave the current Prowlers with just one senior – captain Jami Dehnert. And the only junior on the team, Jami Fremstad, has been the lone tennis-playing member of her class for the past several years.

Other returning letter winners are sophomores Bobbi Dahlstrom, Shari Evenson, Anne Padilla, and Kamie Twomey, along with freshman Tiffany Brouse.

"Nobody will fill Paggen's shoes," admitted Forney, "but the seven return letter winners are all capable tennis players. They know how to play. They need to learn how to compete at the level they have to compete at. They have to work on match strategy."

Tennis kicks off the 1993 Thief River Falls fall sports season, with the Prowlers facing a busy opening week that includes three home appearances – a Tuesday dual vs. Roseau, a Wednesday dual against Alexandria, and the Thursday Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational. The opener was originally scheduled to be played at Roseau, but was switched to Thief River Falls last week.

Brouse is penciled in at No. 1 singles, Twomey No. 2, Evenson No. 3, and Dahlstrom No. 4. The doubles combinations are likely to include Dehnert and Padilla at No. 1; Fremstad and sophomore Lisa Ostby at No. 2; with sophomores Andrea Vigen, Kiki Goddard, and Vicki Bitzegaio all looking for playing time at No. 3. Freshman Kelly Natvik would also be a candidate at No. 3 doubles, but she missed early drills while on a family vacation.

That line-up should provide the Prowlers with a competitive batch of singles players.

"The strong players have to play singles," explained Forney. "You should also be somewhat strong at No. 1 doubles, then you fill in at No. 2 and No. 3 doubles the best you can."

Others on the roster include sophomores Becky Phillips, Kate Nordin, and Miranda Johnson; freshmen Teresa Swanson, Kyla Skiple, Trisha Harbott, Rebecca Kenner, Erin Liden, Jacki Lappegaard, Kate Ihle, Laura Steiger, Elizabeth Odette, Pauline Cullen, and Heidi Johnson; eighth graders Allison Rantanen, Dana Martell, Eva Young, Jenna Tsukicki, Beth Goddard, Stephanie Leach, and Jessica Krankkala; seventh graders Beth Nelson, Katie Harbott, Ann Gustafson, Lesley Ihle, Bridgette Stock, and Toni LeMoine; plus sixth graders Karen Skipe, Rachael Hahne, Jennifer Kimball, and Deirdre Dally.

Monica Haapoja is working as the junior varsity catch; Ryan Haugen is coaching the seventh and eighth graders at the middle school level. Forney, Haapoja, and Haugen are all former Prowler tennis players.

Sports Boosters plan schedule

School District 564 Activities Director Lee Alger and Northland Community College Athletic Director Rick Nelson will be the guest speakers Aug. 26 when the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club begins its series of luncheon meetings for the 1993-94 season.

The group will meet each Thursday at 12-noon at the Elks Club in downtown Thief River Falls.

Alger and Nelson will speak to the group about upcoming activities for the Prowlers and Pioneers, respectively, highlighting special events that will be held throughout the upcoming school year.

Sports Boosters President John Michael Anderson and Vice-President Steve Stokke, both said they were looking forward to the 1993-94 activity year, and encouraged parents and those interested in extracurricular activities to take part in the weekly meetings. "We have a great group of individuals who are working on the board of the Sports Boosters," they said, "but they need assistance in order to make the organization more effective."

Secretary-Treasurer Kathy Treat joins Anderson and Stokke as Sports Boosters officers for the 1993-94 season. Other board members are Dave Olin, Ruth Ostby, Don Balmer, Bruce Russell, Linda Spyhalski, and John Nickelson, with Alger and Nelson joining the group as representatives from Lincoln and Northland.

One of the first items on the agenda, and one of the group's main fund-raising event of the year is the 21st annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club Pigskin Preview. The football scrimmages and picnic-style lunch will be held Saturday, Aug. 28, at Prowler Field.

Scrimmages, which start at 12-noon that day, will include Thief River Falls, Grand Forks Red River, Cass Lake-Bena, Devils Lake, East Grand Forks, Red Lake Falls, and Kelvin out of Winnipeg. Varsity scrimmages will be at Prowler Field. Junior varsity teams will scrimmage on the adjacent practice field.

The picnic dinner, featuring hamburger on the grill, beans, corn-on-the-cob, Pepsi, and a cookie, will be served as the scrimmages conclude – approximately 3 p.m. Tickets, priced at $4 for adults and $3 for students, will be on sale at Prowler Field the day of the event. Funds will be used by the Sports Boosters to help support various activities in the community.

Sports Boosters Club memberships are $5. Memberships will be sold at the first meeting, and can also be purchased during the Pigskin Preview. Club membership entitles you to free admission to certain high school and community college events during the course of the season.

For additional information about the Sports Boosters Club, contact Anderson at 681-2804 or Stokke at 681-6315.

Girls lead cross country turnout

■ Small numbers in boys' ranks

Number-wise, the girls had the edge over the boys when preseason aerobic work-outs began Monday for the 1993 Thief River Falls cross country program.

Head coach Lynn Dyer and assistant coach Clark Hendrickson started Week 1 with 28 runners in grades 6-through-12. The group includes 16 girls and 12 boys. Half of the girls on hand for the start of drills were returning letter winners. The boys have just two lettermen, with freshmen and middle school-age runners making up half of their roster.

"We're real low in numbers for the guys," acknowledged Dyer. "We've got good numbers for the girls, with several new runners, including five seniors who came out for cross country for the first time."

Senior Jon Hendrickson and junior Dan Bjerkness are the only lettermen among the boys, who lost six seniors to graduation and saw two other 1992 letter winners transfer – senior co-captain Travis Torblaa, who will be attending Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls, and junior Brad Daniels, who moved to St. Cloud with his family.

Rest of the boys reporting this week included junior Nathan Anderson; sophomores Cory Orochowski, Kyle Sanden and Nick Dee; freshmen Jordan Goldesberry and Ryan Hendrickson; eighth grader Brian Unbehaun; and sixth graders Seth Harlow, Nathan Kenner, and Matt Tronivet. In addition to Jon Hendrickson and Bjerkness, only Dee and Ryan Hendrickson were part of last year's cross country program.

Letter winners among the girls include seniors April Klinker and Heather Thornton; juniors Nichole Torblaa and Jessica Bugge; sophomores Angie Klinker, Lisa Swanson, and Leah Helgensel; along with freshman Jocelyn Helgeland.

Rest of the girls turning out for cross country this fall include seniors Stefanie Swanson, Lori DeLap, Nicky Armstrong, Holly Miller, Ami Harbott, and Carly Dee; sophomore Jacki Flynn; and freshman Angie Edlund. There were no seniors on the 1992 girls' roster, but two letter winners elected not to return this fall.

"We've got some kids who enjoy running," noted Dyer. "Because of the numbers, the girls could be all right. Typically we've been successful when we've had good numbers."

The Prowlers open the season at the Sept. 9 Roseau Invitational. Annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational will be held Monday, Oct. 4, at the Thief River Golf Club.

Milfoil Road Checks

In the continuing battle against the spread of Eurasian watermilfoil, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Division of Enforcement is planning to increase the number of milfoil road checks conducted on Minnesota highways during the remainder of the boating season.

Especially targeted will be major traffic routes from the Twin Cities to north-central and west-central Minnesota, where weekend boaters and anglers disperse to resorts, cabins and campgrounds on thousands of lakes.

During a road check, every vehicle towing or carrying a watercraft will be directed into a road-side area and inspected. DNR officers will provide all motorists with information on Minnesota's aquatic exotics control program, and drivers whose craft are found carrying Eurasian watermilfoil will be ticketed.

"Transporting Eurasian watermilfoil has been a misdemeanor crime in Minnesota since 1990," said Capt. Byron (Butch) Dyrland, DNR Regional Enforcement Supervisor for northwest Minnesota. "Maximum penalty is a $700 fine and/or 90 days in jail.

"While no one is likely to receive the maximum sentence," said Dyrland, "it is definitely worthwhile for boat owners to get into the habit of carefully inspecting and cleaning their boat and trailer."

In addition to being a state law, stopping the spread of milfoil is a major economic concern everywhere in northern Minnesota – where lakes are viewed as more than just sky-blue waters, but the very heart of Minnesota's multi-billion dollar tourist industry.

"Local residents, resort owners and everyone involved with the tourism industry are very concerned about the possible spread of Eurasian milfoil to our northern Minnesota lakes," said Dyrland. "Everyone here knows that just one tiny piece of milfoil left on one boat or trailer is all it takes to spread the weed to their favorite lake."

Since 1987, when Eurasian watermilfoil was discovered in Lake Minnetonka, the weed has spread to 59 lakes and rivers, most of them in and around the Twin Cities. Last summer, small infestations were also discovered in lakes near Brainerd and Alexandria.

Late summer is an especially critical time of the spread of milfoil – after the plant has grown and increased in volume, and the infamous thick mats of milfoil come to the surface where they are more likely to attach to boats, motors and equipment.

Minnesota's anti-milfoil law prohibits transfer of the weed in any manner, even the unintentional transfer. "To be on the safe side," explained Dyrland, "boat owners should carefully inspect their boats, trailers, fishing gear, etc., immediately after removing them from the water; and thoroughly remove all traces of vegetation, be it milfoil or anything else."

DNR experts note that milfoil can also be carried in live wells and bait buckets. "These items should be emptied on dry land," said Dyrland, "away from the lake or river, and carefully cleaned and dried before introducing them to another body of water."

DNR Adds Officers

Minnesota's marshes will be the office, so to speak, for six new Department of Natural Resources conservation officers.

The DNR recently added wetland enforcement officers in Brainerd, St. Cloud, Grand Rapids, Bemidji, and the Twin Cities. The officers will work with local governments, landowners and citizens to ensure that the state's wetlands are protected.

Funding for the DNR officers was included in the 1991 Wetland Conservation Act, which is aimed at maintaining the quantity, quality and biological diversity of existing wetlands.

Credit card protection tips given

Thieves come up with ingenious ways to get your credit card number. They may search our discarded carbons or conduct fraudulent telemarketing schemes. Here are a few tips to protect yourself from credit card fraud.

• Don't give your credit card number or expiration date over the phone unless you have placed the call.

• Credit card numbers are never needed for "identification" purposes. If you hear that line – hang up.

• Rip up or retain credit card transaction carbons.

• Never leave your credit cards or receipts lying around.

• Make a list of everything you carry in your wallet, including your credit card numbers. Keep this list in a safe place, separate from your wallet or purse.

• If your card is lost or stolen, report it immediately.

• Save your receipts and check them against your monthly statement. This is an easy way to discover if someone is using your card number or if there is a billing error.

• Don't reveal personal information when using your credit card. Minnesota law prohibits merchants from requiring personal information such as an address or phone number when you use a credit card.

• Make sure that you understand the terms of a credit card plan before you accept the card.

• As always, be wary of credit card deals that sound too good to be true.

To receive a free copy of "The Line on Credit Cards" send your name, address, and request to: Attorney General's Consumer Division, 1400 NCL Tower, 445 Minnesota Street, St. Paul, MN 55101; (612) 296-3353 or 1-800-657-3787. TDD numbers are (612) 297-7206 or 1-800-657-3787.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank everyone who has so generously offered expressions of comfort and support to our family since the death of our father, grandfather, and husband, George Genereux. Thank you to the Red Lake Falls Ambulance Service, Sheriff's Department and those who were on the scene of the accident for your quick response and efforts. Thank you to the Northwest Medical Center doctors and staff for your professional dedication. It means so much to us to know he got the best of care. Thank you to Father LaMoine, Father Pribula, and Petterson Funeral Home for your prayers and support in our time of need. Thank you to St. Anthony's Church choir, and members of St. Anthony's who donated so much time, food, and fellowship. Thank you to all who sent cards, or brought food to our homes. A large multi-level deck wrapped around the south and east sides of their house adds outdoor living area for Colleen and Roger Hoffman of rural Goodridge, winners of the farm beautification award from the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District.

Once a small resettlement farm house, the Roger and Colleen Hoffman home southeast of Goodridge had been enlarged with an addition to the west and a garage to the north when they acquired the property in 1987. With Keith and Brad Nelson doing the carpentry work, the large deck was added in 1991. Crushed limestone hauled in two grain trucks has been placed inside an irregular shaped retaining barrier around the house and accented with various shrubs and with rocks selected from rock piles in the area.

Hoffmans win recognition for beautification

the tending of the vegetable garden east of the house, flowers in pots around the outside of the house and plantings in the crushed limestone rock garden which encircles the house.

Colleen, originally from Detroit Lakes, is employed by the state auditor's office and supervises a crew of four others conducting audits of county financial statements in seven or more northwestern Minnesota counties.

A multi-level deck was built around the southeast corner of the house in 1991 with most of the carpentry done by Keith and Brad Nelson.

Crushed limestone for the rock area arranged in an irregular pattern surrounding the house was hauled from several hundred miles south in the state in two heavily-loaded grain trucks. Recollection of the tribulations of that trip—including flat tires and getting lost on back roads—evoke memories that are much more humorous now than the experiences were then.

With Roger Wagner, landscaper from Fisher, the Hoffmans scoured area rock piles for suitable rocks to accentuate the crushed rock area. They credit Wagner with much of the originality that went into the landscaping and with teaching them about proper care and trimming of shrubs and trees.

An attractive feature of the farm yard is the hip roof barn which is characteristic of the resettlement farm building pattern. Painted a bright red with white trim, the barn has been converted into a stable for the four lawnmowers with the attached milk room serving as a tack room. A fenced corral adds to the rural appearance of the yard.

A silo next to the barn is presently unused, but Roger has unique plans for its future.

Other future plans include the planting of more trees, including another row of evergreens on the east side of the farmstead.

Roger has been a cooperator in the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District since he started farming in 1966. Some of his conservation projects include tree planting, wildlife pond (where geese nested this year), surface drainage ditching, soil testing and crop rotation. He has also been making part of his farm available for sunflower test plots by a number of seed companies.

The Hoffman farm consists of about 1,000 acres of cropland planted mostly to wheat and sunflowers with a portion under Conservation Reserve Program contract.

A member of the Pennington county board of commissioners for 12 years, Roger served three terms as its chairman. He was county King Agassiz in 1978 and is a member of the Eagles and Elks organizations in Thief River Falls, the Goodridge Lions club and Faith Lutheran Church in Goodridge.

Married in 1986, Roger and Colleen both enjoy hunting and fishing and Colleen has claimed the hunting party's big buck trophy for three of the past six years. When time permits they can be found plying the waters of Lake of the Woods—including when the waters are frozen and the grass at home is covered by snow. Sometimes that's the nicest part about it.

Colleen and Roger Hoffman have converted the barn on their farm southeast of Goodridge into a stable for their four equine lawn mowers. The bright red barn and a white board corral fence add to the attractiveness of the yard. The Hoffmans were winners of the farm beautification award from the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District.

Youth escapes abductor in Bagley

Bagley — Cody Coyer, 5, of Bagley fought off an abductor Sunday, August 22. The youth was playing ball in his yard with his cousin and when his cousin went inside for a drink of water, a man grabbed him, threw him through an open window into a car and sped off. Cody related that he was kicking and punching his abductor and was eventually let out in an alley behind Moon's Recreation, where he was found a short time later by his father. His father, who had begun his search for Cody immediately after his disappearance from the yard; said he estimated that the man had Cody for roughly 15 minutes before dropping him off. Police are still investigating the incident. The man was described as a white male, about six-feet-tall, weighing about 200 pounds and who had tattoos on his arm. He was driving a red 1984 Camaro, hatchback or Mustang. (Farmers Independent, August 25.)

State withholds funds from ALC

Crookston — The Area Learning Center in Crookston could loose its funding because the State Department of Education is refusing to give the center its funding until it meets the state's requirements for an area learning center. Without the money from the state the ALC would not be able to operate. (Crookston Daily Times, August 23.)

Kennedy warehouse collapses, spills grain

Kennedy — A warehouse on the south side of Kennedy collapsed over the weekend. The sidewalls of the warehouse burst on Friday as roofers were putting new shingles on the roof. There were no injuries in the incident but a lot of grain stored by the Harvest States Elevator was spilled. By Sunday, the north wall of the 40-year-old building was also down. (Kittson County Enterprise, August 25.)

Chippewa band to build apartments

Warroad — Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians in a joint venture between the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Minnesota Housing Finance Agency and the Tribe, began construction of two eight-plex apartment facilities within the city of Warroad. The goal of the project is to address the housing needs and to provide affordable housing for the Red Lake Tribal members who are employees of the Tribe's business ventures in and around Warroad. (Warroad Pioneer, August 24.)

Three counties to get flood assistance

Grygla — Commissioner R. Jane Brown of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training has announced the availability of Disaster Unemployment Assistance to eligible workers in Kittson, Marshall and Roseau counties whose employment has or will be affected by the flood. (The Grygla Eagle, August 26.)

Plucking chickens is family affair

McIntosh — The Mike and Sheree Breckol family was featured in a recent edition of the McIntosh Times. The family raised 2,100 chickens for market. They have been in the chicken raising business for over 16 years and have the cleaning technique down to a science. The whole process from start to finish takes about two minutes per chicken. (The McIntosh Times, August 25.)

Multi-purpose events center is discussed

Twenty different groups were invited to participate in a discussion about a multi-purpose community ... in the conceptual stage. Although the project seems to have been in the conceptual stage for the last seven years, it appears that several influential groups are interested in bringing it out of the conceptual stage and onto the drawing board.

The meeting Wednesday, August 25, not only included city staff, and representatives of School District 564, Northland Community College, and the Technical College, but also Dan Brennan, Minnesota Community Colleges director of facilities, and Herb Ketcham Jr., principal, The Alliance Architectural Firm, and Sen. LeRoy Stumpf.

It was agreed that a representative of Northland Community College will be the contact person as far as working with Ketcham and Brennan. Both colleges have endorsed a cooperative project, and agreed to an early recommendation to locate the facility near the Colleges. In early attempts to define the project, the group consensus was that it could include an indoor and outdoor track, a multi-purpose activity floor, an outdoor football field, a wellness/fitness center, locker rooms and a fine arts center. An indoor swimming pool was also discussed.

Depending upon the size of the project, said Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, the state would like to participate in funding. The mood among legislators, he said, is such that cooperative multi-function projects are likely to get support.

Several needs assessments have been conducted recently. Conceptually, said Don Stewart, community development director, there

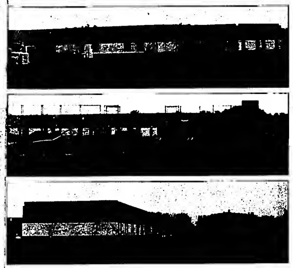
Skylite Apts. gets funds for remodeling

Thief River Falls City Attorney, and chairman of the Housing and Redevelopment Authority (HRA) Paul Ihle announced Tuesday during a city council meeting that Skylite Apartments in Thief River Falls was one of the few applicants to receive funds from HUD for a remodeling project.

Audrey Bruggeman, manager of the Skylite Apartments in Thief River Falls, and executive director of the HRA, said they had received a letter notifying them that they will be getting something, but how much wasn't discussed. Bruggeman said she believes just how much will be provided for remodeling will be discussed during a telephone conference call in the near future.



Because Skylite Apartments was a HUD project when it was built, it must follow HUD guidelines. In Thief River Falls administration and management of the 80-unit facility is orchestrated by the HRA.

Bruggeman explained that guidelines have outpaced the existing structures. For example, the walls are four inches thick and HUD now requires that the walls be six-inches thick. There have been many changes in regulations for safety lighting and handicap and disabled accessibility, as well.

In its Comprehensive Improvement grant application, Skylite apartment staff and HRA addressed its many needs. Bruggeman said she would like to see improvements go all the way from the roof down.

During the review of the grant applications, an engineer for HUD and CIAP came up and looked at the facility. Warren and Red Lake Falls also applied for grants, but were not funded.

Bruggeman said everyone is excited about the news and wants to know what will be done. She said she expects to find out during the conference call.

New walls are going up all the time at the Challenger elementary school being built in Thief River Falls. School District 564 board members learned Monday that despite the wet weather, the construction is on schedule. The total estimated cost of the building is $10 million.

Hold onto your wheat, samples are being tested

Howard Person, Minnesota Extension Agent in Thief River Falls, explained to Pennington County Commissioners Tuesday evening that he is attempting to get a uniform sample of wheat in the county to test for wheat scab.

Person said in an interview later that he intends to get about 10 to 15 samples to send to the University of Minnesota Plant Disease Clinic. Person is taking this action because he is concerned about spread of the disease and market impact on area farmers.

Person said the accepted theory was that wheat scab was caused by an organism called Fusarium Graminearum which spread from corn trash to wheat heads when the wheat was flowering. Person said there isn't much corn in the area and it has spread all the way up into Canada.

According to an update by Roger Jones, Minnesota Extension Plant Pathologist with the University of Minnesota, head scab is epidemic in Hard Red Spring Wheat in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. Unlike past years, head scab in this year's crop is severe from West Central Minnesota all the way to the Canadian border. Statewide losses will exceed 20 per cent. Yield losses in individual fields range from five per cent to 80 per cent and concern exists over the quality of the remaining crop.

Of immediate concern is the

Hollenbeck to defend barrel racing title

Kansas rider who won championship at first TRF Stampede last year to ride in second annual event Saturday

Mardee Hollenbeck of Pratt, KS, won the women's professional barrel racing championship last year during the first Thief River Falls Stampede. Mardee finished 17th in the world last year and was champion of the Prairie Circuit of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA). Among her wins was a championship in the Dodge National Circuit Finals in Pocatello, ID, where she claimed the $10,000 first place prize money. She has entered the Second Annual TRF Stampede barrel racing for Saturday, September 4.

by Marvin Luodio
Times Editor

As the very first rider on the first night of the three-night, first-ever Thief River Falls Stampede in 1992, professional barrel racer Mardee Hollenbeck turned in a time of 14.81 seconds. That time was constantly challenged but held up throughout the rodeo and resulted in Mardee collecting the first prize of $872.52 and a silver championship belt buckle.

Contacted at her home in Pratt, KS earlier this week, Mardee said she has entered the Second Annual TRF Stampede for Saturday night, September 4. Her husband Shawn is also entered in the calf roping that night but her father, who also is a calf roper and frequently goes to the same rodeos, has cattle to ship and will miss the Stampede this year.

"We had a good time at Thief River Falls last year and look forward to coming back there again," Hollenbeck said. She said she likes the fact that the rodeo performances will all be indoors this year, although she probably benefitted last year from an arena that deteriorated as a result of heavy rain during the three-day event.

"My horse usually does pretty well in a smaller arena," she said. The barrel set will be a little narrower in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center than it was outdoors at the fairgrounds last year.

Some barrel racers keep two horses, including a smaller, quicker horse for the smaller arenas. Mardee is a one horse racer. She has had the 12-year-old gelding named "Pony" for three years and it has performed well for her. Her best year was in 1992 when she won $27,000 in WPRA competition plus $8,000 in bonus money.

Last year Mardee was the Prairie Circuit champion in the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) and finished 17th in the world standings. She won the Dodge National Circuit Final in Pocatello, ID, and claimed the $10,000 first prize. This year she is in the top 25 in world rankings and currently third in the Prairie Circuit.

"I finished first in Spooner, Wisconsin and fourth at Sikeston, Missouri," she said of recent entries, "and I've been in the money at many others. I ran five rodeos last week—one in Kansas, one in Oklahoma and three in Nebraska."

This week she will be in Ark City, Kansas; Ashland, MO; and Des Moines, IA. Last year she entered 110 rodeos and the number is expected to be about the same this year.

The travel schedule can get to be much more grueling than the competition itself. When we talked to her at the Headwaters of the Mississippi Rodeo in Park Rapids on Saturday night, July 3, she and her mother, Gay Lewis, had left Kansas City with their pickup truck and horse trailer at 5 a.m. and driven for 13 hours, arriving at Park

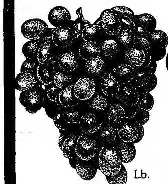
Biggest name in rodeo enters TRF Stampede

Ty Murray of Stephenville, TX, four-time and current world champion all-around cowboy, is among the list of entries for the Second Annual Thief River Falls Stampede September 3, 4 and 5.



Murray, 23, joined the PRCA in 1988 and since 1989 has held the world all-around title. He earned $225,992 in 1992—the first cowboy to earn more than $200,000 in a single year—and his career earnings through the end of 1992 were $897,811.

PRCA cowboys routinely enter several rodeos and select where they will appear based on the money to be won and the animals they draw to ride. While Murray's appearance is therefore not assured at this time, the prize money in Thief River Falls and the quality of horses and bulls contracted for the Stampede increase the chances of his appearance one of the three days.

Teachers hope plan will improve student conduct

Bemidji — Several Bemidji teachers hope a plan to improve student conduct at Bemidji high school will show how good conduct can help students outside of school. The proposal would be a partnership with the business community designed to hold students accountable for their actions and reward position conduct. Once implemented, the school staff would act as monitors and keep a confidential computerized file on student behavior. When employers are interviewing a student for a possible job, a conduct summary from the school may be requested from the applicant. Teachers may also use the file to help in compiling information for letters of recommendation. The nnat step in the process will be discuss it with the student council. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Construction on Nature center started

Fertile — The long-awaited construction start for the Sandhills Nature center took place this week with the pouring of a concrete slab. The building, which is located in the Fertile Sandhills, has been a dream ever since the conception of the Wilderness Sanctuary in 1975-76. The project went on to become known as the West Mill Recreation area and the latest effort is to create the Agassiz Environmental Learning center. The Nature center is funded in part by a grant from the state of Minnesota. Dimensions of the building are 48 feet by 28 feet. (Fertile Journal)

Walleye tournament getting organized

Williams — The first public meeting on the Cabela's/In-Fisherman championship tournament was not attended by an overabundance of people, but those on hand found out that organizers are well on their way to bringing the event together. The event will be held October 7-9 as the final stop on the Professional Walleye Trail and should bring out the biggest names in professional fishing. While the main objective of the tournament is to catch walleye, tournament rules encourage keeping the fish alive, assessing a bonus of .i pounds per counted fish released back into the water. Land O'Lakes expects to close Fosston transfer station next July

Fosston — After meeting with employees last week, Land O'Lakes cooperative officials in Arden Hills announced that the Fosston Milk Transfer station would be closing in July 1994. Letters are currently being written to all dairy producers in that area to let them know of the changes in the operation and how they will be served by the cooperative in the future. The Fosston plant presently employs 20 people. It is expected that one-third of them will be offered positions at the Bridgeman plant in Thief River Falls and one-third will be offered positions at the Perham cheese plant. The remaining one-third are eligible for retirement. (Thirteen Towns)

It seems the original recipe had a misprint on the amount of butter or margarine, so I couldn't help her, but the nice reader went ahead and made the cookies, adjusting the shortening until she got it right. (Thanks, Loretta!).

Here is the corrected recipe. Loretta said it reminds her of one of "Mrs. Field's cookies and was "yummy":

CHEWY CHOCOLATE-CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES
3/4 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups flour
3/4 cup cocoa
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 package chocolate chips walnuts, if desired

Cream margarine and sugar well. Add slightly beaten eggs and mix well. Add vanilla and mix.

Combine flour, cocoa, soda and salt and add to sugar mixture. Add chocolate chips and mix well.

Refrigerate for one-half hour and then bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 9 minutes on ungreased cookie sheet. DO NOT OVERBAKE.

School is starting, fall is on the way, and it is a good time for full cookie jars. Let's have some more good cookie recipes today. These are all drop cookies, for quick fixing.

While we're at it, this recipe claims to be like the "Mrs. Field's" cookies, too. These have oatmeal in them:

MRS. FIELD'S CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES
1 cup butter
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups blended oatmeal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 cups flour
1 chocolate bar, grated (4 ounce bar)
12 ounces chocolate chips
1 1/2 cups nuts

Heat oven to 375 degrees

Blend oatmeal in blender to fine powder.

Cream butter, sugars, eggs and vanilla. Add grated candy bar.

Mix in oatmeal, salt, soda and baking powder. Add flour in small amounts and then stir in chips and nuts. (Mixture will be dry and thick.)

Drop by teaspoonful on ungreased cookie sheet. (Makes 4 dozen cookies.)

NCC chemistry lab goes high tech

Computers now play a big role in chemistry classes at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls.

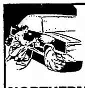
Last fall, NCC purchased the IBM personal laboratory software to use in the chemistry labs. Instructor William Moeglein spent one quarter on sabbatical setting up the equipment and automating data process in the lab.

"There's a whole new series of topics we can discover," said Moeglein.

The tedious process of collecting data is now done by the computer. Once the information is gathered, students are able to quickly access the information both statistically and graphically with the data being far more precise.

"Students are able to spend less time collecting data and more time analyzing it," said Moeglein.

Most students enrolled in Introduction to Chemistry at NCC have never had chemistry in high school. According to Moeglein, the automated lab eliminates the number crunching part of the course that really used to slow the class down.



"We accomplish a lot more in class and twice as much in our labs," says Moeglein.

Moeglein added that he is now able to introduce topics in his Introduction to Chemistry class that were formerly considered upper division material.

"We're reinforcing computer skills in the lab," said Moeglein, "and more importantly, we are preparing students for the business world. This is how it's done professionally."

Moeglein plans to apply for grants to offer workshops for other instructors interested in automating their science labs.

A Little Gridlock Can't Be All Bad

Whenever the party in power can't get its way in Washington, it usually accuses its opponents of obstructionism and promoting gridlock. But is gridlock always such a bad idea?

Answers to that question are provided by Philip C. Clarke in his "Behind the Headlines" column distributed by America's Future, a non-profit educational organization. Clarke writes as follows:

Shortly before Congress finished work on the 1994 budget, President Clinton took to the hustings to blast Republicans, particularly Senate Republicans, for contributing to "gridlock" in Washington. Clinton said he could accept defeat on his budget, but he just wanted it to be put to a vote.

Ironically, the sticking points over the budget debate were raised by members of Clinton's own party, including Democratic Senator David Boren of Oklahoma and Congressman Tim Penny of Minnesota. To be sure Senate Republicans have flexed their common muscle on several issues, notably Clinton's ill-fated "stimulus" package this Spring. But all this partisan sniping and positioning raises a larger question: What's wrong with a little gridlock?

Take for example the stimulus package. Republicans objected to the $16 billion proposal as being overloaded with pork barrel spending and giveaways to Democratic constituent groups. And to back up their opposition, they threatened to filibuster. Democrats couldn't muster the 60 votes necessary to end a filibuster and so the Clinton deal died. But it meant a win for taxpayers. They won't have to shell out $16 billion in new spending, much of it to benefit special interests.

More recently, Republicans threatened a filibuster against President Clinton's National Service proposal. Under this plan, young people who supposedly would volunteer to serve their community and country would receive vouchers for college tuition and expenses. But Republican critics argued that what looked like a good idea actually could be a license to steal from the Treasury.

For example, the vouchers could cost $20,000 for each enrollee, plus another $9,000 or so as an annual minimum wage salary. With an eventual goal of 150,000 participants, the total cost of the National Service program could come to $570 million a year. And as the free ride caught on, the ultimate price tag could, in the words of the late Senator Everett Dirksen, add up to "real money."

National Service has other strikes against it, according to Republicans. For example, what kinds of work would these alleged volunteers be doing? According to the proposal, they would not be allowed to displace any person already working. But then what would they do? Economists point out that tasks economically worth doing already are being performed.

Then there's the question of what happens to the true voluntary marketplace. Americans donate tens of billions of dollars and millions of hours of time in true voluntary service to their communities each year. It's not unreasonable to assume that the National Service program would discourage many Americans from such volunteerism.

But all such arguments apparently have fallen on mostly deaf ears. Instead, the Democrats in reply have charged GOP obstructionism and gridlock.

Still more recently, there was the controversy over disaster relief for the flood-stricken Middle West. Conservative Democrats and most Republicans wanted the $3 billion-plus price tag paid for by reducing other federal spending. This, they contended, was the only responsible way to pay for disaster relief, not to simply add to the huge federal deficit.

Contributing to the controversy was an amendment by Democrat Congresswoman Maxine Waters, whose Los Angeles district includes the scene of last year's riots. Miss Waters sought to add to the flood relief bill some extra funds for a job training program, including food, transportation and "grooming" expenses. After initial grumbling by Republicans and conservative Democrats, the job training stipend remained in the flood relief bill.

Once again, the critics were charged with promoting gridlock. But isn't that part of the democratic give-and-take system envisaged by our Founding Fathers? And for those who don't like it, how about the alternative? Around the world, one-party systems and unanimous votes by rubber-stamp parliaments are gone or are on the way out. Indeed, occasional "gridlock" may be just what's needed.

Bemidji wins TRF tennis title

Bemidji claimed team honors Thursday in the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational girls high school tennis tournament.

It was a successful head coaching debut for Lincoln High School graduate Scott Engelstad, whose Lumberjacks finished the day-long event with 24 points, followed by Crookston with 22, East Grand Forks 20, Thief River Falls 14, Moorhead 14, and Alexandria 11.

Wet weather delayed the start and prompted a format change to shortened matches, but it still would up as a solid day of tennis, reported Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney. "We really had a nice turn-out of fans and parents to watch a very competitive tournament," he said.

Individual titles were spread among the participating schools in both singles and doubles. The 1-through-4 singles winners were Jene Brune, Bemidji; Gina Stauss, East Grand Forks; Tarrah Saufferer, Bemidji; and Carrie Kildahl, Crookston. The 1-through-3 doubles champions were Jennie Couette-Andrea Onstead, Crookston, Joy Halstead-Carnie Diffley, Bemidji; and Amy Ellingson-Allison Norling, Alexandria.

Top Thief River Falls finishers were 4-1 second place efforts by sophomores Shari Evenson and Bobbi Dahlstrom at No. 3 and 4 singles, respectively. "Shari played real well," noted Forney. "Bobbi played smart tennis."

Doubles wins came from senior Jami Dehnert and Anne Padilla at No. 1, junior Jami Fremstad and sophomore Lise Ostby at No. 2, along with sophomores Kiki Goddard and Andrea Vigen at No. 3.

Alexandria provided stronger competition for the Prowlers. Brouse, Twomey and Evenson won at first, second and third singles, but the Cardinals broke through at No. 4 singles, and swept all three doubles matches.

Hold onto your wheat

presence of mycotoxins. Mycotoxins are toxins produced by fungi. Fusarium graminearum and Fusarium culmorum are capable of producing deoxynivalenol (DON or vomitoxin) in wheat. In addition, Fusarium culmorum can produce nivalenol in wheat. These toxins are major concerns to buyers.

Person noted that it is possible that Fusarium culmorum can be produced on wheat stubble. The practice of leaving wheat stubble to protect top soil has been encouraged and if they discover that Fusarium culmorum is transmitted by wheat stubble, the practice of leaving wheat stubble and planting wheat on wheat may have to be discontinued.

Person explained that there are two different strains of toxin, generally called vomitoxin. Fusarium culmorum is capable of producing both. Fusarium graminearum is capable of producing only one strain. He said they don't know which strain of Fusarium is affecting crops in Pennington county.

It is of concern because the FDA only allows two parts per million vomitoxin in the grain. If vomitoxin is detected in a grain sample at the elevator, the price is discounted drastically. Unfortunately, Person noted that the FDA has not done a lot of testing on vomitoxin. They don't know which strain of toxin is worse or whether the sample limit is too high or too low.

Person said that he is recommending that farmers turn up the air on their combine to blow out the lighter grain, and if possible, put wheat from separate fields in separate bins and do not try to trade the grain until the market has stabilized or an analysis has been conducted on the samples from the county.

According to an update from the Minnesota Extension Service, eight samples of the 200 to 250 received have been tested and all of them contained DON at levels of two to 18 parts per million.

According to information from the Extension service, the FDA suggested levels of concern are one parts per million for flour, two parts per million for baked goods and four parts per million for feed.

In response to commonly asked questions, the extension service stated that vomitoxin does not increase in storage. Vomitoxin if formed in the field as a result of fungal growth in the kernel and in the glumes — under conditions of very high humidities. Once grain is dried below moisture levels of 22 to 25 per cent, vomitoxin production is stopped. Grain stored at appropriate moisture content for storage won't have further vomitoxin development.

Grain drying does not increase the vomitoxin level. Drying grain to appropriate moisture levels for storage does not increase vomitoxin levels. However, if a vomitoxin test is taken on wet grain, about 14-15 per cent moisture, the wet grain may actually test lower for parts per million vomitoxin than if the grain moisture content was at 14-15 per cent moisture or lower, because of a dilution effect of the water still left.

Normal grain drying will not decrease vomitoxin levels. The grain can be detoxified only at temperatures of 230-degrees centigrade, a temperature so hot that it causes roasting of the grain.

There are no quick fixes when it comes to vomitoxin. Food chemistry journal articles indicate that various chemical reagents, such as sodium bisulfite, chorine, aqueous ammonium, an other reagents have been tried for reduction of vomitoxin, with varying degrees of success, but these procedures are not well defined nor have they been developed for farmers or grain elevators. Often they destroyed the milling quality of the grain.

For hay or silage that may be at high moisture levels, common procedures to reduce mold in this material may reduce the scab fungus or stop it from growing in the wet hay. Discuss this possibility with livestock specialists.

Vomitoxin is present in the kernel, and to pose a risk to grain handlers or farmers, it would have to be ingested in very high amounts. However, grain fields this year are moldy and not just from scab spores. Mold spores will cause allergic reactions and breathing problems if inhaled. Normal precautions should be taken to protect lungs when working in environments with high levels of grain dust and molds.

Cleaning does reduce vomitoxin levels. Past experience, according to information from the extension service, shows that scab levels and vomitoxin can be reduced with grain cleaning. Hard evidence is also available. The USDA Northern Regional research lab at Peoria, IL, does much work with mycotoxins. They cleaned 23 samples of scabby wheat in 1991 with aspiration (air flow) and reduced the vomitoxin levels by half or greater in 80 per cent of the samples. Air cleaning will result in a large loss of grain, however, because the levels of air needed to get rid of scab-by grain results in loss of non-scab-by grain as well.

As regards gravity flow cleaning, a Felton elevator recently sent Dr. Casper samples (four wheat and one barley) that had been cleaned to varying degrees on a gravity table separator. The results show that this type of cleaning is very effective in getting grain to high test weights and low vomitoxin levels. The four wheat samples cleaned on the gravity table at Felton weighed from 50 to 57 pounds.

To get to the end test weight and the vomitoxin levels below the two parts per million guideline, much of the original sample was removed: an estimated (but not measured) 15 per cent to 35 per cent went to screenings, and an estimated 17 per cent to 21 per cent was left in the final best sample. Much less grain would be lost, or more could be utilized as marketable grain, if the guidelines for grain would be relaxed to the three to four parts per million range for the 1993 crop.

Draw down of rivers not likely but permit given

Red Lake Watershed District Engineer Kevin Adolfs doesn't expect that the proposed draw down of the Red Lake and Thief rivers in Thief River Falls this fall will take place. If the rain stops now, he said, it might be possible but with existing conditions, it's not feasible to do.

Despite the damp forecast for the project, Adolfs said the good news is that it looks like the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will approve a permit to conduct the draw down. Adolfs said the permit will be for three years.

Adolfs said he hopes the permit will not have any restrictions. Basically, the plan calls for a draw down of the rivers in the late fall to reduce weeds, and a mid-summer draw down to consolidate sediment. However, with so much water, it doesn't look like the project will be able to expose the sediment this year.

Adolfs said the total project cost has been estimated at around $6,000. The biggest cost will be for renting auxiliary pumps for the city's water system. The project will affect the Red Lake river from the dam to about Johnson's Boarding Home on the river, and the Thief river from the Eighth street bridge to about the Golf course.

Returning to Thief River Falls and the TRF Stampede in an attempt to defend her barrel racing championship will be Mardee Hollenbeck of Pratt, KS. Mardee won the first ever Thief River Falls Stampede race last year with a time of 14.81 seconds and picked up a first place check of $872.52. Her horse is a 12-year-old gelding named "Pony." Only .62 second separated the top 10 racers over the three-day event. Mardee made the first ride on the first night of competition..

Mardee Hollenbeck will seek to repeat her title

Rapids about 6 p.m.

Less than two hours later she had made her run and was caring for her horse to get ready for travel. Before the rest of the rodeo was completed they were on the road for Killdeer, ND, and a rodeo there at 3 p.m. on Sunday. Her mother was helping with the driving because her husband and father were roping at a rodeo in Oklahoma.

Professional barrel racing becomes a life as well as a profession for Mardee. Now 24 years old, she has been riding horses since she was a toddler and began barrel racing in the WPRA when she was 11 years old. The rules have since been changed to make 14 the minimum entry age.

"The lighter the rider, the faster the horse can go," she explained as the primary reason for the rule change.

And that difference in weight carried can be a substantial one in the amount of money won. Last year in the TRF Stampede Mardee's winning time was 14.81 seconds. The 10th place rider was clocked in 15.43 seconds. Only .62 second separated first and 10th place. Second place winner, Sandi Brandli of Mauston, WI, was only eight hundredth of a second slower at 14.89 seconds.

With competition that close, consistency is important in every run. If the horse loses its footing for a fraction of a second or tips a barrel during a tight turn, the eight or 10 or 15 hours of driving to the rodeo will be a total loss. If all goes well, as it did for Mardee here last year, the one night pay-off could be a couple of week's wages in many other jobs.

"We'll be there and we hope to do well again," Mardee said.

We wish her well as she attempts to defend her title.

Events center is discussed by groups at meeting Wed.

would appear to be support out in the community for this type of facility.

He based that opinion on the fact that the city included in a recent survey two questions that pertain to this type of facility. One question was, "would you support higher real estate taxes and/or vote in favor of bonding for the following projects," which were then listed. The other question asked whether residents would be in favor of implementing a local sales tax to piggy-back the state sales tax in order to support the following projects, which were then listed.

Over 25 per cent of the 800 surveys sent out were returned. Two projects listed a multi-purpose community recreation/events center received, and a handicapped accessible facility to connect the county courthouse and city auditorium, received "fairly favorable" results, he said. What was surprising to him was the fact that both of those projects have received very little press. Of those responding to the question, roughly 58 per cent responded yes or maybe to the question involving bonding for the projects. A total of 51.4 per cent gave a favorable response to using the sales tax to support the cost of the projects.

Stewart added however, that if the community was asked to come up with more than 10 per cent of the total cost they probably wouldn't support the project.

School superintendent Bob Duncan said that the school district and city are near their maximum debt levels. There are limits to how much a community can afford, he said. He then suggested that the project be broken down into a three or four phase project.

Brennan and Ketcham were primarily interested in defining the scope of the project, and identifying a contact person. The group agreed that the contact person should come from Northland Community College. The group of individuals present also suggested that a smaller task force be created later in the process.

It appears that while much has yet to be accomplished, the concept of a multi-purpose recreation and events center is taking shape.

It's curtains for the dump

Roseau — Officials from the Minnesota Pollution Control agency and the Minnesota Office of Waste Management politely informed the Roseau county board recently that the local landfill must be closed and the county should plan to work with neighboring counties to process the county's solid waste. The board was warned that the state restrictions and controls are getting tighter all the time and the county needs to change with the times. By this fall Roseau county will have the only unlined landfill in the state. It has been suggested that costs for the residents of the county could double or triple with the proposed changes. (Roseau Times-Region)

Klingons ask help to pay deficit

Red Lake Falls — The Red Lake Falls economic development commission has recommended funding up to $3,000 to the Klingon Language camp to help the camp pay for a $3,400 shortfall, which resulted largely from smaller than expected enrollments for the camp. Camp Director Glen Proechel and Language Institute Director Lawrence A. [illegible] will receive the funding on the condition that the camp, which is considered a potential source of a great deal of international publicity, be held in Red Lake Falls for the next two years and a member of the economic development commission be a member of the camp board. Argyle and Warren jointly hire economic developer

Argyle/Warren — Earlier this summer, the cities of Argyle and Warren entered into a joint arrangement for sharing an economic developer. Dan Evans who was hired to fill the position recently. Evans has been involved in this field for over 15 years and has worked for a variety of companies and organizations. He and his wife have two children and are currently living in Bemidji. New principal named in Red Lake Falls

Red Lake Falls — Mike Verdun has been named the new Red Lake Falls high school principal. In a recent feature in the Gazette, Verdun relates experiences from his hobby as a photographer, comparing this to education. "You have to work to get something. You may have to wait for something." (Gazette)

Megan Steiger wins one battle but has many more to fight

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Four-year-old Megan Steiger of Thief River Falls can have a double transplant and the state will pay for it, ruled a Minnesota District Court last week.

The issue of whether the state should pay for a double transplant arose from an administrative referee's decision that there was a less than 50 per cent chance of survival with such an operation and thus it should be considered experimental. The district court ruled last Thursday that the referee had made a mathematical error and the survival rate was 80 per cent.

Megan, the daughter of Lois Steiger of Thief River Falls, was born with a defect that makes it impossible for her to ingest food. Her hope of eating again hinges on a liver and bowel transplant.

In essence, the state referee for Human Services had ruled that they would only pay for one transplant. Lois said that such an operation would have left Megan pretty much in the same condition.

In Lois Steiger's opinion the state's legislation is way behind that of other states. Lois explained that the referee was almost apologetic about state laws that prevented her from ruling that Megan could have the operation. Two years ago, recommendations were made to change the law. In January and February when all this began, Lois said, two states had approved the procedure. At last count, however, 15 states had approved the procedure.

The whole process has been an education, said Lois who is now quite capable of rattling off all kinds of technical medical terminology and statistics without pausing for a breath. Megan has been an education too, she added.

The outlook without state assistance for this operation would not have been good. In fact, Lois was only able to pursue the case in court because Ron Lee, a Minneapolis attorney, was interested in the case and willing to handle the case pro bono or without compensation. And, even though the court has ruled in her favor there are many other costs that won't be covered, such as travel and housing.

Though the District court ruled in her favor it doesn't mean her troubles are over. Lois and Megan have many obstacles to overcome. Megan still has to go for an interview in Pittsburgh, PA, at the only hospital in the United States that will perform the operation. The interview will determine whether she is still a viable candidate for the operation. After that ordeal, they still need to find a donor and the operation still has to be performed.

Megan understands what is happening, Lois said. Megan has two sisters, Kay Lynn, age 9, and Laura, age 14. One of her sisters explained that it's like having a car battery replaced, Lois said. "I don't know if that's the proper analogy, but it seemed to work."

Megan loves Barney and Mickey Mouse and is a very smart little girl, Lois said. She understands what is happening and she keeps going — "that's why I keep going," she said.

It hasn't been a one-man operation or even a two-man show, Lois said. Many people have helped them get as far as they are today. Lois specifically wanted to thank the nursing staff at Northwest Medical Center, and Doctors Johnson, Browning and Bray.

Strathcona man in custody after shooting incident

Wednesday evening, August 2, a rural Strathcona man was taken into custody after a shooting.

Peterson was taken to Roseau Area Hospital and later transferred to United Hospital in Grand Forks, ND. He is listed in serious condition.

The case remains under investigation.

East Grand Forks golf course to reopen

East Grand Forks — The River Bend Golf course is currently under reconstruction and will be ready for play next summer. The efforts to bring the golf course back to life is the idea of Dennis Blackmun, who is the general manager of the River Bend, a family-owned business. It was exactly 23 years ago when the original golf course ceased operation. It, along with the River Bend Supper club, was owned by Blackmun's parents. (Exponent)

The owners of the building reported that a lock had been cut and missing items include a generator, valued at about $1,000 and a two-wheel utility cart. (Crookston Daily Times)

Morgan has served in the Peace Corps and recently completed her Ph. D. in Education Administration. (Norman County Index)

Bridge construction delayed by fire

Oklee — The bridge being built across the Clearwater river northwest of Oklee was damaged by fire last week. The bridge is a new type of construction, a "Concrete in Place" bridge, which means that instead of using pre-cast beams, the beams and deck are one structure and all concrete was poured at one time. The forms were in the process of being stripped away when the fire occurred August 25. It went unnoticed until Thursday morning when workers arrived on the scene. About 40 percent of the bridge forms were burned. The incident is under investigation by the Red Lake county sheriff's department and the state fire marshal and has been ruled accidental. (Oklee Herald)

Gail Sells hired as Win-E-Mac principal

Wisger/Erskine/McIntosh — Gail Sells has joined the administration team at Win-E-Mac and started her official activities on August 11. Sells, who is originally from the Iron Range, has been principal at the Red Lake Falls school district for the past two years. She has taught school for 16 years in addition to the time spent as principal there. She and her husband, Donald, who is the elementary school principal in Fertile, have two children, a son, Christopher, in the air force and a daughter, Melissa, who is a student at Bemidji state university. Today we'll have some good fall-type recipes for those favorite after-school treats, cookies. Fill up your cookie jar and make the house smell spicy and wonderful at the same time.

These cookies are filled with good things for you and taste good, too. They would be great for those of you who like cookies for breakfast:

CHEWY FRUIT AND NUT COOKIES

1 1/4 cups flour
3/4 teaspoon soda
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup butter or margarine (room temperature)
1 cup molasses
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups rolled oats
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
6 ounces chocolate chips (optional)

In large bowl, sift together flour, soda, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and ginger.

Add butter, molasses, eggs, oats, raisins, pecans and chips and beat at low speed with electric mixer (or by hand) until well-blended.

Drop by teaspoonfuls (2 inches apart) on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes, until set.

(Recipe makes about 3 dozen cookies.)

PUMPKIN HERMITS

1/2 cup butter (room temperature)
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 large egg
2 cups pumpkin puree
2 3/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup raisins

In large bowl, beat butter until soft and fluffy. Gradually add sugar and beat until well blended. Mix in egg and pumpkin.

In separate bowl, combine flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add spices and whisk to blend thoroughly.

Gradually add flour mixture to butter and sugar and blend well. Stir in nuts and raisins.

Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes, or until firm.

SOUPCON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Yummy dates make these cookies special, soft and chewy:

VERMONT DATE DROP COOKIES

1 cup butter
1 1/2 cups brown sugar, packed
3 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups finely chopped dates
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each.

Dissolve soda in water and add to the batter.

Sift flour with salt and cinnamon and stir into the batter. Add dates and pecans and mix well.

Drop by teaspoonfuls (2 inches apart) on greased and floured baking sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes, until golden.

(Recipe makes about 6 dozen cookies.)

These cookies taste as good as they look:

FROSTED CARROT COOKIES

1 cup shortening
3/4 cup sugar
1 cup cooked carrots (mashed) (baby or junior carrots work well)
2 cups flour
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder

Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and vanilla and then carrots, flour, salt and baking powder.

Drop on ungreased baking sheets and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. While warm, frost with Orange Frosting.

ORANGE FROSTING

1 tablespoon soft butter orange juice powdered sugar
grated orange rind, if desired

Mix to spreading consistency and spread on warm cookies. If frosting stiffens, add more orange juice to keep of spreading consistency.

SOUR CREAM DELIGHTS

1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup sour cream
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup nuts

Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

Cream sugar, butter, eggs and vanilla. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour cream. Mix in dates and nuts.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet and bake for 10-12 minutes.

Well, if you've been searching for a different type of cookie, these are it:

LICORICE SNAPS

1 cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 large egg
1 tablespoon anise seed
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Cream shortening, sugars and egg. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix well.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake 9-12 minutes.

CEREAL COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups cereal (any crisp kind will do)
1 cup nuts or coconut or chocolate chips or a combination

Mix ingredients in order. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased sheet and bake for 12 minutes at 375 degrees.

Students attend camp

Three Lincoln high school students were among 200 selected from several states to attend the National Leadership Camp at Camp Cheley, Estes Park, CO., August 11-16.

Participating were Heather Thornton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thornton, secretary of the Lincoln high school National Honor Society chapter; Angelique Goulet, daughter of Mrs. Linda Goulet, student council vice president; and Jennifer Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Duncan, senior class vice president.

The national leadership camps are five-day workshops for student leaders designed to increase their self-understanding and confidence, foster development of sound philosophy of leadership and increase their skills in communication, problem solving, group process and organization.

Directors of the center are Donald C. Larson, executive director of the Wisconsin Association of School Councils of Madison, WI, and Earl Reum, student activities consultant of Denver, CO. Staff members are student activity advisors selected from throughout the country.

Other national leadership camps are located at Zephyr Point, Lake Tahoe, NV: Siena College, Albany, NY: Outlaw Ranch, Mt. Rushmore, SD; Maine Maritime Academy, Castine, ME: Camp Wesley Woods, Smoky Mountains, TN; and Camp Blue Springs, Marianna, FL.

The camps are sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Division of Student Activities, for members of the National association of Student Councils National Honor Society and other student leaders. NASSP is a 43,000 member professional association of school administrators headquartered in Reston, VA, a suburb of Washington, DC.

Get Hooked On Rodeo— It's A Real Kick

It's too bad everyone doesn't have the opportunity that we in the media have of being able to talk to participants involved in public events. It is a lot easier to get interested in something if you know at least a little bit about some of the people involved.

A case in point is the TRF Stampede and the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. In only two years of professional rodeo in Thief River Falls we have become hooked on the sport. Much of that comes from being able to visit with a number of the professional competitors and others involved with the PRCA. We feel that people who enjoy rodeo for the action and the skill and daring displayed by the participants would enjoy it all the more if they could become more familiar with the riders, ropers and wrestlers.

Thief River Falls has been fortunate in only two years of hosting a PRCA rodeo to attract top caliber PRCA personalities. Four-time all-around champion Ty Murray, if he rides here this weekend as he is scheduled to do in saddle bronc and bull riding, is just one example. There are former world champions and top 20 world standings competitors in virtually all of the events. For instance, seven of the top 20 bull riders and eight of the top 17 bareback bronc riders have paid their entry fees for this year's TRF Stampede.

We are not sure that most people understand that for many of the PRCA contestants—and certainly for all of the top contenders—rodeo is their livelihood. It isn't a weekend hobby or a chance to show off for the girlfriend. They have to be good or they don't get a paycheck. Wayne Gretzky gets paid if he doesn't get a goal or an assist in a game and Joe Montana gets paid if he doesn't complete a pass. But Ty Murray, an equivalent superstar in his professional sport of rodeo, doesn't get paid unless he makes a qualifying ride and earns a high enough score.

Motivation of someone who tries to make a living by eight-second rides on bulls and bucking horses, diving off a running horse on the horns of a tricky steer or roping and tieing a stubborn calf certainly has to be questioned. Ask any of those who do any of the above, however, and the answer you will get is "I like to do it."

The PRCA media guide includes quotes from most of the top 15 cowboys in each of the National Finals Rodeo (NFR) events. Perhaps they give as much insight into why cowboys do what they do or enjoy it so much as anything.

Cody Lambert, saddle bronc and bull rider from Henrietta, TX, who is entered in both events here and has been to the NFR eight times, says: "What's so great about rodeo is it doesn't matter who you are or how much money you have, bulls don't understand politics."

Ken Lensegrav of Rapid City, SD, 1987 bareback riding rookie of the year in 1987 who rode here last year, explains: "Some people ask me when I'm going to get a real job. I answer everything I have, including a free college education, has come to me from rodeo."

David Bailey Jr., who won the bull riding at the first TRF Stampede last year and finished seventh in the world, says: "The best part of rodeo life is being able to make a living at what I love to do the most and hearing the crowd roar, after a successful ride. The worst thing about rodeo life is being away from home so much."

The necessity to be on the road and often away from family is repeated frequently as the main drawback to rodeoing. Risk of injury is scarcely ever mentioned—as if it is not only accepted but expected. And the reality of having to perform to get paid is not lost on anyone.

World champion steer wrestler Scott "Ote" Berry of Checcotah, OK, says: "Winning a world championship is the ultimate goal for anyone who rodeos for a living, but it doesn't guarantee you'll be successful the next year. Don't stop and admire your buckle too long, or the rest of the pack will run over you looking for theirs."

Four time world champion calf roper Joe Beaver of Huntsville, TX, adds: "The best part of rodeo life is being your own boss and being responsible for the outcome you receive. How good you are is how good you live. I like that. There is also the way you choose your time with your family. That is very important to me."

Four time Canadian champion bareback rider Robin Burwash of Okotoks, Alberta, typifies the professional cowboy's attitude: "When people find out what you do, they say you're crazy. Then when you analyze what you go through to perform all over the world for eight seconds, you think you are, too. I wouldn't have it any other way."

Arnold Felts, 1991 world champion steer roper from Sonora, TX, after winning the all-around and calf roping titles in Pecos, TX, said: "They make your rope bigger cattle. The arena's real big. The weather was about 113 degrees. Man, I loved it!"

Marvin Garrett, 1988 and 1989 world champion bareback rider from Belle Fourche, SD, who is entered to ride here this weekend, says: "I'd like to see everybody do his best, and me come out on top. I love to win when the competition's really tough."

Chuck Logue of Decatur, TX, 1990 world champion bareback rider who has been to 11 National Finals Rodeos and is entered at the Stampede this weekend, has a succinct viewpoint: "The best part of rodeo is winning. The worst part of rodeo is not winning."

Aaron Semas, Auburn, CA bull rider, takes a practical view: "Bull riding is one of the things I do best, in my opinion, so I figure I'd better stick with it. I don't think I'd make a very good carpenter."

In a bit of understatement, bull rider Clint Branger of Roscoe, MT, expresses the opinion that "Rodeo's a little more exciting than working 8 to 5."

But saddle bronc rider Kent Cooper of Albion, OH, probably sums up the rodeo cowboy's philosophy the best when he says, "I can attribute most everything I own and have accomplished to rodeo. If I had to do it again, I'd do the same thing."

Plan to take in at least one performance of the TRF Stampede and see if you don't get hooked on Pro Rodeo.

Setting the Standard for Refractive Surgery Excellence, Quality Eye Care, and Patient Safety. No other eye clinics in Northwestern Minnesota have more extensive clinical experience than Northwest Eye Centers. So it comes as no surprise that we're the preferred choice among families for comprehensive eye care, quality optical services, and refractive eye surgery.

Richard L. Lindstrom, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lindstrom,
"Thank you for all the benefits I'm now enjoying following my refractive surgery. Being able to see without the hassle of wearing contacts or glasses has made swimming and tennis easier. However, the most important part of this surgery was not endangering my eyes after my eyes could no longer tolerate contacts. Thank you!" Mrs. C.M.*, St. Paul

TRF Chamber spotlights air emissions laws

Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has received notice from the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency of changes in state and federal regulations regarding sources of air pollutants.

Even if a business has never needed an air emission permit before, it might now, under changes in the state and federal regulations for sources of air pollutants. In addition, most facilities with existing permits will need to submit applications for new permits.

The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) is emphasizing this message to the owners and operators of facilities that are affected, to let them know of new regulations early and to offer applicants training in how to complete permit applications.

Agency staff are available to present information to interested groups. "Minnesota's Air Forecast: The Pollution Control Agency's New Air Program" is a short slide presentation that can be tailored to the needs of the audience. It discusses the changes in the federal and state laws, how facilities with air emissions are affected, and the ways in which the MPCA will help facilities comply with the requirements. To schedule this presentation, call or write to Vanessa Givens, MPCA Air Quality Division, (612) 296-7626.

Beginning next year, MPCA staff will offer one- or two three-day training on how to complete air quality permit applications. To make it convenient, training will be offered on a variety of dates and locations throughout the state. The schedule will be announced as soon as it is available.

Current and accurate information on Minnesota clean air regulations is available in Air Mail, a bulletin service published by the MPCA. To receive this bulletin, call or write to Susan Brustman in the MPCA Public Information Office, (612) 296-7769. The MPCA's address is 520 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4194.

Water samples exceed lead levels

Water samples from eight of 40 homes in Thief River Falls tested for lead and copper have exceeded Federal guidelines.

As required by Federal Law, 40 homes in Thief River Falls that are at high risk to lead and copper in their drinking water, were tested for those metals. Water tests at eight of these homes exceeded the Federal Action Level of 15 parts per billion for lead. None of these homes exceeded the action level for copper.

The primary source of lead found in the water at private residences is from brass faucets and lead soldered copper pipe. When water has been standing still in faucets and pipes for several hours it can absorb the lead. To eliminate the lead, let the water run. Flushing the kitchen and bathroom faucet for 30 to 60 seconds removes any lead or copper that has been absorbed by the water standing in the fixture and pipes.

The Thief River Falls Water department is conducting a corrosion control study on water sampled from homes in this community. To begin this study, the finished water pH has been increased slightly and a corrosion inhibitor added to minimize the potential for lead and copper in your drinking water.

If you would like more information, please call the Thief River Falls Water department at 681-3809.

Lakers pull away from Prowlers in second half, win 41-6

It was close for a while, but defending Class A state champion Detroit Lakes cranked it up in the second half Thursday en route to a 41-6 season-opeoing high school football win over Thief River Falls at Prowler Field.

Returning a batch of players from last year's 14-0 team, the heavily favored Lakers could not shake the Prowlers in the first half, awning just a 14-6 lead at intermission. But the winners scared an all faur af their second half possessians to insure themselves another week at No. 1 in the Associated Press Class A poll – where they were perched in the preseason listing announced carlier in the week.

"We played with them for 2 1/2 quarters," offered Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "But they came aut in the second half and did the things they do so well – reading the defense, running the option and getting kids autside."

Detroit Lakes scored on its first possession, cavering 60 yards in just faur plays as speedy Dave Johnson burst through the left side and sprinted 47 yards down the sideline just 4:28 into the 1993 season.

A 38-yard punt return by Erik Gunderson set the Lakers up at the Thief River Falls 17-yard line early in the second quarter, and two plays later quarterback Toby Steinmetz reached the end zane on a keeper aff the right side from six yards out.

Thief River Falls managed to chop the 14-0 deficit to 14-6, however, on a 20-yard Eric Bjorgaard-to-Steve Bursile touchdown pass with just 27 seconds left in the first half.

An incomplete pass on a fourth-and-four gamble from their own 31 with 3:09 remaining wound up costing the Lakers when Bjorgaard lofted the boll to Bursile, who outresched a defender for the touchdown in the back of the end zone.

But that was the last the Prowlers saw of the end zone or the Lakers.

Detroit Lakes' second half scoring possessions included a 14-play, 64-yard drive that ended with an 8-yard Steinmetz roll-out; a 6-play, 88-yard effort that featured a tackle-breaking 55-yard touchdown run by Johnson; a 3-play, 58-yard quickie that ended with a 39-yard Steinmetz touchdown pass over the middle to tight end Jason Ziegler; and an even-quicker 2-play, 59-yard sprint to the end zone thot saw reserve back Ken Fechtner breaking tackles on a 60-yard touchdown run with 1:31 remaining.

Matt Horner drilled five extra point kicks before missing his final attempt.

Fullback Brian Howe carried 16 times for 78 yards for the Prowlers, who were out-rushed 341-84.

Bjorgaard was 6-for-7 passing for 56 yards, but he was alsa sacked three times and wound up losing 34 yards on the ground against the strong Detroit Lakes rush. Steinmetz was 4-for-7 for 56 yards in the air.

Despite the final scorebaard spread, Mumm was far fram discouraged with the loss. "I was very, very pleased with aur effart," he said. "We had a couple af breakdowns an their long touchdowns. We missed some tackles, and they have some kids who can run. But overall, defeasively I think we'll be okay this year. The offense needs some work. We're not real hoppy with our depth yet. We've gat to get the back-up people ta establish themselves if we want to have the kind of depth we need."

Gators lose 19-0 season opener

Warren shattered a scoreless tie with three fourth quarter touchdowns Thursday to beat visiting Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 19-0 in Valley Plains Conference high school football. It was the 1993 season opener for both teams.

The scoreboard came alive in the final 12 minutes when Ponies' Tim Erickson scored on runs of 35 and 26 yards, and Steve Roux added a 10-yard touchdown run.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River struggled offensively, netting just 10 yards on 23 rushing attempts. The Gators fumbled four times, although they lost just one. Quarterback Sheldon Ruud was 6-for-11 passing for 43 yards.

Warren didn't muster much offense, either, until the fourth quarter when the Ponies broke loose for 122 of their 220 rushing yards. They were 2-for-4 in the air for 48 yards.

The loss spoiled the coaching debut for the Gators' Steven Willman. "For three quarters, it was pretty much an even football game, at least defensively," said Willman. "They scored right away in the fourth quarter, and that kind of took the wind out of our sail. We were pretty fatigued by then. Their numbers wore os down."

Linebacker Brian Walsh was a standout for the Gators, pointed out Willman. "I was pretty pleased with our defense," he said. "We bent a little, but we didn't break – until the end. Offensively they shut us down. We need to work on our line play."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will take on Red Lake County Central Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Badger.

Thief River Falls win at East Grand Forks came from Shari Evenson at No. 4 singles and from Jamie Fremstad and Kiki Geddard at No. 3 doubles.

"Thief River and East Side match up pretty well," noted Prowlers coach Joy Forney. "The kids played pretty well. It could have easily been a 4-3 match."

The Prowlers will be idle until a Thursday, Sept. 9, dual ot home against Mahnomen.

RLCC drops first Class C start

■ Mustangs lose shutout, game in fourth quarter

Red Lake County Central carried a shutout into the fourth quarter, but wound up losing a 14-7 season-opening high school football game to Ada-Borup Thursday.

It was the Mustangs' first-ever Valley Plains Conference game. Enrollment figures boosted the the Gklee/Plummer cooperative from Nine-Man to Class C football this fall.

A 10-yard second quarter Shannon Willett touchdown run and a Scott Lorenson conversion kick provided Red Lake County Central with a 7-0 lead that stood until the host Cougars struck for a pair of fourth quarter scores – a 58-yard screen pass from Dallas Everson to Chris Ellingson and a 19-yard Ellingson run with just 56 seconds left in the game.

"We had a lot of un-knowns going into the game," noted Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "I think we found out a lot about ourselves. I thought we played pretty well for the first game. We didn't make that many mistakes."

The Mustangs had a couple of scoring chonces slip away in the fourth quarter when they came up short an a fourth-and-goal at the Ada-Borup 2-yard line and again failed to get the first down on a fourth-and-inches snap from the Cougars' 5.

"It was a tough one to lose because we played so well for so long and we had chances to win it," offered Brantl. "But I was happy with our performance. We proved we can play with them."

The Mustangs netted 156 yards on the ground, with Darrin Hofstad picking up 63 yards on 11 carries and Adam Lundeen getting 61 on 13 tries. Lorenson was 2-for-6 passing for 25 yards and two interceptions.

Defensively, Lundeen led the Mustangs with 13 tackles, while Lorenson had 11 and Hofstad wound up with 9.

The Mustangs will face Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Badger.

Wolverines looking for wins in '93

Look for Grygla/Goodridge to be improved when the 1993 high school volleyball season opens Tuesday at Marshall County Central.

The Wolverines have no where to go but up. They were 0-20 last fall.

"We've been taking our lumps the last couple of years," admitted Grygla/Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom, "but we're coming along slowly. I think we'll be competitive – more so than the last couple of years."

It's a year without a senior, but the young line-up is already dotted with experienced volleyball players.

"It's a good, enthusiastic bunch," said Mostrom. "They're working hard and taking things seriously. Their skills have improved immensely."

The varsity candidates includes juniors Jodi Manderud, Amber Wilkens, Carlye Schuler, Sara Newton, Leah Vigen, Jenny Johnson, Jessica Zavoral, Laura Veilleson, and Shonda Anderson; sophomores Shauna Thomas, Jamie Berndt, Rachel Rychlock, Courtney Vraa, Melissa Bernstein, and Deanna Kotrba; along with freshmen Jill Schuler and Jaclyn Haack.

"We've got somo good hitters and our serving has improved," pointed out Mostrom. "We still havo to work on serve receiving."

Grandstrand, Quam will lead Blue Devils

Grygla/Goodridge features one of the top runningbacks and one of the best linemen in Top of the State Conference high school football this fall, but the Blue Devils still face a challenge to improve upon last year's 4-4 finish.

"We've got a ways to go if we're going to be a contender," admitted Grygla/Goodridge coach Darwin Hagen on the eve of the Blue Devils' 1993 opener Friday against Valley North. "If the conference jamboree was any indication, it looks like we're in the middle of the pack."

Hagen is most concerned with the Blue Devils' lack of quickness and speed on defense.

Offensively Grygla/Goodridge will rely on 185-pound senior Jason Grandstrand, a 1,000-yard rusher a year ago. "We will build our offensa around Jason," acknowledged Hagen.

Grandstrand and the other Grygla/Goodridge backs will try to find running room behind 195-pound senior Eldon Quam. "I think Eldon will be one of the better offensive linemen in the conference this year," predicted Hagen.

The Blue Devils' first 'home' game will be Friday, Sept. 10, vs. Tri-County in Goodridge. They won't make an appearance in Grygla until a Friday, Oct. 8, match-up with Kittson County North.

Gasoline prices lower for Labor Day weekend

Gasoline prices are expected to be 12 cents lower this Labor Day weekend when compared to last year.

Experts are saying this decrease could be due to people's travel habits this summer. "Many people are taking vacations later because of the tremendous amount of rain we've had," said Ron Siegmund, AAA Minnesota spokesperson. "There is a surplus of gas, resulting in competition among retailers and gas prices that have been reduced considerably."

Nationally, the average price of self-serve unleaded gasoline is $1.10 per gallon.

Jason Paggen counsels at camp for diabetic youth

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Jason Paggen of Thief River Falls believes that dealing with diabetes takes on a whole different perspective after attendance at Camp Sioux, a summer camp for diabetic children sponsored by the North Dakota Chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

And Jason knows something about the view. Diagnosed with diabetes at age six, he attended the camp at Turtle River State Park near Arvilla, ND, for four years. And for the past two years he has returned to the camp to volunteer his services as a counselor.

The state park is located about 25 miles west of Grand Forks. This year there were 45 campers at the one-week session Jason worked with the 23 girls staying in cabins at the park and the 22 boys camping out in tents.

Kiwanis clubs provide funds for the camp and also provide the tents which are used for housing. The medical and nursing staff, dietitian and cooks, craft helpers and counselors are virtually all volunteers. There is no fee charged to campers, although they may make a voluntary donation to the Diabetes Association if they like.

Jason said there are two major benefits from camp attendance: (1) "Finding out that there other kids with diabetes.....a whole ton of kids diagnosed every year" and (2) "learning to give yourself shots."

Because the camp is operated by the North Dakota chapter, preference is given to applicants from that state. But campers are also accepted from Minnesota, and consideration is given to those who have never attended the camp before and who have been recently been diagnosed with diabetes. The more recently diagnosed applicants receive preference for the camp openings because they stand to beenfit most from camp participation.

Jason encourages young diabetics in the area to consider attending the camp. And if they are interested in attending, he suggests that they apply early, like in March or April. They can contact Susan Weaver, the coordinator, at 1-800-666-6709.

"I would recommend the camp to anyone with diabetes," says Jason, who is now 21 years old. "All of the counselors and craft helpers are diabetics themselves and almost all are former campers. They know what the new campers are experiencing and how to be of the most help."

Two one-week sessions are offered in the first two weeks in August. Activities are much as would be expected at any summer camp....swimming, archery, canoeing, volleyball, fishing and crafts. The added feature is lessons on living with diabetes.

"I learned to give myself insulin shots at the first camp I attended," Jason said. "I think that is one of the most important aspects of the camp. Many diabetics have to take shots two to three times a day, and children who can give their own really lessen the burden on their parents or others.

"At the camp it is a regular routine to do blood testing and take shots twice a day. The dietitians and other camp staff also pay close attention to diet."

Jason said that the volunteer aspect of Camp Sioux extends beyond the staff itself. Much of the food and all of the soft drinks are donated. Some of the recreational equipment such as canoes and related items are loaned by the Grand Forks Air Force Base. Other recreational equipment owned by the camp came from a school in the area which closed several years ago.

Paggen said his enthusiasm for the camp comes from the benefit he received from his own camping experience and what changes he has seen in confidence and attitude among campers that he has worked with the past two years.

"Diabetes isn't something you would choose to have, of course," he said, "but if you learn to adjust to it you can live a pretty normal lifestyle. I think the camp experience and being around others with a similar condition can go a long way toward that realization in young people who would otherwise have a much more difficult time."

As a counselor at Camp Sioux for diabetic youths, Jason Paggen of Thief River Falls gets involved in a number of camping activities. Here he watches as Preston Young, a third year camper, checks his insulin dosage. Jason said he would recommend the camp, sponsored by the North Dakota chapter of the American Diabetes Association, to any youngster who has been diagnosed with diabetes.

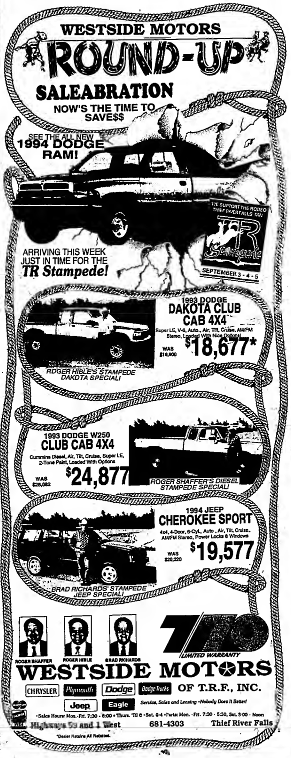
Jason Paggen of Thief River Falls is shown with Dr. James Brosseau of Grand Forks and Mary, the head nurse, during the first week's session of Camp Sioux this summer. The camp for children ages 8-14 with diabetes is held at Turtle River State Park about 25 miles west of Grand Forks near Arvilla, ND. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Paggen, Jason has been a camper four times and has returned as a counselor for a week twice.

Grygla school secretary gets education award

Connie Beito, office secretary at Grygla high school, is among eight school boosters honored with nominations for the Minnesota Education Association's "Friend of Education" award.

Beito was nominated by the Grygla Education Association for her dedication at the Grygla high school office secretary.

Announcement of the winner will be made September 17 by Robert Astrup, president of the MEA, at the Sheraton Midway hotel in St. Paul.



Greenbush Bike-A-Thon to benefit St. Jude's hospital

Public participation is invited for the Wheels for Life bike-a-thon to benefit St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital to be held Saturday, September 18, beginning at 2 p.m. in the Legion park in Greenbush. In case of rain the date will be moved to September 25 at 2 p.m.

In the bike-a-thon, riders ask sponsors to make a donation based on each mile of the ride completed. All riders turning in money will receive a certificate. Those who raise $30 or more also will receive a St. Jude T-shirt and those who raise $75 or more receive a sports bag as well.

"But the real prize is the pride everyone can take in giving children a chance to live a normal life," stated Rita Bergsnev, coordinator for the event. She may be contacted for details on riding or sponsoring a rider at 782-2554.

St. Jude's Hospital is known for its battle against childhood cancer and other catastrophic childhood diseases and operates primarily from public support.

Roseau — Normally cries for help produce swift action, but recently a kitten's call for help got a response from an unusual source. At a place about two miles north of Roseau, the kitten, George, climbed too far out on a limb overhanging the Roseau river and could not get back to solid ground. Mewing from the kitten caught the attention of everyone on the farm, including Katie and Samantha Reed and their dog, Sambo. The girls, ages ten and eight, recognized the kitten as belonging to Serina Olson. Before anyone could attempt to rescue the kitten, Sambo, a springer spaniel, leaped into the river and allowed the kitten to climb onto his head and ride to shore. The two came out of the adventure unscathed. (Roseau Times-Region)

Chippewa band to build apartments

Warroad — Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians in a joint venture between the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Minnesota Housing Finance Agency and the Tribe, began construction of two eight-plex apartment facilities within the city of Warroad. The goal of the project is to address the housing needs and to provide affordable housing for the Red Lake Tribal members who are employees of the Tribe's business ventures in and around Warroad. (Warroad Pioneer)

Clearbrook/Leonard has new pastor

Clearbrook/Leonard — The Clearbrook/Leonard parish welcomed a new pastor and his family September 7. Rev. Gary Boen and his wife Sandy and their three sons are getting settled into the parsonage in Clearbrook with installation set for September 26. Rev. Boen grew up in Bloomington and Burnsville, though his parents were originally from Karlstad. He had previously served in churches in Cloquet, Pelican Rapids and International Falls. (Leader-Record)

2,409 enrolled at TRF schools opening day

Total enrollment of students in School District 564 on opening day of the 1993-94 school term Tuesday was 2,409, down from 2,414 a year ago. The figure is somewhat deceiving, however, in that it includes 58 students in the Area Learning Center (ALC) compared with 123 last year—a decline of 65 students.

The ALC has classes in Thief River Falls, Roseau and Warroad but all students are included in the local enrollment figures because this district receives state aid on a full-time equivalency basis for the students attending. The 2,409 figure also includes 10 youngsters in the pre-school program and two in a special education program not applied to any specific grade.

In K-12 enrollment, however, this year's opening day enrollment is up by 48 students over a year ago. The 1993-94 kindergarten has 196 students—the largest of any grade in the district. In the enrollment count it replaces the 1992-93 senior class which began last year with 184 students.

By contrast, kindergarten enrollment last year was 152 on opening day, the smallest class in the district. Size of this class has shrunk by nine students to 143 in first grade this year.

Second largest class in the district in the eighth grade at 193 students with 192 in grade nine. Last year's seventh grade class was 186 and the eighth grade class was 181.

Second largest class last year was the ninth grade with 188, exactly the same number as the opening day enrollment for the 10th grade this year.

Second smallest class this year at 173 students is the fifth grade. Last year's fourth grade had 178 on opening day. Second smallest class last year was the third grade with 164. This year the fourth grade had 175, an increase of 11 students from last year's third grade class.

Overall, every division of the local school system had an increase in opening day enrollment this year over last year except for the ALC. Elementary enrollment was up by one to 1,043. Franklin middle school enrollment grew by 41 students to 566 and Lincoln high school enrollment grew by six from 724 a year ago to 730 this year.

Supt. Robert Duncan cautions once again that opening day enrollment figures are only that—the number of students in attendance on the first day of school. They will likely vary from full-year enrollment figures but do provide a comparison that is helpful in school planning.

Franklin middle school enrollment this year at 566 is the largest it has been since 578 attended on opening day in 1984. Lincoln high school enrollment is the highest since 744 in 1990. Except for last year, the elementary enrollment is the highest since 1987.

Northrop and Washington elementary schools both have classes in kindergarten through grade five. There were 295 students at North-

Learning how to share toys and cooperate are some of the things kindergarten students learn early in the year. These students are in Susan Olson's kindergarten class at Northrop elementary school in Thief River Falls. This may be the last kindergarten class held at the school. Next year, elementary students may be attending school at Challenger elementary school, which is in the process of being built. Russian lecturer can speak freely again

Elena Dragounova will be in Thief River Falls through November 24 under sponsorship of the Northland Community College Foundation

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

There was a time not many years ago in Elena Dragounova's teaching career that she felt she must be particularly cautious about what she said to her high school students in St. Petersburg, Russia. Being an informer was considered by many to be a patriotic, almost heroic duty, and trust was a scarce commodity.

"Now we have gained freedom of speech in politics and the freedom to develop and use techniques in our teaching," she said. "It is a freedom with a value you can not imagine unless it has first been denied to you."

Dragounova will be at Northland Community College in Thief River Falls until November 24 under sponsorship of the Northland Community College Foundation and through a donation to the Foundation by Douglass and Kay Wedul Steiger.

Initial arrangements were made by Merle Kruschke, long-time instructor at Northland, who met Elena while visiting Russia and she was serving as a tour guide. He believed her knowledge and ability to express herself in English would be beneficial to Northland and to the people of this area.

Elena grew up in some of the darkest years of the Soviet Union in modern history. Her father was a naval officer and frequently became frustrated with the system. Leaders of the ruling Communist party ruled by power and fear and believed that intellectuals were dangerous to the communal system. They wanted their subjects to be poor and ignorant and attempted to eliminate from the schools all subjects which led to creativity.

For Elena there was nothing unusual about the educational system until she was 16 years old and some friends introduced her to some intellectual thinkers. She began to read books by Russian authors, including dissidents, and many books in English which were not published in Russian. She became involved in discussions which led her to seek the truth.

One of the best students in history in her school and especially interested in the subject, she had an instructor who she respected greatly for her teaching. One day she went to her and asked earnestly if what she taught was true. When she would not answer, Elena realized the teaching was false and left the room in tears.

She became a member of what was considered the underground movement in Russia, meeting with groups called the "Children of Kitchens" because they would gather in the kitchens of apartments to study and talk and read sometimes into the early hours of the morning.

Such activity was officially forbidden and she was cautioned not to read or display her books in public. She continued her studies and became a teacher eight years ago, instructing in the History and Architecture of St. Petersburg and West European Art in the Hermitage Museum.

She also works in the department on city building and architecture of St. Petersburg under the mayor's office and for the past five years has been a freelance tour guide with different agencies including the U.S. Consulate, and serving as an interpreter at various business meetings.

Dragounova also teaches beginning English to business people, primarily in the 40 to 50 age group who did not study English in school but who need it now to conduct international business.

Lightning strikes September 3

Stephen — At 7:30 p.m. September 3 the Glen Carlsons were about to leave for the Stephen Tiger football game when lightning struck a tree at the end of their driveway. The lightning bolt demolished the tree with a bang. Mrs. Carlson reported that the house seemed to be filled with electricity and described it as a "weird experience." No damage was sustained by the house, but the electricity caused the garage door to open. (Messenger)

Old Hallock hotel fire set by juveniles

Hallock — An investigation by the Hallock police, Kittson county sheriff's department and Fire Marshall Dale Voistad of Clearbrook has tracked down the individuals responsible for starting a fire at the Hallock hotel recently. The fire was suspicious, since the building was empty and had been without power for several years. Several juveniles are believed to have entered the building through an unlocked door and started the fire. The Hallock Fire department responded to signs of smoke and were able to leave after about two hours. (Kittson County Enterprise)

Karlstad AALC purchases Hartz building

Karlstad — The Hortz store building in Karlstad will soon be transformed into a church. The building was recently purchased by the American Association Lutheran Church, Inc. of Karlstad. Plans are now being made to remodel the interior to include partitions for Sunday school rooms, a kitchen and sanctuary and other needed spaces. The congregation has already found adequate pews at Ten Strike, where a congregation is enlarging their facilities. The building was built in 1969 and used for a Hartz grocery store since that time. Baudette — Lake of the Woods high school counselor Randy Nelson will be the acting high school principal during the 1993-94 school year. Warroad — St. Peter's Episcopal church of Warroad will celebrate a milestone Sunday as it observes the 90th anniversary of its founding. The first Episcopal service in Warroad was conducted by Rev. A. R. Mitchell at the C. A. Moody home in 1903. The church was briefly known as All Saints parish in 1906, but changed to St. Peter's Episcopal church in 1907, which was also the year the church building was constructed. A special service will be held Sunday at 9 a.m. to commemorate the anniversary. (Warroad Pioneer)

Tribal nursing home wins state approval

Redlake — State health inspectors are satisfied with major improvements made at the Jourdain/Perpich Extended Care facility in Redlake and have lifted the threat of medical assistance cutoff for its 39 residents. The tribally run nursing home has corrected all of the major infractions cited and is working on correcting several other problems such as sloppy medication dispensing procedures, failure to always have required staff on hand and not having written instructions of special meals. The new acting director of nursing services, Iris Schumman, of Rehad Care Consultants of Madison, WI, will oversee the reassessments of patients and other problem-solving. (Bemidji Pioneer)

Speaking of fall weather and substantial meals, today we'll have some recipes that will warm up the kitchen as well as the innards.

This meal is easy but tasty and elegant enough to serve to guests:

SWISS STEAK
1 1/2 to 2 pounds round steak, cut 1-inch thick
Flour
salt and pepper
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1 medium onion, chopped fine
1 cup burgundy wine
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 soup can water
1 (4 ounce) can mushroom pieces, drained

Cut steak into serving-sized pieces. Season flour with salt and pepper and sprinkle on steak. Pound with mallet to 1/2 inch thickness.

Brown steak slowly in oil and then add onions and cook until onions are transparent. Place steak and onions in 2 1/2 quart shallow baking dish.

Add wine and cover and bake for one hour at 350 degrees. Add soup, water and mushrooms and return to oven and bake another hour or so, until steak is fork tender. Gravy may be thickened, if desired.

Serve with noodles, rice or potatoes.

SWISS STEAK
2 pounds round steak
6 tablespoons flour
2 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes
1 medium sliced onion
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 clove garlic
2 tablespoons ketchup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt

SOUPCON
Sherry LaCoursiere

Pound flour into sides of steak. Brown and add remaining ingredients.

Bake at 350 degrees for 2 to 2 1/2 hours, covered. Uncover and bake for 15 minutes at 300 degrees.

Use the fresh produce available now to make this tasty all-in-one casserole:

CABBAGE CASSEROLE
Raw potatoes, thinly sliced
Raw carrots, thinly sliced
Raw onions, thinly sliced
1 pound hamburger
1 small head cabbage, cut up
Salt and pepper to taste
1 can cream of celery or mushroom soup
1 soup can water

Layer items in order, using uncooked hamburger.

Bake at 425 degrees for about 1 hour. Before serving, add 1 1/2 cups shredded cheese.

This simple hot dish is one of my family's favorites. We call it "Grandma's Hot Dish." It's very quick to fix::

POTATO BEEF HOT DISH
1 pound hamburger, cooked with onion
4 to 5 large potatoes, sliced
1 can cream of celery soup
1 can vegetable soup
1 soup can water

Combine all ingredients and bake for 1 1/2 to 2 hours at 350 degrees.

Use that zucchini to make this tasty one-dish meal for a bunch:

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE
2 quarts sliced or diced zucchini
1 large onion, chopped
1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup parboiled carrots
1 (7 ounce) package of stuffing croutons
1/2 cup melted butter
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 cup dairy sour cream

Cook zucchini and onion in small amount of salted water until they change color. Drain, reserving liquid.

Brown beef and season with salt and pepper.

Prepare stuffing according to package directions, using butter and the reserved cooking liquid instead of water.

Combine carrots, soup and sour cream. Fold in zucchini and onion.

Spread half of the ground beef in bottom of greased 4 or 5 quart casserole. Add half of the stuffing mixture. Top with remaining meat layer and then rest of stuffing.

Bake 45-50 minutes at 350 degrees. (Serves 6-8 people)

Today's recipes are from Thief River Falls' Redeemer Lutheran Church Women's cookbook, "Favorite Recipes."

To The Editor:

HALLELUJAH!!! The world is finally free for quality discipline because hats have been banned at Lincoln high school! Personal freedom of expression? Individual fashion choice? Outdated social standards that are different for men and women? Who cares... after all, these are kids, we can tell them what to do—what to wear—and we can bend "courtesy" rules to our liking because it wouldn't be fair to ban the privilege for young men and still allow young women a choice.

I've heard it all—hats are "dirty," hats enhance a "rebellious nature," hats "advertise products that promote substance abuse," hats contain "sexually explicit slogans inappropriate for high school," hats "lower a student's self-esteem because they don't have to comb their hair in the morning."

And, since we're all mature enough to admit it probably is not fair to make children adhere to a policy that is disregarded by many adults, now we can take pride in a school that is also willing to dictate to an entire community appropriate standards for head gear. I've been told they'll probably be willing to make an exception if you're experiencing hair loss because of surgery or chemotherapy. Well, HURRAH!

Class size is out of control in this district, the family problems counselors and children are dealing with would curl your hair, teenage pregnancy, alcoholism, low self-esteem, trying questions about elementary reading programs, adjustment to crying curriculum needs—but, hey, we have a hat policy so everyone should sleep better tonight.

You know, you probably won't believe this, but my daughter and I march right into church with those evil little things right on our heads. What's the world coming to?

Sincerely,
Key Teeters-Asp

Construction starts in Roseau

Construction will begin Monday, September 13, on state highways 11, 89 and 310 in and around Roseau, according to Roger Hille, project engineer for the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

Hille said the project resurfaces 14 miles of highway 89 from Wannaska to Roseau, 11 miles of highway 310 from Roseau to the Canadian border, and highway 11 from Roseau west for three miles. Thorson, Inc., of Bemidji is the contractor.

Project supervisor Bernie Stinson expects that the project will take about six weeks to complete. During that time motorists can expect some delays, and they should watch for flag persons or pilot cars directing traffic in the construction area.

To ensure the safety of both the traveling public and highway construction workers, the Minnesota State Patrol will be on duty and will ticket anyone who disobeys those directing traffic.

"One interesting aspect to this project," Stinson said, "is that reflective tape will be inlaid in the bituminous road surface for centerline and edge striping. I expect that night driving safety will be improved with the increased visibility of pavement markings."

Presidents Can't Seem To Admit To Mistakes

What is there about the U.S. Presidency that carries with it the assumption of omnipotence? Why won't people who hold that office admit to mistakes, as if such admission will somehow reduce them to the stature of mere mortals?

Political analyst and columnist Carl Rowan, writing for King Features Syndicate, asks that question with regard to the U.S. position in Somalia and similar situations in other nations. The United States sent troops into Somalia in what was to be a "humanitarian mission" under the slogan "Operation Restore Hope." The goal supposedly was to allow relief supplies to reach sick and hungry people.

"The road in was paved with welcome garlands," Rowan writes. "The path out is blocked by dead bodies and the fury of national pride." He said it proves the wisdom of the skeptics who say, "It's easy to go in, but how and when do we get out?"

Eight Americans have died in this operation, the last four when their military vehicle hit a land mine. There are 5,297 American troops acknowledged to be with the United National forces there, caught up in an escalating guerrilla war in which Somalians are attempting to drive foreigners out of their country.

No one knows who planted the mine that the military vehicle struck, but President Clinton immediately responded by saying he would take "appropriate action" against those who did so. The "humanitarian mission" now seems directed toward the capture or killing of Somali warlord Mohammed Farah Aidid.

Rowan equates President Clinton's "macho response" in Somalia to President Lyndon Johnson's bombing of North Vietnam to "bloody their noses a little" in retaliation for a Viet Cong raid on a base at Pleiku, killing eight Americans and wounding 62. The aftermath of that military response, the Vietnam War, was a tragedy of huge magnitude.

"Now President Clinton vows the 'appropriate' macho response in Somalia, which will mean maiming and killing many people who had nothing to do with blowing up the Humvee (military vehicle carrying the four American servicemen killed). And that will surely intensify the guerrilla warfare," Rowan states.

He adds that it is a pity that our President seems to think it would damage him politically to say: "We went into Somalia on a truly humanitarian mission. We saved a lot of lives. But we erred in expanding our mandate to try to control the internal politics of Somalia by disempowering 'warlords' and disarming various groups of citizens. We made a serious mistake in turning over the 'pacification' of Somalia to United Nations officials who felt the world body could go beyond peacekeeping and become a peace maker.

"Our mission was never to make war on the people of Somalia. They now clearly want us out, so I am withdrawing all U.S. military forces from that country, content in the knowledge that we carried out our mission of mercy as well as was possible under the circumstances."

Rowan says that such a statement would offend only those Americans who believe that as "the last great power," the U.S. can now use military might to control myriad events throughout the so-called Third World, the Middle East, the Americas and even places as far away as North Korea.

"American policy is now driven in part by people with notions that, under the cloak of the United Nations, or beneath the flag of the International Red Cross, the U.S. can become the all-time great 21st-century imperialist," Rowan writes. "But Somalia is teaching us that trying to be everyone's Florence Nightengale can be dangerous as well as costly, and that acting as everybody's policeman is truly foolhardy."

Rowan expresses the same opinion many of the American people have expressed with great common sense and what most of the American people believe and understand but which somehow seems to elude the President. We tried to help Somalians in dire need, our presence was uninvited, our motives misunderstood and our efforts unappreciated, and we have placed Americans in peril in a situation which has been out of hand from the start and can only get worse. It makes sense to say "we tried, but it didn't work." But don't expect sense to overcome false pride.

Coming Down Hard On Sunfish Violators

Two news releases put out recently by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources show that someone actually cares about the daily and possession limit of 30 sunfish in Minnesota. The DNR and the courts care.

In the first case, two Illinois men were found to be in possession of 310 sunfish—250 over their legal limit. One man was 48 years old, the other 72. Fines and surcharges plus restitution costs of $5 per fish came to $2,966. The men arranged bail and their court appearance was scheduled for September 27 in Bagley. If convicted, they could receive up to 90 days in jail in addition to the fines and restitution charges.

In the second case a Hopkins woman, 73 years of age, was found to be in possession of 400 sunfish over the limit. She was sentenced to 30 days in jail, fined $140, placed on one year of unsupervised probation and ordered to pay $2,000 in restitution. The jail term was stayed for one year on condition of payment of the fine and restitution and commission of no similar violations for one year.

The angler, Florence E. McGorrah, was arrested at a cottage on Lake Ethel, just south of Otter Tail Lake in Otter Tail county, by DNR conservation officers. They were tipped off by other anglers on the lake who kept her "under surveillance for a time to determine if she was fishing alone and actually keeping more than a legal limit of sunfish," according to the release.

Well, we know that there probably have to be some limits on taking Minnesota fish and that 30 is probably a reasonable to liberal limit for sunfish. And we can't just ignore people who break the law. But in many lakes sunfish are so numerous their growth is stunted and angling couldn't begin to deplete the population. It seems like a 73-year-old woman who has her own cottage, fishes alone and cleans her own fish doesn't deserve a fine. She deserves a medal.

Lians chosen Outstanding Cooperators

Duane and Janet Lian of Grygla were recently named as winners of the "Outstanding Conservation Cooperator" award for 1993 by the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District.

The Lians have been farming for more than 30 years in Eckvoll township of Marshall county where they own 440 acres and rent an additional 480 acres. Their diversified farming operation includes production of wheat, barley, oats, alfalfa hay and corn for feed. Livestock includes a 50-head cow/calf herd and flock of 110 ewes from which the lambs are fed for market.

Conservation practices include a cropping system of hay, pasture and grain rotation. Two stock ponds have been installed and a farmstead windbreak planted. Over the years five to six miles of main and lateral ditches have been installed and maintained and approximately 160 acres were cleared. Woodlots are also managed on the farm.

The house has been remodeled and building additions include two quonset buildings, a garage, shop, grain bins and cattle sheds.

In addition to their farming operation, Duane and Janet own and operate the Grygla Trailer Court. Duane does custom baling and Janet is a teacher in the Grygla elementary school where she has been recognized as a Teacher of the Year.

The Lians are members of Grace Lutheran Church in Grygla where Janet has been a Sunday School and Bible School teacher and a circle leader and Duane has been on the church council and parsonage board.

They are members of the National Farmers Organization and the Farmers Union. Janet has also been an adult leader in the 4-H club program and is a member of the Grygla Education Association and Minnesota Education Association.

Janet's hobbies are reading and gardening and both enjoy camping, traveling, family activities and family history. Their family includes two daughters, Jadie (Mrs. Duran Olson) of Thief River Falls and Jaylene (Mrs. Mike Archibald) of Grygla, and four grandchildren, Joel, Justin, Jayce and Joshua.

Increased WIC funding to help serve participants

New money allocated by the Minnesota Legislature this year will allow the Minnesota WIC Program (Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants, and Children) to serve an additional 3,200 participants each month.

"WIC is a program that is obviously working to improve the health of mothers and children, which inevitably has a positive impact on the well-being of our entire state," said Mary Jo O'Brien, Commissioner of Health. "We are happy to be able to serve additional WIC clients, and will continue to reach out to the rest of the eligible population."

During the 1993 legislative session, an additional $2.9 million per year was allocated to the WIC program by the Minnesota Legislature for the 1994-95 biennium.

WIC has been serving eligible participants in Minnesota since 1974, providing selected supplemental foods and other health-related services to mothers and children with special nutritional needs. The Minnesota WIC program currently serves about 88,000 participants each month.

Eligible WIC participants include pregnant women, new mothers, infants and children up to age 5. Each participant must be professionally evaluated and found to have special nutrition-related health needs, be a Minnesota resident, and have an income that falls below established guidelines.

Participants in the program are given vouchers that can be used to buy food from grocery stores. The vouchers can only be used for certain kinds of foods that are selected by WIC staff to meet the specific nutritional needs of each participant. Participants also receive nutritional education and are often referred for additional health-related services.

In recent years, the Minnesota WIC program has worked to effectively meet the needs of special populations. For example, special vouchers have been developed to allow for purchasing WIC foods in sizes more conducive to homeless mothers and children. In addition, since breastfeeding has been scientifically proven to be the best choice for feeding an infant, a WIC breastfeeding initiative is working to encourage and support women's decisions to breastfeed.

The Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) administers WIC in Minnesota, and a statewide network of local WIC agencies is responsible for providing services under the program. To find out who provides WIC services in your area, you can call MDH toll-free at 1-800-WIC-4030 (or 1-800-942-4030).

WIC is funded primarily by the U.S. Department of Agriculture — although the Minnesota Legislature has also allocated state funds for the program, making it one of the first states to provide local funding for WIC.

An authentic flavor to language instruction in the Thief River Falls public schools this year is again being added by student instructors through the Amity Scholars program. The young people assist with language instruction at Lincoln high school and Franklin middle school and attend some classes as well. Left to right are Eva Junquera of Barcelona, Spain; Nicole Schenker from Mellingen, Switzerland; and Adriene Correa from Rosario in the state of Colonia in Uruguay. Eva, who teaches Spanish at Franklin middle school, is living with the Mark and Patti Blackwell family. Nicole lives with Art and Joan Heinze and teaches German at Lincoln high school. Adriene teaches Spanish at Lincoln and lives with Kurt and Brenda Merben. The Amity students work as assistants to language instructors Paivi Young and Sheryl Novacek at Lincoln and Mary Follett at Franklin.

Contracts for LHS project are awarded

Contracts totaling $1,759,030 have been awarded on the Lincoln high school construction project and site work should begin in the next couple of weeks, according to Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent of schools. Completion is scheduled by September of 1994.

Bids were opened and contracts awarded for a number of bid divisions at a special meeting of the School District 564 board of education on Wednesday, September 8. The $2,750,000 project was part of the $17,950,000 bond issue approved by voters of the district last fall.

Two contracts had been awarded previously. Gordon Construction of Mahnomen received the contract for demolition of buildings on the site with a bid of $24,900 and has completed that work.

Davidson Construction of Holt is nearing completion of an $87,200 contract for completion of the parking lot east of Lincoln school. Blacktopping and installation of parking lot lighting are expected to be completed next week.

Four file for two positions on school board

Four have filed applications of candidacy for two positions on the School District 564 board in Thief River Falls.

The filing period for the November 2 election closed at 5 p.m. Tuesday. Two positions, currently occupied by Maryel Anderson and Harry Sjulson, will be on the November 2 ballot. Anderson, who has served nine years on the school board, and Sjulson, who has served 26 years on the school board, decided not to file for re-election.

Candidates who have filed for the two three-year terms on the board include Jean Larson, Cheryl Lee, Donna Myhrer, and Curtis Huot.

Deadline for 0/92 signup is Sept. 17

One last opportunity for farmers to join, modify or drop their 0/92 program for the 1993 crop year is being provided by an extension of the deadline to September 17, according to the Pennington and Marshall county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Reason for the deadline extension is that some producers reported that they didn't take advantage of the program because (a) they did not understand the implications of the provision and how it affects the disaster payment program or (b) they were prevented from meeting the original deadline due to reasons beyond their control.

Some have found that they made an unwise decision to opt for the 0/92 provision either in whole or in part.

Based on these reports, provisions have been made to permit farm operators to revise their intentions regarding 0/92 participation. Producers may now enter the program, drop out of it or modify their previous committed acreage to 0/92.

Deadline to make the final decision is prior to 4 p.m. Friday, September 17, the official close of business at the Pennington and Marshall ASCS offices. County ASCS committees in both counties have set October 15 as the final date to destroy the crop if the producer decides to enter into the 0/92 program.

Producers will be required to report on ASCS form No. 578 the acres they intend to destroy and report the destruction of the crop as soon as destruction is completed. In addition, they will have to pay a minimal fee to cover the cost of spot-checks.

Prowlers sweep Valley North 3-0

Thief River Falls out-scored Valley North 45-4 Thursday in posting a 15-1, 15-3, 15-0 season-opening high school volleyball win at Oslo.

The Prowlers won easily despite fielding a line-up that did not include a single senior. Junior Carrie Lawrence led the way with 13 last-touch points and 8 kills. Sophomores Kendra Dimich also had 8 kills, along with 10 last-touch points.

"It was a good team effort," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "Everybody contributed. We had a chance to work on some different things. It was a good start."

Thief River Falls also won the preliminary matches – 15-10, 15-3 in the junior varsity encounter; 15-7, 15-2 in the C squad contest.

Anderson said the coaching staff awarded Player of the Week honors to Lawrence, varsity; Jenny Drury, junior varsity; Jessica Brekke, C squad; and Michelle Mathson, freshmen.

The Prowlers were scheduled to compete in the Roseau Invitational today (Saturday). They take on Detroit Lakes Thursday in their home opener.

Tuesday volleyball match-up...

Nordics open with a win over Wolverines

Marshall County Central beat Grygla/Goodridge 15-4, 15-11, 15-5 Tuesday in a season-opening high school volleyball match played at Newfolden.

"Overall, not too bad for the first match," offered Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson, "but we found some things we have to work on. We need to develop some consistency. We made a lot of mistakes – mental lapses."

Jill Fosholm turned in a strong performance as setter, and Jenny Taggart had a solid all-around match, pointed out Jorgenson.

Grygla/Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom wasn't displeased with the Wolverines' performance. "We're making strides," he said. "We did some good things – physically. We have to work on our mental concentration."

The Wolverines served 95 percent for the night, but had some problems with serve reception. "We had trouble getting the ball to our setter," acknowledged Mostrom. "It was a good first outing, but I know we can play better."

■ NCC opens football season at Fergus Falls

According to Northland Community College football coach Gene Klinke, the Pioneers had enough talent on hand at the start of preseason practice to be a serious Minnesota Community College Conference state playoff contender.

But after two weeks worth of a never-ending series of injuries, Klinke is now concerned about fielding a competitive team heading into the 1993 season opener today (Saturday) at Fergus Falls. Kick-off is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

"We have probably the best talent we've ever had," said Klinke. "We feel we've recruited some excellent people. But the injuries have been unreal. I've never seen anything like this in all my years of football. They just keep mounting up. It's like a triage in our athletic training room. We have a potential all-conference team on the injured reserve list right now."

Ironically, only two of the injuries have been directly related to football. A batch of off-the-field accidents account for most of the problems.

"The injury bug has bit us hard," said Klinke. "Every day it's somebody else. And it's not just little nicks that you can take care of. It's major things that not only affect us this week, but also down the road. We don't know if some of these people will be able to play for us at all this year."

Klinke will let you know about the Pioneers' injury problems, but he won't use it as an excuse. "We don't need a crying towel," he said. "The injuries obviously hurt, but we've still got a lot of talent. We're still very optimistic. We just have to suck it up and get the job done with the players we have."

Northland has a wealth of potential in the offensive backfield, where Sheldon Hinton, Kenny Borker, Josh Donner, and Paul Mason will be used on a rotation basis.

Jason Svir has emerged as the Pioneers' starting quarterback, with Greg Lien right behind him. Lee Alfson has returned to slot back where he played last year, ending a try at quarterback for the talented sophomore.

The injury situation has affected the make-up of the Pioneers' offensive line, already a question mark heading into camp. Kris Bearden, Anthony Walker, Dan Koehmstedt, Kerry Larson and Dante Steele were slated to start up front, along with with tight end Dan Nelson. Butch Olson, Eric Halbert, Tony Moen and Jeremy Tallum, who just reported, can also be expected to see action in the offensive line.

Defensive leader Jeremy Rychlock is one of those currently shelved by an injury. Looking to pick up slack will be players like Brandon Baker, Brandon Blaine, Rick Anteau, John Hardy, Jeton Cooper, Oarin Fish, Jeremy Swonson, Ray Reinhart, Mondor Perdue, Craig Carey, and Freddie Jenkins. Contributions in the defensive secondary could also come from Ryan Rislov, recently switched from quarterback to free safety, Dave Blazek and Justin Lunsetter.

"Our defense should be solid," said Klinke. "It's a very intense group."

Northland's home opener will be a Saturday, Sept. 18, match-up against Hibbing at Prowler Field.

Nordics lose football opener...

Nordics looking to pick up some wins

An improvement in the won-loss department is a goal set by Marshall County Central during the 1993 high school football season.

It's a reasonable target for the Nordics, who won just one game last fall. They opened the current season with a 45-14 Top of the State Conference Nine-Man loss to Argyle in Newfolden Sept. 3.

"For the first time out, it wasn't too bad," said second-year Marshall County Central coach Kent Warne. "The first quarter-and-a-half we played real well offensively. We moved the ball. Defensively we were a little soft."

The Eagles led 30-14 at halftime and clinched it with a pair of third quarter touchdowns.

Marshall County Central quarterback Jake Rantanen was 9-for-15 passing for 78 yards and two touchdowns – 3 yards to Scott Zak and 2 yards to Brandon Borg.

Aaron Skadsem led the Nordics' ground game with 74 yards on 16 carries.

Rantanen, a linebacker, and Mike Skadsem, an end, played well on defense in the opener, according to Warne.

"We'd like to improve on our 1-7 record, obviously," said Warne. "We have the potential to be a better team, but we still have a lot of work to do."

Rantanen, Zak and Aaron Skadsem and Mike Skadsem are seniors; Borg is a junior.

The Nordics headed to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart Friday for Week 2. They return to Newfolden to host Kittson County North Sept. 17.

Mustangs lose volleyball opener

Red Lake County Central took on Fosston, one of the area's best teams, Thursday in a season-opening high school volleyball match at Oklee – and lost 15-6, 15-3, 15-7.

"Our defense played well," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "Offensively we struggled a bit. Our hitting just wasn't there."

The Mustangs' defense was led by the back row play of senior Farrah Brantl.

Red Lake County Central was scheduled to participate in the UMC Invitational today (Saturday). The Mustangs visit Warren-Alvarado Tuesday and will take on Fertile-Beltrami Thursday in Oklee.

Marshall Co. Central 3
Warroad 1

Two hours worth of volleyball finally netted Marshall County Central a hard-fought 15-5, 12-15, 15-12, 15-8 win at Warroad Thursday.

It was the Nordics' second win in as many starts.

"It was a well-played match for this time of the year," noted Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "Both teams played well. Everything was improved from Tuesday (the 1993 season-opener) – our serving was better, our spikes stayed in bounds, and we were more aggressive. We still had some lapses, but it was better than the first match."

Jill Fosholm had 32 ace assists for the winners, Sara Lokstad came up with 16 kills and Tracy Olson turned in a solid all-around performance, said Jorgenson.

The Nordics host Stephen Monday and will meet Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Thursday in Greenbush.

B/G-Middle River 3
Grygla/Goodridge 0

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River made its 1993 debut with a 15-10, 15-6, 15-9 Thursday win over Grygla/Goodridge in Grygla.

"They're a very much improved team," said Gators coach Gwen Borgen, whose team closed it out by overcoming a 9-1 third-game deficit.

"It wasn't too bad for the first time out," mentioned Borgen. "We served well, and I was pleased with our comeback at the end. It was a good team effort."

The Wolverines fell to 0-2, but still made forward strides, according Grygla/Goodridge coach Tim Mostrom. "We played better than we did Tuesday," he said. "We served well again – which is a big improvement for us."

Amber Wilkens was 16-for-16 at the service line for the Wolverines, giving her a perfect 24-for-24 first-week effort.

Deanna Kotrba came off the bench and played well at the net, pointed out Mostrom.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was scheduled to compete in the Roseau Invitational today (Saturday). Three matches in Greenbush next week will find the Gators playing Lake of the Woods Monday, Roseau Tuesday and Marshall County Central Thursday.
